CHICAGO WINS WORLD FAME AS MEDICAL CENTER

Scientific Research Traditional Here.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

As a leading medical center, Chicago is attracting to its clinics increasing numbers of visiting specialists from all parts of America and from foreign lands.

Research achievements in the city's laboratories and advances in the methods of disease treatment are making medical history, and one of Chicago's glories is its position as one of the world's great seats of the science of healing.

Scarlet Fever Prevention.

Talk to a medical specialist about Chicago's contribution to medicine, and he speaks of the treatment of scarlet fever, revolutionized by the researches of Drs. George F. and Gladys H. Dick into the cause, prevention, and treatment of that disease. In this research, done at the John McCormick Institute for Infectious Diseases, a test of susceptibility to scarlet fever was evolved some twelve years ago, and an antitoxin was developed, a serum for scarlet fever prevention. It is one of the accepted things in the medical world today.

The physician will expand upon the work of the late Dr. Frank Billings in the field of focal infections and their results. He will dwell upon the discovery by Dr. Arno B. Luckhardt at the University of Chicago of the adaptability of ethylene gas as an anesthetic. Its use has increased safety of surgical operations, it is an anesthetic from which awakening is quick and without the nausea caused by ether.

Also at the University of Chicago the late Dr. Karl Koessler and associates evolved a process of making a liquid extract of beef liver, found potent in pernicious anemia.

Greatest Cancer Clinic.

At Hines Memorial hospital is the largest cancer clinic on earth. It has just received a new radium "bomb" containing radium worth $100,000. Michael Reese hospital is another advanced leader in cancer treatment. It has radium valued at $300,000.

Only twelve major cancer clinics exist in the world. Of these six are in the United States, two of these being in Chicago. Specialists from all over the world, including England, France, Italy, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, China, Latin America, have visited these hospitals to study the clinics. At Sprague Memorial institute outstanding research work was done on the influence of heredity on cancer, the studies involving tumors in 70,000 pedigreed mice.

Chicago Experts Widely Known.

In combating diabetes with insulin, discovered by Canadian scientists, Chicago has specialists of international reputation. In all branches of medicine are men little known to the layman but preëminently known to their profession the world over. The practice of going to Vienna to "finish up" is said to be decreasing.

Dr. Ludvig Hektoen showed that the cause of measles occurs in the blood of the patient. This work stimulated further researches.

In brain surgery, in which Chicago is coming up, four Chicago specialists are given rank among the best in America. Here also is an international authority on the heart. At Northwestern university Dr. Allen B. Kanavel has produced a book on infections of the hand that is classic the world over. It is now being translated into Chinese.

Notable Gall Bladder Research.

Also in Northwestern's laboratory notable research is being done by Dr. A. C. Ivy on the hormone of the gall bladder. At the University of Chicago work is being done on food poisons.

Such are some of the highlights. No city appears more excellently equipped with medical facilities. Chicago has five internationally famous class A medical schools.

More than 2,300 students are in the five medical schools. In Chicago are 79 hospitals, of which 62 are approved. They represent an investment of 80 million dollars.

As a medical center many internationally famous organizations have headquarters here. Included are the American Medical association, largest of its kind anywhere; the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital association, the American Dietetic association, the American Dental association, and others.

COLD FORECAST AS GALE FOLLOWS FREAK WEATHER

After experiencing a day of extremely freakish weather yesterday, including sleet, a thunderstorm, a high wind, and an erratic mercury, Chicago settled down today for the colder but steadier weather forecast by W. P. Day, government meteorologist.

The freakish weather started with a half rain-half sleet which covered Chicago, as well as the rest of the middle west, with a coating of ice. Pedestrians and automobiles slid along the streets and sidewalks and all movement was slow.

As the afternoon came on, however, the mercury, which had touched a low of 23 at 3 a. m., had risen to 38 above and the coating of ice began to melt. A freak thunderstorm in the evening aided the melting.

Shortly before midnight the wind shifted to the southwest and began to grow stronger. At the municipal airport, where airplane trafic was tied up, the wind was reported at a gale velocity of 40 to 50 miles an hour, with gusts as high as 60 miles an hour.

The same condition prevailed throughout the city and suburbs. At the same time the mercury began to drop and from 44 at midnight went to 35 by 1 a. m. today.

THE WEATHER

Jail Husband and Friend for Divorce Fraud

A husband who perjured himself to get a divorce and a witness who appeared for the husband in the fraudulent proceedings were sentenced to a year each in the county jail for contempt of court by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday. The judge also directed that criminal charges be placed against the men.

The husband is Bernard J. Tasson, 5237 Fletcher street, and the witness is Maurice Redington, 1704 North Springfield avenue. The perjury which both admitted when they appeared before Judge Finnegan occurred last Sept. 1. On that day Tasson was granted a default decree on the ground of desertion by Circuit Judge Joseph Burke.

Perjury Charged by Wife.

The perjury was brought to the attention of Judge Finnegan by the wife, Mrs. Vera M. Tasson, 1405 North 22d street, Melrose Park, and her attorney, Mrs. Mary Berkemeier. On Dec. 1 Mrs. Tasson filed a petition to vacate her husband's divorce, asserting that it was fraudulently obtained.

Subsequently she appeared before Judge Finnegan and testified that she never had deserted her husband and that he had continued to live with her until five days after he had won the divorce decree. She said that she had been served with a summons in the divorce suit, but when she had shown it to her husband he told her "to think nothing more about it."

She Also Accuses Redington.

Mrs. Tasson said that Redington must have entered into the conspiracy against her, inasmuch as he had known when he testified in court that the Tassons still were living together.

Taken before Judge Finnegan, Tasson and Redington admitted their perjury. Tasson said he had wanted to marry another woman, but had not done so.

After sentencing the men, Judge Finnegan told Attorney Berkemeier to get warrants charging them with perjury and take the matter to the grand jury. The judge continued until Jan. 29 a motion to vacate the divorce decree.

Ecuador's "Public Enemy" and 3 Followers Slain

[Copyright: 1935; By the New York Times.]

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Jan. 16.—Ecuador's public enemy No. 1, Naum Briones, and three of his followers were reported killed by rural police near the Peruvian border yesterday after a three hour fight. Briones and his gang had terrorized the countryside for months. A number of killings and many robberies were charged against them.

TRAIN STRIKES AUTO; 5 DEAD, 2 ARE INJURED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—An automobile bearing six children home from school in a blinding snowstorm late today was struck by a Milwaukee road freight train at a grade crossing, killing four of the children and the driver. The other two children were badly injured.

The dead:

Pauline Dernford, 13.

Dennis Bleisner, 7.

Ernst Schlachter, 8; died in Wilkinson clinic.

The injured:

Marlyn Bleisner, 10.

Catherine Chafee, 7, daughter of the driver; probably will recover.

All of the children were pupils at the Lincoln school, South and Church streets, two blocks from the crossing where the accident occurred. All lived at Concord Crossing, a settlement about a mile from the city.

EX-BROKER SAYS HE'S HAWKER, BUT ALIMONY STICKS

Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti awarded a divorce yesterday to Mrs. Ella Solch, 1502 South 60th court, Cicero, and ordered the husband, Joseph, a former realty broker, to pay $20 a week for the support of Mrs. Solch and their six minor children.

"I used to be well off," Solch said. "Now I make only a few cents a day selling razor blades on the streets."

"He wears shirts that cost several dollars each," retorted Mrs. Solch, "and he owns an expensive sedan. Recently he bought his chauffeur a new overcoat."

"You'd better sharpen up the razor blade business," Judge Allegretti told Solch, "and scrape together $20 a week for your family."

HUNGRY MINERS BITE SELVES TO GET FREE FOOD

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A number of Hungarians from Pecs—the town starvation strikers made famous—today were enjoying the effects of a Pasteur treatment of wounds that looked like animal bites and a free trip to Budapest. They also had enjoyed two weeks of free food.

But the directors of the Pasteur institute appealed to the Pecs police to take action against the Pecs residents. They claimed the citizens in question had made imitation animal bites themselves in order to obtain the Pasteur treatment—with the free trip and groceries thrown in.

U. S. AGENTS KILL KIDNAP SUSPECT AND HIS MOTHER

Prison Board Seized by Convicts; Freed.

Three bands of criminals came to grief yesterday in gun battles with federal officers and posses. The mother of a kidnap suspect and the suspect were slain, one bank robber killed himself when surrounded and three of his companions, one of them wounded, were captured. Four escaped felons were recaptured, one of the four fatally wounded. The day's fighting cost the lives of a bank cashier and a sherif, and resulted in the wounding of three men and a boy. High points of the fighting were:

1 AT LEONORE, ILL. Four men attempted to rob a bank. Surprised by the bank cashier, the gang fled by automobile. Within an hour gun battles took place which killed the cashier and a sherif, brought the suicide of one of the gangsters, wounded another robber, and sent a bank director, a deputy sherif, and a farmer's son to hospitals with bullet wounds.

2 AT OKLAWAHA, FLA. Fred Barker and his mother, suspected members of the Barker-Karpis gang, hunted for the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul, Minn., were surrounded in a rented house by a dozen department of justice agents. The pair answered a demand for surrender with machine gun fire. In a six hour battle witnessed by scores of people. Barker and his mother were shot to death. None of the federal men was injured.

3 AT SAN QUENTIN, California's state prison. Four convicts overpowered two guards, slugged the warden unconscious, kidnaped six hostages, including four members of the state prison board, and fled in a state owned automobile which had been parked in front of the warden's home. Pursued by state and county officers, the felons were recaptured 54 miles from the prison. In the capture one of the felons was fatally shot and the chairman of the prison board wounded in the hip.

San Quentin, Cal., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—One of the most amazing escapes in the history of San Quentin prison ended late today in the recapture of four desperate convicts who had slugged the warden and kidnaped six hostages.

One of the convicts was wounded and with the remaining three surrendered. The wounded convict died late tonight. Bullet wounds also were incurred by two of the hostages, which included four members of the prison board of terms and paroles.

The end of the flight came after two tense hours of pursuit during which the fleeing men fought a running gun battle most of the time with prison guards and possemen. Most of northern California officialdom was on the trail.

Felons Invade Luncheon.

The daring break came as members of the state prison board, almost all prominent men, gathered for luncheon in the residence of Warden James B. Holohan, which is situated only a short distance from the main prison entrance.

Flashing pistols which Capt. R. Smith of the prison guard later said he had learned were smuggled into the prison by Clyde Stevens, who robbed a San Francisco bank last Friday and escaped, the convicts strode into the warden's residence. Meeting Lieut. Harry Jones and Sergt. C. L. Doose, guards, they took them prisoner and entered the luncheon room.

"Stand up, all of you," their leader commanded.

Warden Holohan refused to surrender, backing into an adjoining smoking room. He was slugged unconscious and was left lying in a pool of blood, suffering from a skull fracture and other injuries which may prove fatal.

Seize Prison Board.

The convicts then seized the four members of the board. They were Chairman Frank Sykes, San Francisco contractor, who was wounded in the final gun battle; Warren Atherton, Stockton attorney; Joseph Stephens, Sacramento banker, who also was

Crash Red Hot Doors to Fight $200,000 Fire

A watchman was suffocated by smoke last night when a spectacular $200,000 fire swept the divisional freight warehouse of the Wabash railroad, which stretches three blocks on Clark street between Polk and Taylor streets.

Firemen, who were forced to batter down red hot steel doors to get at the heart of the flames, were endangered, as were hundreds of spectators who gathered to watch the spectacle by an explosion which rocked the building shortly after the firemen arrived.

Dies Crawling to Alarm Box.

The dead watchman was Edward McHale, 68 years old, of 7404 Wentworth avenue. His body was discovered in the north end of the warehouse, after the blaze had been brought under control. He was on his hands and knees, and apparently had been trying to crawl toward a fire alarm box only a few feet away.

The structure, which was a one story affair, except for the small two story portion at the north end where the railroad offices were located, was partly filled with incoming and outgoing merchandise, most of which was a total loss.

The explosion which occurred was thought to have been caused by tins of oil or gasoline among these goods.

D. J. Carlos, Chicago freight agent for the railroad, estimated that it will cost from $200,000 to $250,000 to replace the freighthouse. The steel doors, he said, cost $40,000 to install.

Alarm Brings Chief Marshal.

The blaze was first seen by the conductor of a Clark street surface lines car in the northerly part of the one story structure. He turned in the first alarm.

Firemen who answered that call found their means of entering the building blocked by the heavy steel doors. Additional calls for aid were sent, and eventually a 5-11 alarm was sounded, bringing Chief Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan to the scene to direct the work.

By the time equipment arrived to batter down the steel doors they were red hot from the flames within, but the firemen braved the heat until entrance had been forced.

Cars Burned on Tracks.

Several box cars on the platform loading track were ignited by the heat of the fire and destroyed. The firemen, however, kept the flames from spreading to adjacent warehouses or to the two story office portion on the north end of the blazing building.

Trafic along Polk, Taylor, and Clark streets was blocked for more than an hour until the flames were brought under control.

FRENCH LINER HIT BY TUG IN HARBOR AND SPRINGS LEAK

LE HAVRE, France, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The French liner Lafayette, bound for New York with 75 passengers, was hit by a tug taking it out of the harbor in a dense fog tonight and a plate on the big ship was dented.

It anchored in the outer harbor, waiting for the fog to rise in order to return to the dock for inspection. Late tonight it lay about two miles from its dock.

STATE WINDS UP SCRIPT EVIDENCE IN LINDY TRIAL

Finder of Body on Stand Today.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Four more handwriting experts today testified that Bruno Richard Hauptmann wrote all the notes demanding ransom for the slain Lindbergh baby.

With their evidence the state completed the handwriting phase of the trial of Hauptmann in Judge Thomas W. Trenchard's court for the murder of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's son. Tomorrow William Allen, colored truck driver, will tell the grim story of the finding of the small corpse in a shallow grave in the woods near Hopewell, N. J., two months and twelve days after the kidnaping on the night of March 1, 1932.

The state will then move on to the story of how Hauptmann was captured last September through his passing one of the gold certificates which made up the $50,000 ransom paid.

Testimony Takes Three Days.

For three days, with only two interruptions for short periods, the jury of eight men and four women has listened to the eight handwriting authorities who testified for the state. They and every one else in the courtroom were obviously weary of the technicalities of this evidence as the session closed today.

Even the gaunt defendant, whose life may depend upon the weight the jury gives to the handwriting testimony, shrugged his shoulders indifferently when questioned concerning the expert evidence, and remarked:

"I wasn't listening."

There were some small happenings this afternoon to lighten the boredom of the spectators. Once a courtroom window was pushed out amidst a crash of breaking glass. Again, a fat man in a cream colored check suit shouted in a loud voice that he wanted a seat up in front where he could hear.

He said he was William Comerford, a handwriting expert for the defense, but the defense lawyers after today's session adjourned united in a chorus of denial that they wanted his services and he walked around disconsolately announcing in plaintive tones that he could "upset the testimony of all the state's experts."

Cross-Examination Minute.

The slowness of today's proceedings was occasioned by the lengthy cross-examination of the experts by defense lawyers who sought to show that the ransom notes might have been written by a clever forger who had samples of Hauptmann's handwriting and copied Hauptmann's style in order to put off suspicion from himself and upon the German carpenter.

The witnesses refused, however, to admit this possibility and remained firm in their assertions that Hauptmann alone and nobody else could have written the ransom demands. Like the experts preceding them, they supported their statements with lectures to the jury illustrated by photographic enlargements of Hauptmann's handwriting and the handwriting of the ransom notes, pointing out the many similarities.

They also indicated their belief that Hauptmann wrote the address inscribed on the package containing the baby's sleeping garment which was sent to Dr. John F. Condon as proof that the writer of the notes had possession of the child. One witness said he believed Hauptmann was "off guard" when he penned that address and that the similarity to his usual writing was striking.

EXPERT OPENS DAY

The morning session opened with the appearance on the witness stand of Harry E. Cassidy, a soft spoken southerner from Richmond, Va., whose drawling witticisms caused the courtroom crowd to emit guffaws every few minutes.

He was a handwriting expert, he modestly admitted, and said he had reached the same conclusion voiced by other experts for the state—that Hauptmann wrote all the ransom notes.

He referred to Hauptmann as "Mr. Hauptmann." Introducing himself to the jury, he remarked: "I don't want to be mealy-mouthed, but I want to tell you all about it."

He proved to be a clear speaking and comparatively terse witness, requiring only 22 minutes to give his reasons for the identification and ending with the statement: "I don't feel this jury should be required to have the patience to listen to me any further."

Jury Finds Him Interesting.

His speech was replete with colloquialisms to which the jury listened with interest.

"Mr. Hauptmann," he said, "seems to have been a conscientious objector to crossing t's and dotting i's.

"You've had some mighty experienced people here," he remarked, again apologetically. "Remember, I'm just speakin' for what I know myself.

"Now there are some d's in this handwriting that I never did see before!" he remarked at one point. "I've given careful consideration to all these things, weighed 'em individually and together, and it is obvious that the same person wrote the Hauptmann writings and the ransom notes."

"You didn't see any of these specimens being written, did you?" the lawyer inquired.

"I didn't see Washington cross the Delaware, either," was the retort, "but I'm pretty sure he got to the other side."

How About Loss of Sleep?

"Do you think a man would be normal after being questioned for 15 hours and kept up all night without sleep?" was another question.

"Not unless he was a very remarkable man," was the answer.

The attorney delved into the matter of the misspellings in the ransom notes.

"I have a terrible time with spelling myself," confessed the witness. "I never can spell 'occasionally.' I spell it two or three different ways."

The lawyer wanted the witness to account for the fact that long words were spelled correctly and short words incorrectly in the ransom notes. He got an answer that didn't please him. "Well, take like I was over in Germany," said Cassidy. "When I was writing I'd keep a dictionary right close to me. I'd look up the big ones and take a chance on the little ones."

Again, the defense went into the theory that Isador Fisch copied Hauptmann's handwriting in order to throw suspicion on him.

"Assuming some expert penman had a specimen of the true handwriting of Hauptmann," he inquired, "Would it be a difficult matter to copy Hauptmann's handwriting so as to fool even you experts?"

Couldn't Write Fourteen.

"A very clever forger might write one letter but not all fourteen, sir," was the emphatic reply.

The next handwriting expert was an entirely different type. He gave his name as Wilmer Sauder, chief of the identification laboratory of the national bureau of standards at Washington, D. C. He spoke in clipped phrases and in technicalities, but was equally positive in his identification of Hauptmann as the writer of the ransom notes.

He was first called into the Lindbergh investigation on April 1, 1932, before the ransom had been paid or the body of the child found, he testified. He determined at that time, he said, that all the notes were written by the same man.

Then, after Hauptmann's arrest, he compared the prisoner's voluntary writing with that in the ransom notes, he said, and detected many similarities which convinced him they were written by the same person.

Examined 8,000 Specimens.

One of the defense lawyers, Frederick A. Pope, unwittingly brought out a point under cross-examination which seemed to discomfit the defense. The expert said he had examined at least 8,000 specimens of handwriting sent to him before Hauptmann's arrest and had reported in every instance that the writing was not that of the ransom note writer.

The third handwriting expert of the morning session to appear was Albert D. Osborn, son of Albert S. Osborn, the first expert for the state. The younger Osborn is known as a handwriting authority in his own right.

He also joined the others in expressing an opinion that Hauptmann wrote the ransom notes.

"For the sake of brevity, please give only one reason for your opinion," instructed Assistant Attorney General Joseph A. Lanigan. The witness pointed to a photographic enlargement of the address on the wrapping about the baby's sleeping suit sent to Dr. John F. Condon during the ransom negotiations.

"Forgot Disguise Attempts."

"I believe the writer let down his guard when he was addressing that package," the expert told the jury. "He forgot the attempted disguise which characterizes most of the ransom writing.

"The similarities are distinct and obvious. There can be no doubt in my mind the hand which addressed that package was the hand of Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

The cross-examination of Osborn by Attorney Fisher developed into a bitter contest which the judge was frequently forced to interrupt with warnings to both attorney and witness.

Continuing his testimony under cross-examination, Osborn said he believed Hauptmann wrote the ransom notes with the aid of a German-English dictionary which he used to look up the spelling of long words.

He refused to admit the possibility that the ransom notes had been penned by a clever forger who copied Hauptmann's handwriting.

The eighth and last expert witness for the state was J. Clark Sellers of Los Angeles. The courtroom crowd, which groaned as he identified himself as a handwriting authority, brightened as the witness began telling of famous cases in which he had testified.

Defense Has No Objection.

These included the William Hickman slaying case, the Winnie Ruth Judd case, the Mae West jewelry robbery case, the Rudolph Valentino estate case, the investigation into the death of Paul Bern, husband of Jean Harlow, and many others.

Defense counsel made no objections to his qualification as an expert.

"I am convinced absolutely that the person who wrote the Hauptmann writings is the same man who wrote the ransom notes," Sellers told the jury.

"There are a combination of characteristics about Hauptmann's handwriting that mark him out of the billion and a half persons in the world as the man who wrote the ransom letters."

1ST HAUPTMANN LAWYER ORDERED TO SHOW PAPERS

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The Appellate division of the Supreme court in Brooklyn today directed James M. Fawcett, former attorney for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, to produce on Friday papers and documents in connection with Hauptmann's defense.

The order permits Edward J. Reilly, present attorney for Hauptmann, or a representative, to be present "with a view of determining whether any of the papers" which Fawcett has "may be competent or material in the preparation and presentation of the appellant's defense."

The decision was on an appeal argued by Maurice Adelbaum, representing Reilly and Hauptmann, from a decision by Supreme Court Justice Frank F. Adel, holding that the papers and documents may be kept by Fawcett till such time as $4,221 owed him by Hauptmann is paid.

FISCH'S RELATIVES TO INSIST ON HIS INNOCENCE ON STAND

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Pinkus Fisch, whose dead brother Isador is pictured by the Hauptmann defense as the "master mind" behind the kidnaping and killing of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son, today gave a one sentence interview as he, his wife, his sister, and Isador's nurse departed under escort of New Jersey state troopers for Trenton.

"Was werden Sie in Gerichtssaal sagen?" ["What will you say in court?"]

"Nur dasz mein Bruder unschuldig ist!" ["Only that my brother is not guilty!"]

Then one of the state troopers of the group which has held the German party incommunicado at the Half Moon since they arrived here on the liner Ile de France dashed up and Pinkus and the three women with their baggage were hurried into the car, and it whirred away.

Lawyer Sues Mooney for New Trial Services

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Tom Mooney, California's most widely known penitentiary inmate, became a defendant in a new court action today when he was sued for $14,650 by Attorney Carl L. Shinn, who claimed the money was due for services in 1931 in seeking a new trial for Mooney.

PRISON BUILT TO TO HOUSE 3,000 CONTAINS 6,000

San Quentin, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Overcrowded conditions at San Quentin penitentiary, scene of a sensational escape today, have troubled officials of the institution. Some 6,000 prisoners are incarcerated in space designed for half that number.

Unrest among prisoners had flared often into violence and even death, but Warden James B. Holohan, seriously injured in today's disorder, said such occurrences were to be expected.

Prison officials have pointed out that putting more than one man in each cell breeds crime contacts, escape plots, and fights. Until recent completion of new cell block, many prisoners were bedded in dormitories, the mess hall, hospital rooms, and other odd corners.

To keep order among the large population, only 190 guards are regularly employed.

A Negro prisoner kicked and beat another to death over a gambling debt last year. Two other inmates knocked a guard senseless, took his gun, and escaped. They were slain by deputy sherifs at Victorville.

5 DIE, 12 BURNED IN MOVIE FIRE AT CHILDREN'S PARTY

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Four children and their hostess at a gay little party were burned to death tonight while watching motion pictures in the home of Mrs. Napoleon Desmarteau.

The film caught fire and spread throughout the room in the Desmarteau home. The body of Mrs. Desmarteau and those of the four children were found. Early reports placed the list of injured at twelve, including three firemen. Several were in a serious condition.

At St. Luc hospital, where most of the victims were taken, it was said three young stepsons of Mrs. Desmarteau, aged from 6 to 10 years, and a 10 year old girl lost their lives.

FOUR CONVICTS ESCAPE; KIDNAP PRISON BOARD

shot, and Mark E. Noon, secretary of the board.

Those four and the two guards were hustled into a state automobile parked in front of the warden's residence. Forcing the guards to ride on the running boards as shields and the other hostages held at gun point inside the car, the convicts sped toward the back gate.

Guards on the wall started firing, but [illegible]ed when Noon was forced to order them to cease or the hostages would be slain.

Since the only avenue of escape from the prison, which is located on a point in San Francisco bay, is north, the car sped in that direction, doubling back several times when pursuing cars came close.

Running through two barricades across the highway, the fleeing car got to Novato, about ten miles north of the prison, before it was overtaken by a police car.

Planes Aid in Hunt.

The convicts opened fire and held the officers off while they fled northward again. Meantime two army airplanes from Hamilton field circled overhead to help in the manhunt.

Three other official cars joined in the chase and their occupants kept firing a constant hail of bullets at the tires of the convicts' car, being unable to shoot at the fugitives because of the danger of hitting the hostages. It also was reported that the convicts had exchanged their prison stripes for the clothes of their prisoners

As their plight became more desperate, with more state and county officers constantly entering the chase, the convicts dumped out the two guards and fled, with the four members of the prison board still being held.

Car Crashes Into Garage.

At Valley Ford, 54 miles from the prison, the fugitives suddenly leaped from their machine after their tires had been punctured, letting the car go racing on by itself. It crashed into a nearby garage and was wrecked.

The convicts fled inside a state creamery, firing a shot at an attendant, but missing. Pursuing officers immediately surrounded the place and a number of shots were exchanged.

The prison board members were in the line of fire as they disentangled themselves from the wreckage of the automobile, Sykes being shot in his hip and Stephens being slightly wounded in his abdomen.

Each of them dropped a .45 caliber automatic and came out with upraised hands. They also had been armed with about 100 rounds of ammunition and a roll of fuse for explosives.

The desperadoes were led by Rudolph [Bad Boy] Straight, 35, who previously had made two desperate attempts to escape. He died of his wounds.

His companions were Alex McKay, 28; Joe Cristy, 26, and Fred Alenders, 27.

Chairman Sykes of the prison board was taken to a hospital at Santa Rose, where an operation was performed to remove the bullet lodged in his hip. It was disclosed there that a 10 cent piece had probably saved his life by deflecting the bullet.

Ex-Convict Captured.

Antioch, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Albert Kessler, companion of Clyde Stevens, San Francisco bank bandit, was wounded in the hand when he and two other men were captured late tonight at a shack at Johnson's Point near here.

Stevens is suspected of having smuggled the firearms that were used in the break by four prisoners earlier in the day at San Quentin prison. Identity of his companions was not learned.

IDENTIFY BABY'S BODY TODAY; DEFENSE TO MAKE NO PROTEST

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Edward J. Reilly, attorney for Bruno Hauptmann, said today that he will not contest identification of the Lindbergh baby's body when that phase of the case arises in court tomorrow.

He said he had talked over the matter with Attorney General Wilentz and was willing to concede the point.

"Col. Lindbergh should have been able to identify the body of his own child," he remarked.

With the announcement by the defense that it will not contest identification of the child, the state's lawyers said it would not be necessary to recall either Col. Lindbergh or Betty Gow to the stand. Both had seen the body in the morgue before it was cremated.

After the defense's attorneys had been slashing away at the expert witnesses today, with some apparent success on a point or two, Hauptmann and his wife, Anna, were engaged in animated conversation during a recess.

Mrs. Hauptmann was heard to laugh several times. The saturnine Hauptmann smiled at some of her remarks.

Jimmy Foxx, first baseman and star batsman of the Philadelphia Athletics, occupied a seat at the prosecution table today. He was the guest of Robert Peacock, assistant attorney general.

NRA VERY MUCH ALIVE, RICHBERG SAYS IN SPEECH

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—(AP)—The NRA, in the words of Donald R. Richberg, is "very much alive" and operating upon "the primary principle that the recovery administration and those who adopt codes shall obligate themselves to do only what they can do to insure compliance."

The executive director of the National Emergency council digressed from his address as prepared for delivery before the National Automobile Dealers' association to deny the contention of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson that the NRA is "as dead as the dodo."

Previously Richberg had asserted "the automotive industry has an obligation to itself and to the country to regularize production, distribution, and employment."

BERMUDA ELDERS MEET IN 315 YEAR OLD STATE HOUSE

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 16.—Making a twelve mile journey from Hamilton, the executive council of Bermuda's upper legislative chamber met today in the old statehouse in St. George for the first time in 120 years. It was the first meeting there since the seat of government was transferred here.

The oldest public building in the western hemisphere, the statehouse stands as it was when erected in 1620. Its stone blocks are held together by a composition of turtle oil and lime.

It now serves as the quarters for a Masonic lodge which pays an annual rental of one pepper corn seed presented to the corporation of St. George every year on Dec. 28, the date of the feast of St. John the Evangelist.

BANKER, SHERIF, BANDIT SLAIN; GANG CAPTURED

Seized After Running Gun Fight in Three Counties.

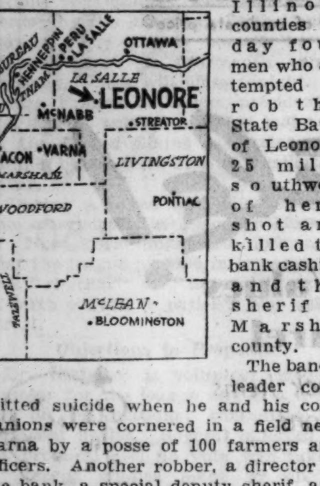
Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—In a furious running gun fight through three central Illinois counties today four men who attempted to rob the State Bank of Leonore, 25 miles southwest of here, shot and killed the bank cashier and the sherif of Marshall county.



The bandit leader committed suicide when he and his companions were cornered in a field near Varna by a posse of 100 farmers and officers. Another robber, a director of the bank, a special deputy sherif, and a 16 year old boy were wounded in the series of gun engagements which ended with the capture of three of the desperadoes. One of those captured was a Chicagoan, an ex-convict and parole violater.

The eventual surrender of the gunmen and the suicide of their leader resulted from a drag net set in motion by Sherif Ralph Desper of La Salle county, who directed operations from his headquarters here. His timely arrival with a squad of armed deputies prevented two of the bank bandits from being lynched by a posse of farmers.

Dead and Wounded.

The dead were:

GLENN AXLINE, 32 years old, of Lacon, newly elected sherif of Marshall county.

MELVIN LEIST, alias David Leach, 29 years old, of Rockford, who shot himself in the head and died while being taken to a hospital at La Salle.

Those wounded are:

CHARLES SEIPP, 50 years old, director of the bank and member of the county board of township supervisitors; shot in the abdomen and reported near death at St. Mary's hospital in Streator.

Chicagoan Gives Up.

The other two bandits who surrendered were Thielan's brother-in-law, Fred Gerner, 29 years old, of Rockford, and John H. Hauff, 33 years old, 7029 Wolfram street, Chicago.

When officials examined the body of the dead gang leader last night they found pinned to his breast a badge which read, "Sherif, Rock Island county, Illinois." An investigation was begun immediately to determine how Leist came to be in possession of the badge. It was surmised he may have intended posing as a peace officer in subsequent bank raids.

Recapitulation of the events leading up to the gun fight revealed that had Bundy waited half an hour before visiting his bank Sherif Desper and his men would have been there to take the bandits.

Bundy's suspicions and those of his fellow townsmen had been aroused last night by the appearance of a strange car. Only a few weeks ago a lone robber attempted to hold up the bank. Bundy knocked him down and routed the gunman single handed. Since then the citizens have been prepared for any new attempt.

See a Strange Car.

Early this morning the strange car was noticed near the bank. Its driver, a fat man with a number of gold teeth, was questioned by farmers, and said he was merely waiting for the fog to clear before proceeding.

At 8:25 a. m. Bundy telephoned Sherif Desper and asked him to check the license of the car, No. 259-330. He supplied a description of the driver and told the sherif of his suspicions, that something illegal was afoot.

"Be careful," warned Desper. "There are probably more men with him in hiding somewhere. Wait until I get there before going to the bank. If you see them cover them and stay back out of range. You haven't got the equipment to take these men and I have."

Desper then checked and found the car was stolen March 19 from F. J. Hamlin of Rockford. Just as this information was learned a call came that Bundy had been shot and that the bandits were headed southwest.

Directs "War" by Phone.

From then until word came that Sherif Axline had been slain and the gang captured Desper sat at his desk, notifying the countryside by telephone and drawing his net of state, county, and city policemen ever closer. Calls for help were sent as far as Rockford and Peoria.

After notifying Desper, Bundy had walked to the bank. As he inserted his key in the door he saw the three men inside and jumped back out of range. They had apparently gained entrance through a basement coal chute during the night and were waiting for his arrival.

Bundy called out an alarm and was supported in a few minutes by Seipp, and Leon Smith, and James Adamson, bank guards. When the driver of the bandit car saw the vigilantes coming with rifles, he started to flee on foot. Changing his mind, he started up his car and drove it across country.

It became mired, however, and Bundy, who had obtained a shotgun, and Seipp chased him until he surrendered.

Takes Auto from Garage.

Meanwhile the other gunmen darted into the garage of George Yesco, and at gun point ordered him into the driver's seat of an automobile belonging to a salesman. Young Naas, who was loitering there, was hauled onto the opposite running board of the car, as a shield.

With one bandit standing on the opposite running board shooting occasional sprays of bullets from a machine gun to drive the armed villagers back into their homes, the car swept through the town south. At the edge of the village, they came upon Bundy and Seipp herding their prisoner down the road.

The captured bandit ducked for safety as his machine [illegible] comrade opened a lethal fire. Bundy fell dead, and Seipp dropped, shot through the abdomen. He managed to fire a few shots, one of which wounded young Nass, as the machine sped south. The two bank guards and Jack Carpenter, a state highway policeman from Streator, arrived a moment later, and took up the chase.

Other Sherifs Close In.

Meantime Sherif Desper had sent word to Sherif Axline to drive north from his county seat at Lacon. Sherif Lawrence Ellena of Putnam county was instructed to take his men from Hennepin south along the river roads. State highway policemen were being called in from all vantage points, and small towns along the way were instructed to call out the vigilantes.

Word came from Lostant, a few miles west of Leonore, that the car had just passed through. Sometime later an oil station attendant on the outskirts of McNabb over the line in Putnam county notified Sherif Desper that the gangsters had turned about suddenly when they saw him posted at a road intersection with his rifle.

Apparently it was about half an hour later that Sherif Axline and Deputy Brown picked up the trail of the gunmen as they doubled back along country roads to the tricounty intersection. About twelve miles southwest of Leonore on a little traveled gravel road, the police car pulled within shooting distance of the bandits, and Axline opened fire with his machine gun.

Fire Through Rear Window.

The gunmen had knocked out the rear window of their machine, and were giving shot for shot. For a mile the chase continued and suddenly the fugitives stopped. One man stepped out, with his hands upraised in surrender. The police car pulled to a slow stop, and Axline stepped out.

It was too late. His weapon dropped from lifeless hands, and Sherif Axline dropped dead, shot near the heart. Brown had been wounded in the right shoulder, and could not use a gun. For a moment the bandit in the road hesitated, then leaped back into his machine and they sped on after leaving Yesco behind.

Half a mile farther on the gang swung into the driveway of Farmer Herman Jaeger. Thielan had been seriously wounded by Axline's fire, and the four were near the end of their trail, with posses closing in from all directions. Desper had telephoned about 25 farmers, telling them to take their rifles, and if the robbers appeared, "let 'em have it."

Jaeger was absent, but his white haired wife and daughter, Florence, had been notified of the attempted bank robbery and shooting. They thought the car contained peace officers, and Florence ran out to meet them.

Leist leaped from the car and called to the others to follow him into the fields for a last stand. Hauff joined the leader, but Gerner and the wounded Thielan stormed into the house, dragging young Naas with them.

For a moment he hesitated, upon seeing Mrs. Jaeger.

"You remind me of my mother," he muttered. "I wish we handn't done this, but it's too late now. Where can we hide?"

The women told them it was no use, but Thielan and Gerner took refuge in a room, warning them not to tell the policemen they were there. As Mrs. Jaeger started to answer the telephone which began ringing, Gerner jammed a revolver against her and roughly ordered her away from the instrument.

In a few minutes the first of the posse cars swept into the farmyard. more kept arriving as word went out that the gang had been surrounded.

Several armed farmers entered the house and asked where the gunmen were. Miss Jaeger said they were in the fields, and then pointed to the room where Thieland and Gerner were hiding. On an order to surrender or be killed, they came out, hands upraised.

Snipe at Two in Corn.

Meanwhile, other possemen were sniping at Leist and Hauff, who had taken cover in the withered corn stalks, lying flat on the ground. Hauff returned a few shots from his machine gun. Then Leist, realizing the game was up, put a pistol to his head and shot himself twice. Hauff held aloft his handkerchief and surrendered.

While one group started with Leist, Thieland, and the boy for a hospital, the angry farmers were talking of getting a rope. Desper arrived in time to take the other two gunmen to a safe cell.

FATHER WISHES HIM DEAD.

"I wish he had been killed. He would be better off. He was never any good, no matter how much his mother and his wife and I tried to help him."

Henry N. Hauff, 2736 Normandy avenue, was the speaker as he learned last night of his son's latest criminal escapade. Ever since he was 14 years old he had been in trouble, said the elder Hauff.

"First it was a neighborhood gang of toughs on Diversey parkway," he said. "Then it was a bootleg gang. I put him in the navy, but he deserted. Because I am a Spanish-American war veteran, the government allowed me to try him again. But it didn't work. Finally I informed against him, and he was sent to prison.

Serves Seven Years.

"He served seven years, and was released two years ago. All that time Dorothy, who is now his wife, waited for him, living at our house. She has been able to keep him straight, but recently I felt he was going wrong again."

At home with her 14 month old son, Mrs. Hauff said she had been waiting for her husband who left Monday to visit Leist at Rockford. She said she expected him home Tuesday night.

Mother Tosses Baby Into Neighbor's Apron; Leaps to Escape Fire

Trapped by Fire

Believing herself trapped yesterday with her young baby in her blazing flat on the second floor of a cottage at the rear of 1658 Burling street, Mrs. Marie Kennedy, 28 years old, dropped the baby from the bedroom window into the arms of a neighbor woman, Mrs. Anna Bogner, who spread out her apron and caught the child in it uninjured. Mrs. Kennedy then leaped from the window to the ground, receiving injuries which rendered her unconscious.

The mother and baby were taken by a fire department ambulance to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was found Mrs. Kennedy was burned on the arms and had injured her back in the leap, but that her injuries were not serious. Mrs. Kennedy is separated from her husband and is on relief.

'COMMON LAW' WIDOW'S FATHER AIDS HER CLAIM

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Dr. Charles W. Ott, former dentist in Pittsburg, Kan., took the witness stand in the Court of Surrogate James A. Delehanty today to aid the contention of his pretty daughter, 27 year old Geraldine Ott, that she was the common law wife of the late Bertrand L. Taylor, 72 year old millionaire.

Miss Ott is seeking a widow's share of Taylor's estate.

Dr. Ott, one time member of the board of education in the Kansas city, was called as a witness immediately after his wife retold the evidence she gave previously that Taylor and her daughter were wed in a common law ceremony at the Ott home in Pittsburg.

In January, 1930, Dr. Ott testified, Taylor purchased a $125,000 home in Beverly Hills, Cal., where the millionaire lived with the Otts.

The dentist said Taylor, he and his daughter attended prize fights regularly on the coast and on other nights, with Mrs. Ott, generally played bridge at their home.

Adjournment for the day cut short the dentist's additional testimony of his daughter's relationship with the dead millionaire.

Miss Ott's claim is being contested by Taylor's son and daughter, Bertran L. Taylor Jr., and Countess Dorothy de Frasso.

Revival of Kansas Death Penalty Voted by House

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A revival of capital punishment in Kansas, where the death penalty was barred twenty-seven years ago, was voted today by the house of representatives. The bill, together with one establishing the gallows as the means of execution, passed the house eighty-five to twenty-six. It provides death as an alternative penalty.

Rail President's Brother Killed in Yards Accident

Houston, Tex., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Egbert Davis, 47, Missouri Pacific railroad conductor and brother of John Marcus Davis of New York, president of the Delaware and Lackawanna railroad, was fatally injured last night when he was thrown against his caboose in the yards here. He died today.

6 Hour Gun Battle Rages in Florida.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

Oklawaha, Fla., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Federal agents trailed Kate [Ma] Barker and her son Fred to their Florida hideout today and killed the long sought Bremer kidnaping suspects with machine gun fire after a furious six hour battle.

"Ma" Barker, mentioned as the brains of the Barker-Karpis gang held responsible for the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul, Minn., banker, died with a machine gun in her hand.

As the gun fight raged, described by residents of the little village of Oklawaha as "like a war," reports of a greater death list spread. One was that Alvin Karpis, co-leader of the gang, also was slain. After the gunfire had ceased, however, and federal agents had entered the house, it was established that only Barker and his mother were killed. Barker was 32 and his mother 55 years old.

Starts at Daylight.

The battle started shortly after daylight this morning, when department of justice agents, led by E. J. Connelley of Cincinnati, surrounded the house on Lake Weir. Connelley approached and called to the occupants to surrender.

Machine gun fire was the answer and the battle was on. Augmenting their weapons with tear gas, the government men kept up firing, and it was met in kind from within the house.

When the shooting ceased from the house around 11 o'clock the government men sent a Negro cook, who had been working there, into the building. He returned saying "they are all dead."

"Ma" Holds Gun.

"Ma" Barker fell holding a machine gun in her hand and a portion of the drum of ammunition had been exhausted. She had been struck only once.

Fred Barker's body was sprawled on the floor with eleven machine gun slugs in his shoulder and three in his head.

The dozen or more government agents who participated in the battle escaped injury.

Firing was intermittent. Guns would bark for 15 minutes and then a lull, followed by a fresh outbreak of firing from both sides. Witnesses said most of the shooting from the house, entirely surrounded by machine guns of the government, came from upstairs.

Agents said they had fired 1,500 rounds of ammunition into the house, a white structure, which was badly riddled.

U. S. RUNNING DOWN GANG

The slaying of Fred Barker, killer and bank robber, and his mother by federal agents yesterday in Oklawaha, Fla., marked another step in the government's year long search for the Bremer kidnapers. The wealthy St. Paul banker was abducted on Jan. 17, 1934, and was held until Feb. 7, when $200,000 ransom was paid for his release.

The first indication that operatives of the justice department's division of investigation were closing in on the abduction gang came in Chicago on Jan. 8. That night Russell Gibson, one of the alleged kidnapers, was shot to death in a desperate gun battle with government agents as he tried to escape from an apartment at 3920 Pine Grove avenue.

U. S. Works in Secrecy.

Up to that point the agents had maintained strict secrecy as to their movements in tracing the gang, which also numbers among its members Arthur [Doc] Barker, brother of the slain Fred, and Alvin Karpis. After the shooting of Gibson the curtain of secrecy once more came down. It was not until yesterday that federal bullets ripped aside the veil again and cut down Fred Barker and his mother.

The whereabouts of Arthur Barker and Karpis are still a part of the mystery. Reports became current in Chicago yesterday that Arthur had been seized in a north side apartment and was in government custody, but federal agents would neither confirm nor deny this.

When Gibson was slain here E. J. Connelley, head of the Cincinnati office of the investigation division, led the agents who killed him, and Harold Nathan, assistant to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the division in Washington, was also on hand. Yesterday Connelley was in charge of the machine gun assault on the embattled Barkers at Oklawaha. Nathan also was believed to be in Florida, although the report at his Chicago office was that he was in Oklahoma, not Oklawaha.

Records on the activities of Fred Barker before the Bremer kidnaping are meager, although police have sought him since 1932 for the murder of a sherif at West Plains, Mo., in May of that year. He was implicated in that crime with Karpis and Frank Nash, southwestern desperado. Nash was killed with a federal agent and three policemen in the Kansas City station massacre of June 17, 1933.

Both Barker and Karpis also were charged with the murder of Karpis' father-in-law, William Dunlop of West St. Paul, whose bullet riddled body was found near Webster, Wis., in 1933. In addition, Barker was wanted for the robbery of a bank in Concordia, Kas.

He was an obscure figure in the Bremer kidnaping case until yesterday, his brother, Arthur, and Karpis having been regarded as the leaders in that crime.

BARKER SLAYING REDUCES PUBLIC ENEMIES TO FOUR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—America's dwindling list of public enemies tonight included one member of the shattered Dillinger gang and two of the Karpis-Barker combination of criminals.

Fred Barker and his mother, Kate, killed today in Florida, belonged to the Karpis-Barker group.

The department of justice's "enemy list" included:

Alvin Karpis and Arthur [Doc] Barker, brother of Fred, named months ago as principals in the abduction of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul.

Tracks Load of Stolen Corn 11 Miles; One Held

TENACIOUS U. S. AGENT HUNTS DOWN BARKER; END OF A LONG TRAIL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A stocky, 36 year old federal agent, known throughout the service for his tenacity, led the fifteen government officers who killed two of the Barker gang today and were pursuing the leaders of the criminal band tonight.

E. J. Connelley, former war veteran, is in charge of the Cincinnati office of the division of investigation. He has had fifteen years of service and has detailed knowledge of the Barker mob's personnel and their activities.

Connelley helped in laying a trap for Alvin Karpis and Arthur [Doc] Barker, criminal leaders, in Cleveland, O., last September. The trap failed, but Connelley and his men kept working.

The death of Fred Barker, brother of Arthur, and his mother after the fierce battle in Oklawaha, Fla., today resulted.

Connelley, who hails from Columbus, O., was second in command of the forty agents rushed to the Louisville area in October when Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, social leader, was abducted for a $50,000 ransom.

Connelley has served as agent in charge of the New York and Chicago offices of the division of investigation. He is married and the father of two children.

Grants Girl Probation; Holds Youth as Burglar

Miss Dorothy Mackey, 22 years old, 640 Barry avenue, a laundry worker, was granted probation yesterday when arraigned before Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court, but Stanley Seward, 24 years old, 2621 Blaine place, her companion, was held to the grand jury on two burglary charges with total bonds of $10,000. The two were arrested while the girl was acting as lookout for Seward who had broken into a milk depot at 2412 Blaine place. The charge against the girl was reduced to malicious mischief.

COLORED SINGER ORDERED TO PAY COSTS IN DIVORCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Clarence Nathaniel Johnstone, partner in the American colored singers' team of Layton and Johnstone, was ordered to pay the costs in a divorce granted today to Albert Sandler, violinist.

The divorce was granted several months ago, but was held up because of a technicality. Sandler, naming Johnstone as co-respondent, brought a new suit and the divorce was made absolute. The suit was not defended.

Sandler said his wife met Johnstone in 1927 and that she told her husband she had met Johnstone, admired his work and thought he was very charming. Later she admitted that she loved Johnstone, Sandler said, and that she would marry him if she were free. The Sandlers have not been living together since 1932.

VANDERBILT QUITS AS COMMANDER OF 77TH DIVISION

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt was relieved of the command of the 77th division, United States army reserve today and transferred to the unassigned list at his own request.

Gen. Vanderbilt, who has been an officer of the military forces of the state or nation for the past 33 years gave the pressure of his private business affairs as the reason for his request to be relieved of command of New York's chief unit in the reserve corps.

Assembly Has One G. O. P. Committee Under Sinnett

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Representative Thomas P. Sinnett of Rock Island, today was named chairman of the house judiciary committee by Speaker Devine. Sinnett will find himself the only house chairman with a Republican majority against him. All lawyers are placed upon the judiciary committee and it happens that this session there are 27 Republican and 13 Democratic attorneys in the chamber.

ESTRANGED MATE SLAYS WOMAN IN COURTHOUSE

Harlan, Ky., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A divorce suit brought death today to Mrs. Lena Huff Wilder in a shooting in the Harlan county courthouse that interrupted a murder trial and sent spectators pouring out of the courtroom.

Millard Wilder, 40, a former city policeman, shot his wife and himself, in the second floor hallway adjacent to the courtroom. She died later in a hospital. He wounded himself in the head.

Mrs. Wilder, 32, had filed suit for divorce last week alleging cruelty and neglect. The couple had been married 14 years and had five children, ranging in age from fifteen months to thirteen years. Mrs. Wilder had acted as a special bailif when women jurors were to be guarded and Wilder had acted as an assistant to W. M. Jones, deputy United States marshal.

The shooting took place after Wilder and his wife had met on the stairway leading to the second floor court room. A few persons were in the hallway but no one else was injured. Mrs. Wilder was shot in the head and body, three or four shots being fired. Wilder then shot himself in the head, but after hospital treatment he was placed in jail.

Cast Prevents Injury of Boy Hit by Auto

Morrison, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Donald Mason, who wears a cast because of spinal trouble, escaped serious injury when struck by an automobile when on his way home from school. The heavy cast protected the youth when the wheel of the car hit him and he suffered only minor cuts.

SEEK PLAN TO AID RELIEF CLIENTS IN BIRTH CONTROL

League Suggests Telling Where to Learn How.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A resolution urging formulation of a plan whereby families on relief might be informed where to obtain "medical advice on limitation of families by methods in accordance with their religious convictions" was adopted yesterday by the American Birth Control league. The league opened in the Palmer house its fourteenth annual meeting, which will close tonight.

Mrs. Francis N. Bangs, president of the league, pointed out that last year in the United States a quarter of a million babies were born to families on relief.

During a round table discussion in the afternoon, Dr. Eric M. Matsner of New York suggested informally that the league provide information on the "rhythm" or "natural" system of birth control to patients who asked for it.

Objections to Proposal.

Dr. Matsner is volunteer medical director for the league and is a member of the national committee on maternal health. Several objected to his proposal and no vote was taken.

"Recent studies made by clinics abroad indicate that the 'safe period' is not so safe as it originally was claimed to be," Dr. Matsner said. "When patients come to the league clinics and ask for instruction in the rhythm method, however, I think we could give them instructions on an experimental basis. It would be made clear to them we do not accept the theory as safe. It would be most worth while experimentally to compile the records."

Colored Persons' Problem.

Dr. Matsner, addressing a night meeting of the league in the Colored Y. M. C. A., 3763 South Wabash avenue, declared that birth control among Colored persons was doubly important because of the extremely high rate of maternal and infant mortality among them. In certain rural communities in the south and in urban centers elsewhere, according to the doctor, the infant and maternal mortality is two or three times as high as that of the white race.

Malnutrition, causing rickets, which in turn gives rise to pravalent bone deformities among women, accounts for much maternal mortality, he said, while the high mortality of babies under 1 year old also may be attributed to improper diet.

Cites New York Statistics.

As an argument for birth control, he asserted that in New York state one-fifth of all deaths of married women of all races between 20 and 45 years old are due to abortion, and one-third of the deaths of unmarried women in that age bracket are traceable to the same cause.

He declared twice as many women die of abortions as of child birth in this country. Of the abortion deaths, 80 per cent occur in married women from 30 to 45 years old who average 3.5 children each.

GRANTED DIVORCE

MRS. GEORGIA SHAFFER.

Sight of her estranged husband behind the bars caused Mrs. Georgia Shaffer, 25 years old, 1004 North Kedzie avenue to renounce all claim to alimony. This she admitted to Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday when he granted her a divorce from Paul Shaffer, 2816 Harrison street, an ice cream truck driver.

Last week Mrs. Shaffer's attorney, Norman Becker, had Chaffer brought into court for being $35 in arrears on his temporary alimony and Judge Desort committed him to alimony row.

When his wife saw him in the county building bull pen she burst into tears and at her request Paul was released.

"I don't want alimony," Mrs. Shaffer declared yesterday. "After seeing those poor alimony prisoners I don't see how any one can have a man locked up for owing money."

"You are a woman in a million," Judge Desort told her. "If there were more like you, abuse of the alimony and separate maintenance provisions of the law would cease. I believe that it would help if every woman in a divorce case were required to visit alimony row."

COMPANY SUES COURTNEY AND UNION LEADERS

The Scavenger Service corporation, 4545 Cottage Grove avenue, filed suit for $200,000 yesterday in the United States District court against State's Attorney Courtney, Capt. Daniel Gilbert, the state's attorney's chief investigator, and officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, local 731, and the Chicago Suburban Ash and Scavenger corporation. The bill charged the defendants with conspiracy to create a monopoly in scavenger service in Chicago.

The bill also asked an injunction to restrain the defendants from picketing, boycotting, and otherwise molesting the business of the complainant. Mr. Courtney and Capt. Gilbert are accused of helping to organize the Independent Contractors' association and forcing contractors to join this association. All the defendants are alleged to have conspired to withhold union labor from the Scavenger Service corporation.

Capt. Gilbert last night denied all the charges on behalf of himself and Mr. Courtney.

FIND MEANS TO TREAT 2 SERIOUS HEART DISORDERS

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A therapeutic method which would prevent many deaths from cardiac disorders was disclosed tonight by Dr. Louis H. Nahum, Yale heart specialist, in a paper which he read to the New Haven Medical association, of which he is the retiring president.

Dr. Nahum said the results of investigations carried on by Dr. H. E. Hoff of the Yale school of medicine and himself showed the external nerves of the heart were responsible for ventricular and auricular fibrillation, both likely to be serious disorders.

This disclosure, it is believed by Drs. Nahum and Hoff, will cause a radical change in the general concept of these nerves—that they regulate the heart beat.

May Bring Sudden Death.

Dr. Nahum said:

"In the normal heart the external nerves regulate the beat, but in the abnormal heart under certain conditions it is these nerves that bring about sudden death or serious cardiac disorders, the cause of which heretofore has not been appreciated.

"With the understanding of the underlying mechanism which brings about these conditions we have been able to outline a therapy which would prevent death under such circumstances."

Dr. Nahum explained the general concept of the influence of the extrinsic nerves of the heart "is that they regulate its rate: the vagus nerve slackens the heart while the accelerator causes the heart to beat faster, the normal rate being the resultant of these two forces."

Find Chemicals Affect Them.

"All of our experiments," he continued, "have been based upon stimulating either of these nerves in animals with healthy hearts, but there has been no investigation of the grave disorders that they may and do produce. During the course of our investigations at Yale we have found that certain chemical substances when injected produce the same effects as are obtained when the nerves are stimulated.

Often from Electric Shock.

"Due to electric shock, chloroform, and benzol poisoning, the heart shows the onset of a fatal rhythm, called ventricular fibrillation. In the latter two conditions the progress from the normal heart beat to ventricular fibrillation occurs in three stages, the last of which causes sudden arrest of the action of the heart and therefore death.

"Epinephrin, a drug present in the secretion of the adrenalin glands, was found by us to bring on the terminal stage where the poisoning had just been enough to bring about the first two stages of the fatal heart rhythm. If, however, the accelerator nerves were removed from the heart and the adrenal glands excised to remove epinephrin from the blood stream, the fatal rhythms no longer occurred."

AIR MAIL LINES TAKE LOSSES TO SAVE INDUSTRY

"Wolfish Competition" Is Laid to Roosevelt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.] — President's Roosevelt's arbitrary junking of all air mail contracts eleven months ago opened a period of "wolfish competition" and resultant losses in the aviation industry, such as the New Deal has sought to eliminate in other branches of business, it was learned today.

Aviation companies were forced to operate with heavy deficits and were being starved as a result of the President's cancelation of the contracts, an inquiry by the interstate commerce commission has revealed. The air mail bureau of the I. C. C. just has recommended that the air mail rates on 19 of the 31 routes be increased to enable the air transport companies to operate profitably.

"Most of the routes are being operated at substantial losses," the air mail bureau reported at the conclusion of its investigation. Its report will now be taken up by the I. C. C., which finally will set the rates to be paid by the government on air mail.

Postoffice Replies.

The postoffice department today advanced a twofold defense against the implied criticism of its rate structure which the I. C. C. report brought out. First, the postoffice department pointed out that the rates now prevailing were set by competitive bidding among the operators themselves. Second, the department stressed the fact that even the rates recommended by the I. C. C. bureau are much lower than those prevailing when the contracts were canceled.

Existing rates being paid by the postoffice department averaged 26.34 cents per pound of mail. The proposed I. C. C. rates average 29.42 cents. Rates prevailing before the cancelation averaged 43.03 cents.

Observers were quick to reply to the postoffice defense that existing rates were set by competition. Comparison of the existing rates with those proposed by the I. C. C. bureau shows that many air lines were forced to offer disastrously low rates when the routes were thrown open to competition in order to keep their organizations intact.

Save Passenger Route.

American Air Lines, Inc., for instance, bid for mail service over the Chicago-Fort Worth route at the rate of 8 cents a mile. The route was an essential link in the American Air Lines passenger network and the company was anxious to keep competitors off it, postoffice experts admitted today. Therefore the company put in an unprecedented low bid.

For every $23 which it has taken in on the Chicago-Fort Worth route American Air Lines has spent $55, making its net loss, with taxes, $32. The I. C. C. bureau proposes that the rate be raised from 8 cents per hundred pounds to 28 cents.

American Air Lines had a similar experience with other routes. It was forced to bid for the mail contract from Newark to Fort Worth for 13 cents per hundred and from Cleveland to Nashville for 14⅞ cents to keep these passenger routes from being invaded by competitors with mail subsidies. The I. C. C. proposes to raise these rates to 26 and 28 cents, respectively.

Eastern Rate Low.

In the face of the wolfish competition inaugurated after cancelation of the contracts Eastern Air Lines also offered the exceptionally low rates of 19 cents per hundred on the new New Orleans and Chicago-Jacksonville routes, both of which are important to the passenger business the company had built up. The I. C. C. proposes to raise these rates to 28 and 29 cents.

That the big companies were not merely seeing ghosts when they sought to protect their passenger and express routes from invasion by cut rate outsiders who also would get mail revenues is revealed by other features in the I. C. C. report.

Several small air transport companies which previously had carried no mail did win contracts on important routes after the cancelations by bidding low. Postoffice experts explained today that these companies actually believed they could operate at low rates, but have been suffering losses and now are seeking to get out from under their cut rate bids.

Losses Are Heavy.

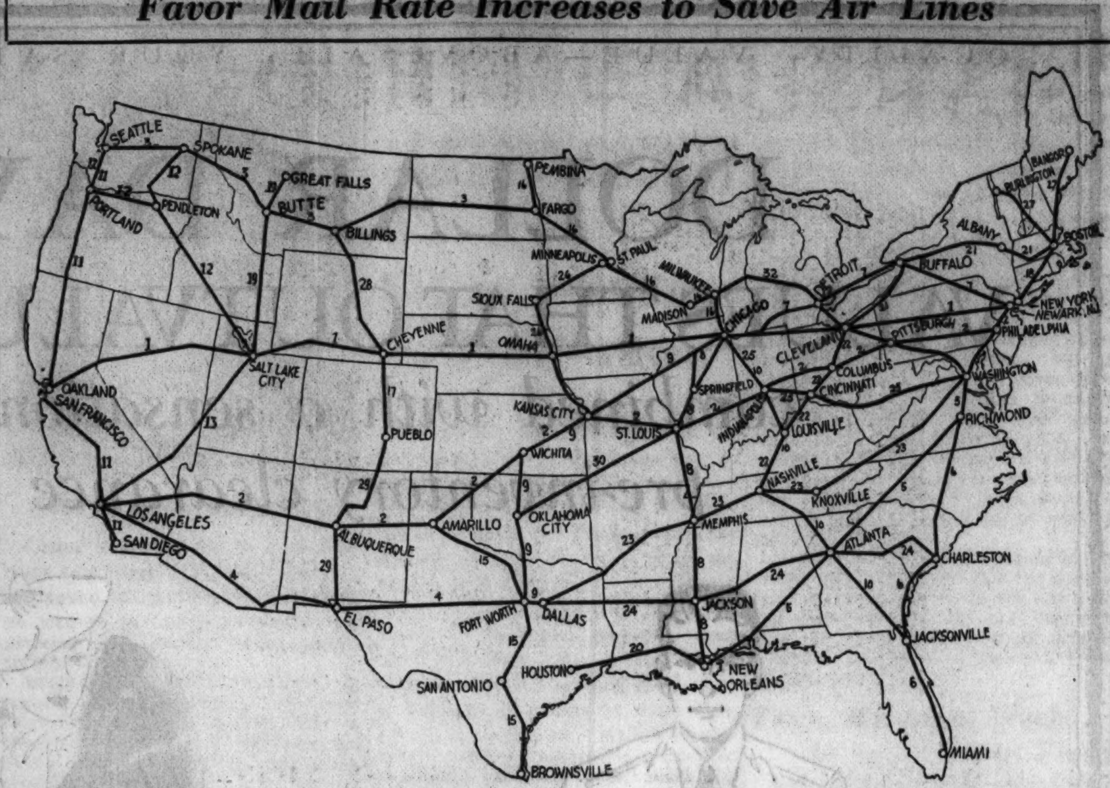
The Hanford Air Lines, for instance, succeeded in taking over the St. Paul-Kansas City route by bidding at the low rate of 18.9 cents per hundred. It has found that its losses are heavy, and the I. C. C. estimates that it needs a rate of 32 cents, an increase of 13 cents, to make money over the route.

Similarly, the Robertson Airplane Service company captured the New Orleans-Houston line by bidding 16.7 cents, whereas the I. C. C. says it needs 31 cents. Pacific Seaboard Lines succeeded in running off with the Chicago-New Orleans route for the low rate of 17.5 cents, but now finds it needs 29 cents.

Favor Mail Rate Increases to Save Air Lines



The map shows air lines for which a change in airmail rates has been recommended by the airways committee of the interstate commerce commission. The base rate for eleven routes was decreased, for one unchanged, and for nineteen increased. In granting the increase the committee states that low rates below the cost of operation were imperiling the air transport system of the country. Following are the routes affected:

| Route and operator— | Old rate —in cents— | New rate |
|---|---|---|
| 1—Newark to Oakland, United Air Lines | 38 | 31 |
| 2—Newark to Los Angeles, T. W. A. | 24 | 24 |
| 3—Fargo to Seattle, Northwest Airlines | 33.75 | 25 |
| 4—Fort Worth to Los Angeles, American Airlines | 39.5 | 26 |

RICKENBACKER, ON SPEED HOP, FORCED TO LAND

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker was forced to land here late this afternoon after having successfully negotiated the first lap of an attempted record round trip flight between New Orleans and New York.

An oil tank on the big Douglas air liner developed a crack 180 miles south of here on the return trip and one of the engines became overheated. Rickenbacker turned the ship about and landed in a blinding snowstorm at the Washington airport. The party prepared to spend the night here.

Leaving New Orleans early this morning, Rickenbacker reached New York with 15 passengers in 7 hours 3 minutes, clipping 3 hours 29 minutes from the old transport record for the run. After lunch the party started southward again.

Among the passengers were Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the late President, and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, wife of the former governor of the federal reserve board. The women remained in Washington, where a refueling took place, as the big ship pulled out southward bound. It was Mrs. Wilson's first flight.

The plane also carried Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans, his daughter, Augusta, and Rudolph Hecht, president of the American Bankers association.

New Yugoslav Consul Here Receives Military Honor

Vlada M. Vukmirovich, who came to Chicago a week ago to serve as the Yugoslav consul here, has been decorated with the order of St. Sava with which military officers of high rank are honored, according to an announcement yesterday. The decree, one of the last signed by the late King Alexander of Yugoslavia, was bestowed for Mr. Vukmirovich's recent services as first secretary of the Yugoslav legation at London.

VOTE TO INDICT GARAGE MAN IN $800 GAS THEFT

CRIMINAL COURT.

FRED BRUNNER and WILLIAM LIGHTNER, each sentenced to Joliet penitentiary, 1 year to life, for robbery; FANNY PROPHET, Joliet penitentiary, 1 to 14 years, for manslaughter, by Judge Harry B. Miller.

A true bill was reported voted by the grand jury yesterday charging with grand larceny George Cooper, owner of a 200 car garage at 50 East 51st street. The complaint against him was that he obtained 9,000,000 cubic feet of gas, worth $800, by means of a piping system that defrauded the gas company. Joseph Durkin, a gas company inspector, testified that the meter had been taken from Cooper's garage several months ago, but that Cooper installed pipes and was heating the building with stolen gas. The indictment is said to be the first of its kind in twenty years.

STATE STREET'S BARGAINS BECKON SHOPPERS TODAY

Small Stores Join Dollar Event; Rush Expected.

State street's sixth Dollar day starts this morning. The bargains to be offered will be found not only in the larger department stores, but the State Street council, sponsors of the plan to create an old-fashioned buying rush, have announced that practically all of the smaller shops are coöperating by offering assortments of dollar items.

The large department stores will have the dollar items in practically every department, and shoppers are expected to start with the basement and go through to the top floors seeking to save money on articles which they have needed, but deferred buying in the holiday period when they purchased gifts.

Flags to Decorate Street.

Flags will decorate State street from Congress to Lake street to call attention to the unusual day. Mannequins will parade in many of the stores, displaying dollar dresses, hats, and lingerie.

Merchants today are offering items which will be of interest to every member of the family rather than mostly to the women, and the dollar bargains are being fortified with other merchandise at special prices.

Expect Record Sales.

Because of this, the council expects that today's collective effort of the merchants to stimulate business along State street will result in new sales records. Other dollar days have shown that business has been quickened after the special events.

Transportation companies are coöperating with the merchants by ordering extra equipment and employés to handle the crowds that are expected to crowd the loop with the opening of the stores. These extra facilities will be held in readiness to return the customers to their homes when their shopping is over. Loop parking stations also have arranged to handle thousands of extra automobiles.

LARGEST NAVY PLANE COMPLETES FLIGHT TO PANAMA IN 25 HOURS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Jan. 16. — The United States navy's seaplane XP2H-1 arrived at Coco Solo, fleet air base, at 4:50 p. m. today from Norfolk, Va., making the 2,000 mile nonstop flight in 24 hours 50 minutes. This was an hour longer than the mass flight of six navy seaplanes in September, 1933. Pilot Lieut. John S. Thatch said continuous head winds reduced the plane's cruising speed of 120 to often not more than 80 miles per hour.

The plane, though the navy's largest, is a biplane and is three years old. This flight was made as a test of fuel consumption. Lieut. Thatch stated the plane carried 3,450 gallons of fuel and used about 2,600 gallons. The plane has four 500 horse power motors and carries a crew of six. The craft was too big for any hangar at Coco Solo and was anchored offshore.

It was learned today that Rear Admiral A. W. Johnson, commandant of the Coco Solo base, is planning a 25 days' Caribbean air cruise beginning Tuesday. The British Admiral Sir Lewis Bayley, who commanded a combinded British and American fleet off Queenstown [Cobh], Ireland, during the war, was Admiral Johnson's guest today and reviewed the Coco Solo air fleet.

SCHOOL BUDGET OF 72 MILLIONS NEARS ADOPTION

Action Today Assured as Horner Signs Peg Bill.

Passage of the 1935 school budget of $72,342,173 today is assured, according to school officials, by reason of Gov. Horner's signing of the pegged levy bill of $43,000,000 yesterday. The 1936 budget represents an increase of $986,145 over last year. However, it was pointed out by members of the Board of Education, this is only half of the normal annual increase of $2,000,000 for educational purposes, due to the growth of the school system.

The educational fund for 1935 is $48,761,300, an increase of $2,050,587 over the appropriation of 1934. This amount provides for 7,626 more high school and junior college students and the addition of 304 teachers to the pay roll. This fund will also maintain three junior colleges at a cost of $250,000; $484,700 will be used for the restoration of a principal to each Chicago high school, and $225,000 will be spent for supplies for the five new high schools.

Bond and Interest Fund Rises.

Due to the government loan for teachers' salaries, the bond and interest fund will be increased by $1,027,415 in order to meet bonded indebtedness and delinquent tax warants.

A substantial reduction in one of the items of the 1935 budget is found in the appropriation for building purposes. The sum of $4,111,100 has been cut from this item by the board in keeping with President James B. McCahey's stated policy of "economizing in every direction in order to be generous in the appropriation for educational purposes."

How Appropriations Compare.

The comparative statement of appropriations for the years 1934 and 1935 follows:

| Fund— | —Appropriations for— 1934. | 1935. |
|---|---|---|
| Educational | $46,710,713 | $48,761,300 |
| Free text book | 1,021,938 | 1,067,669 |
| Playgrounds | 687,728 | 733,800 |
| Building | 13,696,500 | 9,585,400 |
| Bond redemption | 7,880,849 | 8,908,266 |
| Teachers' pension | 1,238,400 | 1,188,983 |
| Special funds and lunch room | 119,900 | 26,900 |
| Totals | $71,356,028 | $72,342,173 |

"In the 1935 budget we are embodying the essential economy measures inaugurated by Mayor Kelly," said President McCahey, "and at the same time we are increasing the efficiency of our educational system on a sound basis."

Rabbi Goldman to Defend Experiments on Animals

"Vivisection, Autopsy and Judaism," is the subject announced by Rabbi Solomon Goldman for his sermon tomorrow night at Temple Anshe Emet, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street. He will defend the practice.

BECOMES BANDIT

LESTER BROCKELHURST.

Lester Brockelhurst, 21 years old, came to Chicago from the little town of Maquon, Ill., on Monday. Last night he was at the detective bureau, explaining three holdups he had perpetrated.

Brockelhurst, who says he is an earnest church worker in his home town, robbed a candy store at 34 North Clark street of $10.25, and obtained slightly more than $4 in two street holdups of women.

When he first arrived in the city, he deposited a $64 check on a Galesburg bank in the City National bank. Yesterday he went to the bank to draw out $20. By that time it was found that the check was no good. In his room at the Hotel Sherman police found his gun and a quantity of small change. He confessed the holdups.

HUNT MYSTERY MAN TO SOLVE MARTIN DEATH

Police and coroner's investigators yesterday were searching for a man named Hamill in the hope of solving the mysterious slugging that led to the death of William C. Martin, 50 years old, 2136 Lincoln Park West, rubber goods manufacturer. Martin died on Monday in the Illinois Masonic hospital of an infection which developed as a result of the assault.

His widow, Martha, told coroner's representatives that on Dec. 11, the day of the attack on her husband, a man telephoned their home and arranged to meet Martin that afternoon at 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue. This man, Mrs. Martin said, identified himself as a Mr. Hamill of Fort Wayne, Ind., who wished to purchase part of the machinery which Martin was selling from his closed factory at 1525 Kingsbury avenue.

Some time after the hour of the appointment Martin was found slugged in his automobile near 79th street and State road, southwest of Chicago.

Report True Bill Voted Against Slayer of Wife

Walter Joseph Hartz, 34 years old, who killed his wife with a flatiron on Dec. 22 when he learned she was to become a mother, was reported named in a true bill charging murder voted yesterday by the grand jury. Hartz confessed the killing. He fled after leaving a suicide note, but was arrested in Kankakee.

DRAW UP 7 BILLS TO EQUALIZE TAX LOAD IN COUNTY

Seek Ten Million Refund on Small Properties.

Seven bills intended to equalize the tax burden in Cook county and to diminish tax litigation have been prepared by State's Attorney Courtney and his expert on taxation, Attorney Hayden N. Bell, according to an announcement yesterday.

The proposed laws are to be presented to the general assembly some time next week. One of them would authorize refunds ranging from 10 to 15 millions of dollars to more than 100,000 taxpayers who did not receive the 15 per cent reduction in assessed valuations on homes and small flat buildings granted for the years 1932 and 1933. According to Attorney Bell this refund probably would not be made in cash but in credit upon tax bills of future years.

Would Enlarge Judge's Power.

Another bill would permit the county judge to waive tax penalties and forfeiture costs on bills for 1933 and previous years. State's Attorney Courtney said this measure would enable thousands of home owners to refinance and save their properties.

The third bill would reduce a tax rate in a taxing district when items making up that rate have been held illegal by the final judgment of a competent court. The amount of such illegal items would be deducted from the gross rate imposed.

Subjects of Other Measures.

Other bills pertain to the readvertising of forfeitures; clarification of the jurisdiction of the County court under the Skarda tax receivership act, and technicalities which enable owners to evade personal property levies.

The seventh bill would permit partial payments of real or personal property taxes in amounts not less than 10 per cent, giving taxpayers the right of refund in case tax protests are allowed by the courts.

WOUND KILLS FARMER.

CLAYTON SMITH AGAIN IS HEAD OF ZOO SOCIETY

Clayton F. Smith was reëlected president of the Chicago Zoölogical association, and Gen. Abel Davis, John T. McCutcheon, Hayden B. Harris, Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood and John R. McGill were elected to serve as trustees until 1940 at the annual meeting held yesterday in the Palmer house.

Edward Bean, director of the Chicago zoölogical gardens in Brookfield, reported the zoo a success in its seven months of existence, and outlined plans for increasing its facilities. During 1934 seven lions, one yak, eleven kangaroos and a great many monkeys were born, bringing the total of mammals, birds and reptiles to 1,335. At present there are 110 species and 394 specimens of mammals, 148 species and 392 specimens of birds, and 155 species and 585 specimens of reptiles living in the zoo.

Herbert E. Bradley, chairman of the committee on animals, said the fate of the four fruit bats lay in the hands of the customs officials, and observed that the three males and one female might be sterilized to preserve them for the zoo.

Train, Marooned Week in Snow Drifts, Freed

Alamosa, Colo., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Rotary plows reached a stormbound Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad train on top of Cumbres pass tonight. Eighteen persons, four of them trainmen, had been marooned there since Thursday morning. The plows cut a path through the mountainous snowdrifts to the train and railroad employés here said the plows probably would continue tonight to attempt to open the railroad line into Cresco, N. M., west of here about ten miles.

Tavern Hostesses Are Ordered to Quit County

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—More than a score of tavern hostesses were ordered to leave the county today following a series of raids by Sherif G. W. Booth, aided by Dr. H. E. Hoyt of the state board of health. One of the hostesses, Hariet Degraf, was sentenced to the Taycheedah industrial home.

THE STORE FOR MEN

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Arnold Gingrich

● editor of ESQUIRE

● author of a great new novel—"Cast Down the Laurel" (to be published February 11)

● and probably one of the best versed men in the country on men's styles and wearing apparel—says:

"I have watched with a great deal of interest and considerable admiration the alacrity with which new ideas in men's styles have appeared at Field's in Chicago.

"In Esquire's fashion forecasts we must keep ahead of the whole country—admittedly a tough job. But the toughest part of it is to predict the new things in The Magazine for Men before you present them in The Store for Men. We don't mind your scooping the rest of the country, but imagine our embarrassment, if you should scoop us!"

Therefore, gentlemen, with such an endorsement we herewith review our

Famous Firsts of 1934

A famous executive once said—"I don't care what happened last year. Tell me what you're going to do about this year." And there's no doubt about it—retrospection is far from necessary for success.

BUT to show you dramatically just what you may expect from The Store for Men as style leaders in 1935 we feel a brief flash-back on what we've sponsored—and in many instances, created—during the past twelve months will sum up our platform perfectly. Look this list over . . . and you'll see in it styles that started most informally; but ideas that we were sure were right, and that grew before the year was out, oftentimes because of our endorsement, into important accessories for the well-dressed man's wardrobe.

(1) There was the white shawl collar dinner jacket that we insisted would take the place of the mess jacket (we talked about that on Jan. 11, 1934).

(2) Was the horse sheeting idea for robes and tennis jackets which developed into a sensation later on in the Summer of 1934.

(3) We said sail cloth swim shorts would be good—

(4) Then we told you about a new 2½-ounce derby from England we had perfected.

(5) The rabbit's hair industry skyrocketed when it was discovered how perfectly it adapted itself with wool for hose and ties for sportswear.

(6) Then came tuck-in pajamas with tails on the coat like a shirt and trousers that had pockets in them.

(7) A new hat style that graduated into prominence this Fall was announced in March—the cupped crown with a crease; it was an unusual development away from traditional hat styles.

(8) Tick weave suitings and shirtings were forecast as important early last Spring.

(9) We wonder now just how many pairs of brown buck shoes with the plain toe and crepe sole we've sold since we introduced them in April.

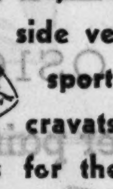
(10) We said caps were coming back way before Easter and announced our own Freesway cap—eastern college men today consider caps important in their campus wardrobe and Summer will see a definite cap revival.

(11) Then came the dark blue polo shirt and the string belt and colorful madras handkerchiefs.

(12) The sun helmet (an item that is taking Florida by storm now; we introduced the idea in July).

(13) Double-breasted polo shirts with the raglan sleeve made for perfect freedom . . . in a smashing tennis game.

(14) The success of our Pork Pie hat is now history and it's an accepted style for young men today; our College Shop first featured it in August.



(15) Here, too, men saw Argyle plaid hose side vent coats, shirred back sport jackets, boucle cravats and a dozen other new ideas for the first time in any quantity in Chicago

(16) We could go on and on with such "firsts" as colored pigskin gloves, wool band hats and a lot of other things.

—But all we say is, watch The Store for Men in 1935—the new style ideas will be here, as always . . . FIRST!

(Patting ourselves on the back like this isn't our usual custom—but with Arnold Gingrich giving us such a grand opportunity we felt that we should at least offer this as a complete style summary of what happened in men's fashions in 1934.)

NAZIS BOSS SAAR; FOES GO; REPORT 5 SLAIN IN FIGHTS

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 16.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's Saar opposition crumbled completely today, and the Saar, in effect, passed into Nazi hands.

The league of nations government was still in nominal authority, but it was evident that the league commissioners, bowing to the will of the people, expressed in the Sunday plebiscite's 90 per cent pro-German vote, meant to stand to one side.

As unconfirmed reports reached this capital that five persons had been killed and several wounded in post-plebiscite fighting the demoralized anti-Nazi Common Front moved its headquarters across the border to French soil.

Many Flee to France.

Into hiding or across the border into France went communists, Socialists, and dissident Catholics, opponents of Hitler's church policy.

Dispatches from Forbach, France, said several hundred Saar refugees arrived on French soil today. Four of them reported they had been fired upon as they started to turn back to the Saar. French authorities were anticipating many thousands of self-exiles, dispatches said.

All leaders of the opposition were gone from the Saar. Max Braun and Fritz Pfordt, common front chieftains, went to Geneva with the plebiscite commission which took the ballots to the league, hoping against hope the league might be dissuaded from its apparent purpose to turn the Saar over to the reich with minimum delay.

Raid Socialist Offices.

The Catholic opposition's organ here, the New Saar Post, was closed, while the two Socialist newspapers, the Freiheit and the Volkestimme, combined to print limited editions for sale abroad.

Police, controled by Nazis, earlier today moved into the Socialist welfare center from which the anti-Nazi plebiscite campaign had been directed, swept out several hundred Hitler opponents hiding there, and occupied the building.

No violence occurred in Saarbruecken, despite the fervor of the Nazis, although one report said six communists had been arrested.

Leading Jewish residents said 3,000 Jews in the Saar are anxious to leave, despite the advice from Bruno Weil, international lawyer and leader of the German Jewish organization, that they "stay in the fatherland and see the battle through."

"We do not know which way to turn," spokesmen for the Jews said. Business men asserted they were being boycotted, and their children reported schoolmates were "shunning them."

Transfer Delayed.

GENEVA, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Transfer of the Saar to Germany hung fire today over differences concerning the date of delivery. After the session of the league of nations council scheduled formally to proclaim the region's reannexation to the reich was unexpectedly postponed, league experts voiced the opinion that the most probable date for actual transfer was March 1.

Official German sources said France wants certain Saar questions settled before the date actually is fixed, but these questions, the Germans said, are minor problems and should not delay matters.

One outstanding obstacle, the German sources said, was the fact that the French want Germany to agree to destroy all fortifications in the Saar, including the strategic railroads which were built during the world war and remained during the league administration.

A meeting of the league council in the near future, possibly tomorrow, to arrange details of terminating league administration of the Saar was expected.

FRENCH WAR COUNCIL VOTES TO LENGTHEN CONSCRIPT SERVICE

PARIS, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The superior war council today approved an increase from one year to eighteen months in the period of conscript service and also approved the quick development of army motorization.

Gen. Maxime Weygand, who will retire as inspector general of the army on Jan. 21, was understood to have advocated two years of military service for conscripts, but the suggestion of eighteen months was made because of parlimentary opposition to doubling the length of service.

The probable increase in the length of conscript service in the French army, simultaneous with the Saar plebiscite in favor of Germany, recalls the fact that the French army cut its conscript service from eighteen months to one year on the day in 1926 when Germany joined the league of nations. In both cases the modifications have been by coincidence, for legislation regarding conscript service was pending for months previous to the government action.

PEACE KEYNOTE OF HIROTA SPEECH TO JAPANESE DIET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 16.—Peace will be the keynote of Foreign Minister Koki Hirota's address to the diet, which will be delivered probably Jan. 22. The foreign office disclosed this today after the cabinet had approved the draft of the speech.

In foreign relations Japan will pursue in 1935 a policy of non-aggression, particularly toward neighboring states. Last year Hirota outlined Japan's mission in Asia as the "guardian of peace" and denunciated Japan's "hands off China" policy. This year no such sensational pronouncement is expected.

In contrast to the warnings of military leaders that Japan faces a "crisis" in 1935 and 1936, Hirota will reassure the world of Japan's peaceful intentions.

A significant point is Japanese-soviet relations. Hirota will express gratification at the noticeable improvement and the reaching of an understanding in principle for the purchase of the Chinese Eastern railway from Russia and the hope that this will pave the way for further improvement of relations between Russia, Manchukuo and Japan.

GERMANY RULES NURSES MUST BE AGENTS OF NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—"Nurses must become political soldiers."

The official organ of the state guild of German nurses so ruled today. It attacked nurses of the Catholic and Protestant churches and nuns serving the sick, declaring:

"Nurses who merely believe in serving the sick and weak must be rejected. We do not want nurses who believe in heavenly threats or promises and who live in higher spheres, relinquishing the right to live their own lives. We demand nurses with the Nordic philosophy, close to real life."

The newspaper Koelnische Volkszeitung protested, pointing to the selfless services of Catholic nuns in the world war, 5,500 of whom were decorated for heroism.

DRINKS POISON, DIES.

FRENCH, NAZIS CLASH ON SAAR DISARMAMENT

Paris Insists Area Be Put on Rhineland Basis.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler summoned Baron Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, and Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, aviation minister and premier of Prussia, to his winter retreat at Obersalzberg, near Berchtesgaden, today. At this conference, it is understood, Germany's next foreign policy venture will be decided upon in the light of the Saar prebiscite victory.

The French ambassador to Berlin, Andre Francois-Poncet, called at the German foreign office today ostensibly to present the French reply to the recent German note declining particication in the proposed "eastern Locarno" peace pact. The reply was not made public. The real purpose of the visit, however, it transpired, was to discuss details of the evacuation of the Saar by officials of the league of nations and France and the demilitarization of the Saar zone.

Demilitarization Demand.

The French insist that the Germans promise to apply the same demilitarization methods to the Saar as were applied to the Rhineland under the provisions of the Versailles treaty.

The Germans contend that this disarming would interfere with negotiations for an agreement on restriction of armaments which have been going on under cover in London, Rome, and Paris. Nazis hope that Great Britain will use its influence to induce the French to drop their "exaggerated demands for security" and aid Germany in its struggle for prompt return of the Saar to the fatherland and for "armaments sufficient to guarantee German safety."

Prepares Financial Relief.

Simultaneously, the Hitler government is preparing financial measures to fund a part of the floating debt and provide new funds for the "creation of labor for the unemployed." The Berlin boerse announced the government has prepared an internal loan to which public insurance companies and banks will be compelled to subscribe, since many of them are holding back their funds, unwilling to risk investment in business.

The loan, which would aggregate approximately $600,000,000 at 4 per cent interest, would enable Germany to withdraw part of its short term obligations, which mature in the course of the next month.

BEWARE GERMANY'S INCREASING STRENGTH, FRANCE IS WARNED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Relief over the settlement of the Saar question was lessened today by the appearance over the city of posters warning France that it must stay on its guard so as not to become prey for an increasingly powerful Germany.

One of the posters which were stuck up by nationalist groups shows squadrons of German planes bombing Paris. Another, headed "The Same Old Story," pictures Kaiser Wilhelm addressing peaceful words to prewar France and shows Chancellor Hitler doing the same after the Saar plebiscite.

The rightist press contains many warnings against accepting offers of a rapprochement from Germany.

FRENCH FEAR ATTACK

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 16.—Despite the Nazi victory in the plebiscite, France will not let Germany take possession of the Saar unless Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler solemny undertakes to keep it demilitarized, and any attempt to establish a military base in the region will mean war.

This is the conviction of official observers here who are familiar with the Saar problem.

The French general staf considers that demilitarization of the Saar is absolutely essential for France's security, despite a chain of fortifications built right up to the frontier. The reason is that a range of hills running parallel to the Saar river between Dillingen and Merzig commands the main highway to Metz and the French fortifications around Saint-Avold.

One high point near the village of Berus commands Metz itself. It is only thirty miles from Metz and long range artillery planted on this position would menace the French stronghold which is the key to the whole French line of defense in the east.

It is not known generally here about the row over demilitarization and it is feared that unless it is quickly settled there will be violent reaction against what the Nazis consider as a French attempt to sabotage the plebiscite.

Ethiopia Appeals to League for Aid in Row with Italy

GENEVA, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Ethiopia today formally appealed to the league of nations for intervention in its controversy with Italy over military activities along the frontier of Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland. The appeal was made under article 11 of the league covenant.

IL DUCE MAKES SELF A MAJORITY IN OWN CABINET

ROME, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today became the majority in his own cabinet; he was appointed another minister.

By the royal decree of King Victor Emmanuel, Mussolini was named minister of colonies to succeed Gen. Emilio de Bono, who was appointed high commissioner of the colonies of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

There are thirteen portfolios, not including the office of premier, in the Italian cabinet. The first seven posts now are held by Mussolini as follows: Foreign affairs, interior, corporations, colonies, war, navy, aviation.

G. O. P. SENATORS LEAD ATTACKS ON WORLD COURT

President Asks Senate to O. K. U. S. Entry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The senate today received an appeal from President Roosevelt for immediate ratification of the world court protocols—then heard Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] denounce the proposal in a two hour oration reminiscent of the senatorial assaults on the league of nations fifteen years ago.

Senator Johnson's speech was the first to be heard from the opposition, but there are more to come before the measure, now regarded certain of passage, reaches a vote.

Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], another veteran of the historic league of nations fight, is scheduled to deliver the next world court philippic.

Message to Senate.

The President in his message to the senate said:

"A movement to make international justice practicable and serviceable is not subject to partisan considerations. For years Republican and Democratic administrations and party platforms alike have advocated a court of justice to which nations might voluntarily bring their disputes for judicial decisions.

"To give concrete realization to this obviously sound and thoroughly American policy, I hope that at an early date the senate will advise and consent to the adherence by the United States to the protocol of signature of the statute of the permanent court of international justice dated Dec. 16, 1920, the protocol for the revision of the statute of the permanent court of international justice dated Sept. 14, 1929, and the protocol for the accession of the United States of America to the protocol of signature of the statute of the permanent court of international justice, dated Sept. 14, 1929, all of which were submitted to the senate Dec. 10, 1930.

Asks Senators' Approval.

"I urge that the senate's consent be given in such form as not to defeat or to delay the objective of adherence.

"The sovereignty of the United States will be in no way diminished or jeopardized by such action.

"At this period in international relationships, when every act is of moment to the future of world peace, the United States has an opportunity once more to throw its weight into the scale in favor of peace."

Both the senate floor and the public galleries filled quickly after Senator Johnson began speaking. The audience listened intently throughout his fiery address. Few senators interrupted him. They asked only for clarification of details.

Senator Johnson attributed the agitation for joining the world court to the same "internationalists, pseudo-intellectuals, pacifists, hypocrites, and propagandists who are responsible for the status quo of the Versailles treaty and the terrible conditions in Europe today."

Denies Court Promotes Peace.

"Do we enter this sacrosanct tribunal for the preservation of peace?" Senator Johnson asked. "Not so, not so. Do we enter it for the determination of any American question? Not so. Do we enter it for determination of questions involving America with any other country? Not so.

"Then why do we enter it? Not for America, but to muddle and meddle with our historical internationalism in wholly European controversies—to do something that is foreign to the soul of the American people and the genesis of their traditions."

The senator spoke satirically of the "peace" claims of the pro-court agitators. He then disposed of them with a withering enumeration of controversies in which the court was ignored.

"Peace!" Senator Johnson repeated, derisively. "We don't go in for peace. We go where there is no peace. We—preserve the peace of the world. That's a beautiful thought; a naïve thought. They can't preserve it themselves. Where do they go, to the world court? Italy meets in secrecy with France. What about Egypt? Are we going to tell England what to do with Egypt? No, England is too big for us. What about Mussolini and Fiume? Didn't he stand up and laugh at the court?

Asks About Japan's Action.

"What about Japan and her rape of China?

"Two little nations down in South America, Bolivia and Paraguay, both members of the league of nations, have been fighting for three years until they have desolated their populations. What peace are you going to deal with?"

Senator Johnson said this country had trouble enough of its own with 11,000,000 unemployed and "the swollen relief rolls all over the land" without getting mixed up in the difficulties of Europe, "where war is in the air." The California senator commended "the gentleman in the White House" for his interest in people.

Views Court as Menace.

"I'm also interested in people," Senator Johnson added, "but I can't betray our people by taking them into a court dominated by dictators and concerned only with the interests of tyrannies."

Senator Johnson repeated the oft-cited belief of world court opponents, that adherence would force America into the league of nations "as inevitably as the night that follows the day." He quoted Aristide Briand as saying "A beau geste, the first step," and Austen Chamberlain as admonishing a diplomatic caution when the senate gave its adherence in 1926. The reservations imposed by the senate at that time were not accepted by the other signatories.

"The propaganda we've had in the last few years for adherence to the court will be increased one hundred fold for joining the league," Senator Johnson declared. "If there's anything in the world the American people have definitly decided it's that they are against the league of nations. In 1919 and 1920, when we campaigned from state to state to combat the league propaganda, the common people learned what that organization meant and rejected it. They would do the same thing now if they had this world court explained to them."

Makes Further Attack.

Senator Johnson also assailed the modification of the original senate reservations to adherence, particularly the elimination of the right of the senate to determine which controversies would be submitted to the court for adjudication.

The reservations in the resolution adopted by the foreign relations committe provide that the court shall not, over the objection of the United States, entertain any request for an advisory opinion on questions in which the United States asserts an interest. This is the provision which President Roosevelt and Majority Leader Robinson believe will safeguard the sovereignty of the United States.

"But who is determine the questions to be submitted?" Senator Johnson demanded. "This amounts to taking away from the senate its power of making treaties. When you repose in our state department, filled as it is with internationalists, where do you think you'll land? The whole fabric of freedom from foreign entanglements built up since we've been a nation tumbles to the ground.

"The senate is the bulwark of American liberties. It is the last free forum on the face of the earth."

The senator objected to the designation of the court as a "judicial tribunal." He quoted newspapers throughout the country, many of them friendly to the court, holding that the decision on the Austro-German customs union was strictly political, with the judges voting "like ordinary politicians for the boys back home."

Senator Johnson replied to Senator Robinson's argument that the United States would be a "sponger" to avail itself of the opportunity to consult the court without contributing to its upkeep. Speaking of the war debt repudiators, he asked whether we wanted the "spongers on Uncle Sam to sit in judgment over us."

Woman Awarded $10,000 in Suit Against Cab Co.

A jury in the court of Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday awarded $10,000 to Mrs. Mary Dobjack, 40 years old, 2248 Blue Island avenue, in her suit against the Chicago Cab company for injuries she received in 1931 when she was beaten and robbed by the driver of a cab in which she was riding. Frank Sadivey, the cab driver, was convicted in state court and is serving a one to twenty year term in Joliet prison. The suit for damages was filed in federal court because the Chicago Cab company, which ceased operation here in 1932, is not an Illinois corporation.

To End Stubborn Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

REDISTRICTING OF STATE RECEIVES O. K. OF SENATE

Congressional Reapportionment Up to House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Efforts to obtain congressional reapportionment in Illinois by July 1 were given impetus today when the senate passed a joint resolution for the appointment of a committee of five members from each chamber to propose a redivision of the 25 districts.

By this action the senate gave an early start to the redistricting program favored by Gov. Horner to eliminate gross inequalities in Illinois' representation in congress. The resolution now goes to the house, and if it is adopted as quickly there, the work of drawing new boundary lines can be under way before the session is very old.

Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago], who introduced the resolution, also has submitted one providing for a similar committee to draw a new apportionment of the state into senatorial districts. He is expected shortly to follow this with a request for a change in the districts from which the state Supreme court justices are elected.

Two Oppose Proposal.

Only two Democrats were in opposition to the governor's wishes for congressional remapping, and their votes were the only ones cast against the Ward resolution. The vote was 38 to 2.

With reapportionment out of the way temporarily, the senate received six bills affecting matrimony, gun toting, the parole board, and the Illinois commerce commission.

On marriages Senator Richey V. Graham [Dem., Cicero] introduced a bill to ban "gin" weddings, so many of which have rebounded into the Cook county divorce courts. The measure requires an application and notice of intent to marry to be filed with the county clerk for three days before a license may be issued.

Senator W. H. Hickman [Dem., Paris] introduced a bill abolishing the state board of pardons and paroles, but retaining the supervisor of paroles. Under a companion bill the Circuit and county courts in which convictions were obtained would handle matters of parole and commutation. The senator said a saving of $500,000 would result to the taxpayers.

School Bill Signed.

During the day Gov. Horner signed the "pegged" levy bill of the Chicago Board of Education, fixing the 1935 educational levy to produce $43,000,000 and the building fund levy to bring in $4,000,000. The bill carried an emergency clause and is effective immediately, permitting the board to proceed with adoption of its budget for the current year.

PROFESSOR GETS DEATH THREAT TO END USE OF DOGS

Police of the South Chicago station were investigating yesterday the receipt by Prof. Andrew C. Ivy of the physiology department of Northwestern university of two letters threatening his life.

The letters, written in ink, apparently in women's handwriting, were received several days ago. They threatened Dr. Ivy with physical harm unless he desisted from using dogs in his medical research work.

Dr. Ivy declined to discuss the letters, which were referred to Capt. John Egan of the South Chicago police station. Dr. Ivy's home at 8158 Merrill avenue, to which the letters were sent, is in that district. Capt. Egan declared his belief that the notes were the work of cranks, but said he would endeavor to locate the senders.

RETURN 2 YOUTHS TO BE TRIED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Frank Kelly, 19 years old, and Russell Faragoni, 20 years old, both of 8311 Ingleside avenue, were returned to East Moline yesterday to be tried for the murder in the case of Mrs. Veronica De Caestecker, who died last October, a week after being slugged in an attempted robbery of her tavern. William Alexander, 19 years old, 7734 Drexel avenue, who escaped Friday after he was shot when police attempted to arrest him in his home, has been named by the others as having been their companion.

Likes to Watch Fires, So Starts One; 1 to 10 Years

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Harold Enfield, 30, of this city pleaded guilty today to an indictment charging arson, and Judge Leonard E. Telleen sentenced him to 1 to 10 years. Enfield said he liked to watch fires, and when accidents failed to provide one, he set fire to the building of the former Victor Storage Battery company here. The loss was $10,000.

ASSEMBLY WAITS ROOSEVELT WORD ON RELIEF LAWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The Illinois legislature is marking time until the Roosevelt administration decides what sort of social legislation it wants congress to enact. Gov. Horner and Democratic leaders in both houses have eager ears cocked toward Washington waiting for some guide or suggestion. Once it comes, the hoppers will be filled quickly with bills.

Both houses completed the second week of the 59th general assembly today after only two days' work, and the work was confined to introducing bills and gossiping.

Unemployment insurance, old age pensions, coöperation with the federal government on PWA projects and a permanent relief program are some of the subjects which will arouse considerable attention in the legislature when the President makes known his wishes. That the Horner state administration will hasten to present bills embodying Mr. Roosevelt's ideas is not doubted.

An unemployment insurance measure was introduced in the house today by George A. Fitzgerald [Dem., Chicago], who will be renamed chairman of the insurance committee, it is believed.

UPTON HANDS IN HIS RESIGNATION AS CITY SEALER

City Sealer Edward J. Upton last night announced that he has given his resignation to Mayor Kelly and that it will be accepted by the city council within the next two weeks. James O'Keefe, 4245 Madison street, an undertaker and former west parks commissioner, is to be appointed to the position.

"I offered my resignation because I am planning to become a candidate for alderman from the 30th ward," Mr. Upton said.

He became city sealer in September, 1933.

DRYDEN HEARING IN "GIRL AND TUB" CASE CONTINUED

The hearing on charges of assault and battery against George Eastman Dryden, grandnephew of George Eastman, the camera manufacturer, for dipping a night club hostess into a tub of hot water, was continued yesterday until Jan. 30 when Dryden appeared in Municipal Judge John E. Gorman's South State street court.

Continuance was granted by Judge Leon Edelman, who took over the court docket in the absence of Judge Gorman. Dryden was present, but neither of his accusers, Miss Vera Read and her sister, Hazel, appeared in court.

The alleged dousing occurred in Dryden's apartment at 815 Rush street, where the sisters, both hostesses at the Club Alabam, 747 North Rush street, said they had gone at Dryden's invitation. The girls charge that Dryden dipped Vera into scalding water and hit Hazel when she tried to interfere. Dryden says he and Hazel were trying to sober Vera.

Dryden was represented yesterday by Attorney William B. Gemmill, and the Read sisters by David Brandower. William Abbott, 747 North Wabash avenue, who also was at the party, appeared with Dryden.

MOUNTING STATE RELIEF EXPENSE BARED IN REPORT

Pay Roll and Other Costs Increase.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief commission has nearly 10,000 employés on its monthly pay roll of more than $800,000, the Associated Press learned today.

Meanwhile, in the legislature Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, Downers Grove Republican, introduced a house resolution calling upon the relief commission to issue a complete statement of its costs and expenses, including the names and salaries of employés.

Data on the emergency relief commissions expenses was obtained by the Associated Press from Senator Louis O. Williams of Clinton, chairman of a legislative investigating group.

Gives Out Financial Statement.

Williams, whose committee has not made its report to the general assembly, made public a financial statement furnished by the IERC, which was given a $9,000,000 appropriation from surplus funds in the treasury late yesterday.

For November, the last month for which figures were available, the statement showed the relief commission had 9,901 employés receiving a monthly salary of $878,495.38.

Salaries and other expenses have increased regularly in virtually all counties, it was revealed, the number of downstate employés increasing from 1,280 to 2,929 from January to November last year.

The downstate pay roll jumped from $88,930.60 to $227,098.57 during that period.

There was a similar increase in Cook county, where the relief commission had 5,991 employés at a monthly salary of $545,380.53 in November. There were 289 other employés in federal transient work and 692 in the IERC administrative office.

Spends 211 Millions.

Since the commission started its work on Feb. 6, 1932, it spent $210,903,111.98 in the 34 months ending last Nov. 30, with 7.89 per cent of the total going to salaries and 2.04 per cent to expenses.

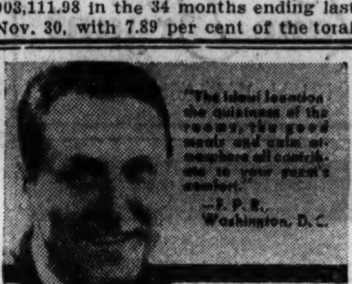
For the 34 months the commission itemized its income as follows: $20,000,000 state bond issue, $19,266,899.09; retail sales tax, $17,240,350.41; $30,000,000 bond issue, $28,750,086.67; Reconstruction Finance corporation loans, $43,191,721; RFC loans to Cook county, $12,252,000; federal emergency relief grants, $93,527,688.

The total expenditures included: Direct relief, $154,029,726.19, or 73.03 per cent, and work relief, $35,938,479.99, or 17.04 per cent.

Out of the $154,791,108.61 spent in Cook county, 8.06 per cent went to salaries and 1.72 per cent to expenses. For downstate counties the total was $50,907,359.21, with 6.2 per cent for salaries and 1.83 for expenses. These figures did not include "undistributed administrative costs" totaling $1,290,480.57 and "special accounts" aggregating $3,914,163.59.

Teller Plunges to Death from Nebraska Capitol

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Dan H. Hellweg, a teller at the First National bank here, today either jumped or fell from the fourteenth floor of the state capitol tower and was killed. He had been ill for several days with sinus trouble. Hellweg's accounts were in good condition, officials said.



"The ideal location, the quietness of the rooms, the good meals and calm atmosphere all contribute to your guest's comfort." —J. P. R., Washington, D. C.

TWO ARE HELD FOR INQUIRY ON BEDROOM BOMB

State's attorney's investigators held Michael Bierut, 2124 Cortez street, and Anthony Mrozek, 3149 Chicago avenue, last evening for questioning about a bomb exploded in Bierut's flat early in the day. A third man, Harry Strom, ex-convict now at liberty on $10,000 bond while appealing a conviction for assault with intent to kill, was sought.

The blast occurred in the bedroom usually occupied by Bireut and his wife, Amelia. Bierut was not at home and Mrs. Bierut had left the bed on which the bomb was thrown only five minutes before the explosion. When police arrived at the home they were told by Mrs. Bierut that she believed her husband had attempted to kill her. Bierut, appearing a few minutes later, was arrested.

He denied his wife's charges and asserted that Strom, whom he had warned to stay away from his daughter, Bernice, was the bomber. Shortly after questioning Bierut the investigators arrested Mrozek, a friend of Strom, in whose pockets were found advertisements from a novelty company which manufactures harmless bombs to be set off in an automobile by the starter.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
This is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation.
Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative, safe and pleasant.
No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.
If you have a "dark brown mouth" —bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache caused by constipation —you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

WORKERS' HEALTH LAW IS HELD VOID IN $50,000 SUIT

Court Rules Out Part of State Statute.

The section of the state occupational diseases act which provides that employers must adopt protective and preventive measures against illness to which their employés may be subject in the course of their work, was held unconstitutional by Judge John W. Preihs of Pana, Ill., sitting in the Cook county Superior court.

Judge Preihs ruled that the section of the act was invalid because it deprives employers of their property without due process of law and is couched "in terms vague, indefinite, and uncertain, in providing no information to employers as to the work or processes of employment that are within its provisions."

Law in Effect Since 1911.

The act has been in effect since 1911, but this is the first time the section has been attacked, Judge Preihs said.

The decision was given in a suit for $50,000 damages brought by Miss Gertrude Boshuizen, 20 years old, 10434 South Sangamon street, against the Thompsen & Taylor company, jobbers in tea, coffee, and spices, at 536 West Cermak road.

Miss Boshuizen alleged that she had incurred an illness from dust while employed by the company in March, 1933. Her suit charged that the company had not provided suitable means for the prevention of occupational disease.

Defense of the Company.

The company made the defense that the section of the act was unconstitutional. Judge Preihs' decision, which dismisses the suit, will be appealed to the Illinois Supreme court by Attorney James Coonce, representing Miss Boshuizen.

The second section of the act, which specifically provides that manufacturers of lead products and derivatives must safeguard their employés, was not at issue in the case.

FIVE GAMBLING MACHINES TAKEN IN 3 LOOP RAIDS

Police opened a new campaign against gambling machines yesterday by raiding three loop places, seizing five machines, and arresting three men.

Those arrested are Sam Garfinkle, 3708 Douglas boulevard, seized at 200 West Jackson boulevard; Max Goldberg, 1821 South Springfield avenue, arrested in Max's grill, 183 North Wells street, and Edward Burns, 1926 West 17th street, seized in the Potthast tavern, 4 West Van Buren street. All will be arraigned in the South State street court today.

Sergeants William Burns and Martin Mullen Jr., who led the raids, said the campaign is directed only against machines which pay off in money or tokens redeemable for money. The police are not molesting proprietors of places which have pin games that purport to be mere games of skill, they said.

Ira L. Couch Jr., Broker, Is Sued for $100,000

Ira L. Couch Jr., broker, society man, and amateur golfer, was sued for $100,000 in the Superior court yesterday by two victims of an automobile accident in which Couch's car figured last Sept. 22. The complainants, who seek $50,000 each, are Thomas McGovern, 33 years old, 230 East Superior street, and Adam Rippel, 30, of 1812 Larrabee street, both Yellow taxicab drivers. They charged that they were severely injured when the Couch automobile careened over the curb and struck them as they stood talking at Superior and Rush streets.

Beauty Asks Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

William H. Melvin, 33 years old, 1400 Lake Shore drive, a stock broker was sued for divorce in Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Laurette Mullen Melvin, 31 years old, 4920 Quincy street, who was "Miss Cook County" of 1921.

In her bill, drawn by Attorney Harry X. Cole, Mrs. Melvin says she was married last Nov. 15. Melvin, she says, sent her away alone on a honeymoon trip to Hot Springs, Ark., and he went on his honeymoon trip, also alone. His promise of a furnished apartment for her never materialized, she said. She charged that her husband struck her the day before he left on his trip.

Invoking an old law at Attorney Cole's request, Judge Desort issued an order tying up Melvin's accounts in four Chicago banks. The law provides that if a man leaves the state to evade service of a court action his property may be sequestered.

NOW U. S. CAN BUY PARTS TO PUT FORD FLEETS INTO SHAPE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The government can now repair its fleets of Ford cars for the first time since Henry Ford defied Gen. Hugh S. Johnson and the NRA Blue Eagle.

Until today the purchase of Fords and Ford parts by government departments has been forbidden because the Ford company never signed the automobile code. Today, however, Sol Rosenblatt, NRA compliance director, gave government departments the right to buy Ford repair parts regardless of code compliance.

Fords with various ills, ranging from worn out gaskets to burned out bearings, have had to await treatment until this piece of red tape was cut today, a year and a half after the first Ford-Johnson fight.

U. S. S. R. ALMOST STIRS INQUIRY AT WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—An undercover "revolt" against the hiring of "Red" waiters led senate restaurant officials today to order a change in costume for these employés.

The waiters appeared yesterday with large red letters—"USSR"—on the collars of their white coats and some immediately commented that the initials were those of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

Senators and capitol employés protested loudly today to Harvey King, manager: "What's the matter, has the capitol turned 'Red'?"

King explained the initialing was to distinguish senate coats from house coats, but he said today:

"There's been too much comment. There's going to be a change. We'll probably knock off all the initials or just keep the S. R., meaning senate restaurant and not soviet republics."

Wins Divorce from Wife Jailed with "Other Man"

Donald L. Ansley, 45 years old, 2305 Calumet avenue, was granted a divorce by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday after testifying that his wife Anita and a male companion are now serving jail sentences in Pittsburgh for larceny.

G. O. P. HAS FAINT MAYORAL HOPES; DEADLINE TODAY

Party Lacks Single Real Contender Against Kelly.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Five o'clock today is the deadline for the filing of mayoral nomination petitions. The Democrats aren't even paying any attention to it since they do not expect any one of consequence to file against Mayor Kelly, but the Republicans still are hoping for the appearance of some angel who, with the flapping purse strings, will at least save face for them.

As the next to the last day passed yesterday, leaders of all faiths began to speak of the Republican nomination contest as it now stands as something of a farce. Because entries to date consist of those they consider lightweights politically, they spoke of the race as a battle for the lightweight championship.

Only Goldberg in Lists.

The only Republican petition that is understood to be slated definitly for filing today is that of Sol G. Goldberg, who is said to be glad to be known as the "hairpin king." Former Ald. Arthur F. Albert so far has refused to consent to the filing in his name of a petition emanating from Lundin sources.

Unless some angel does appear the Republicans apparently will face a choice on Feb. 26 among Emil C. Wetten, once a first assistant corporation counsel; Mrs. John Wesley Gray, who, so far as can be learned, has no organization support, and Goldberg.

Under these conditions the Republican chiefs are inclined to consider entering a candidate of their own as an independent after the primaries, a strong man to make the face for the election of April 2. Even with little apparent chance to win on this program they have begun to feel the situation of their party is so desperate that they must put up a fight for the election rather than let it go to Mayor Kelly by what would amount to default.

Fixing Things for Kelly.

If such a program were adopted, neutral observers believe, it could only swell the size of Mayor Kelly's victory. Newton Jenkins, who now claims proprietary rights in the expression "third party" which has been common property for many years, has indicated he will run as an independent.

With a regular Republican nominee such as Wetten, an independent like Jenkins and a third independent backed by Republican leaders, all running in the race against him and splitting what opposition vote there may be, it is said that Mayor Kelly would not need to stir out of his office to make a campaign.

James Fred Robertson, 1609 West 64th street, filed as a Democratic candidate for mayor yesterday, and Otto M. Webb, 3552 Dickens street, filed as a candidate for the Republican nomination for city clerk. Both are politically unknown.

GEN. JOHNSON SAYS HE'S STILL WORKING FOR ROOSEVELT AIMS

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson declared tonight he intends to "put everything I have on the ball for what Franklin D. Roosevelt stands for." He said:

"I'm not going to take any job. I'm going to set aside another year to do just what I have been doing steadily for the last two and one-half years—put everything I have on the ball for what Franklin D. Roosevelt stands for.

"I can do it better out of government than in, because I don't have to walk any official tight-rope. I couldn't do it at all on any industrial pay roll.

"I don't know what the particular administration plans are. I speak for myself alone."

MISSING TELLER'S UNCLE RESTORES $11,890 TO BANK

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Theft of $35,000 from a branch of the Manufacturers Trust company New Year's eve was disclosed today with the return in an unusual manner of $11,890 in bills, apparently part of the bank loot.

At the same time today police revealed that an alarm has been broadcast for Jack Irving Davis, a teller, who disappeared shortly before the theft was discovered.

A check of his books showed the shortage of $35,000, according to the police.

Last Sunday Davis, accompanied by two other young men, walked into the home of Davis' uncle, Dr. Benjamin Davis, an optometrist, at Liberty, N. Y.

Davis, according to Dr. Davis, threw a package down and said: "I'm in trouble, uncle, keep this money for me," and darted away.

Dr. Davis drove to New York and turned in the money.

Surplus Discussed at the White House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt is engaged with administration financial, agricultural, and statecraft experts in exploring possibility of international action to control major crop surpluses. That was learned at the White House today.

While international control of all major crops is being studied, it was reported the cotton surplus is the particular problem under consideration. Discussions have not yet reached a point at which overtures have been made to foreign governments, but experts are believed to have perfected proposals.

Seek World Cotton Pact.

The problem is said to involve means of obtaining a fair price in the world market for all cotton growers through international agreement. To this end stabilization of prices would be the prime objective of proposed agreement, it was said.

At the White House the problem was compared to that affecting the wheat growing nations. It was recalled that a year and a half ago the administration started work on international agreements on that major crop under which the wheat surplus would be controled from year to year to stabilize prices.

The administration has expressed itself as feeling that fair progress was made on wheat and that on the whole international control seems to be a logical program for major crops.

Conferences on international cotton agreement were held yesterday by President Roosevelt with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Oscar Johnson, head of the AAA cotton pool, and George Peek, head of the Export-Import bank.

Discuss Holding Companies.

Chairman Sam Rayburn of the house interstate commerce committee conferred with the President during the day. He discussed his plan to introduce a bill for the regulation of utility holding companies, which may also include holding companies other than those in the utility field.

"Personally," Representative Rayburn said, "I am in favor of laying down a policy under which holding companies will disappear altogether."

At his semi-weekly press conference the President expressed himself as favoring any bill to put teeth into the food and drug act and correct present abuses. His expression was occasioned when he received information that Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] had introduced a related bill. The President had not seen the Copeland bill.

DAUGHTER'S DOGS DROWN VOICE OF MRS. ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—The White House dog troubles continue.

Mrs. Roosevelt's voice at her press conference was entirely drowned out by the barking of two setters, Jack and Jill, the property of her daughter, Mrs. Anna Dall.

Mrs. Roosevelt rose in the midst of a statement denying rumors of a tiff with Secretary Ickes to go out into the hall and call:

"Dogs, will you please go away?"

The two dogs obliged Mrs. Roosevelt, and ceased.

The White House has had to get rid of a couple of other dogs in the past because of their propensity for nipping guests. Senator Caraway [Dem., Ark.] was one of the victims.

Rebuilt Stockyards "L" Loop Resumes Service

After an interruption of nine months, full service on the stockyards loop of the elevated line was restored yesterday. The first train over the loop, reconstructed after the big fire last May, left Indiana avenue at 5:16 a. m., inaugurating a schedule of 166 trains a day. A special inspection train, carrying officials of the Chicago Rapid Transit company and their guests, made a circuit of the rebuilt loop later in the day.

SO, THE O'CONNELLS PLAN FOR WEDDING IN NEW ROCHELLE

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—On Saturday morning Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Connell will be married to Frederick Charles O'Connell in a New Rochelle church. They reside in New Rochelle and so do their parents.

At the wedding Mr. O'Connell will give Miss O'Connell in marriage to Mr. O'Connell. Mr. O'Connell will be Mr. O'Connell's best man, yet Mr. O'Connell will be one of Mr. O'Connell's ushers.

This explains it. Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Connell of Howard parkway, New Rochelle, will be married in Holy Family church, New Rochelle, to Mr. O'Connell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Edmonds O'Connell, also of New Rochelle. Miss O'Connell's father will give his daughter away. The bridegroom will have his brother, Walter O'Connell, as best man. The bride's brother, Thomas J. O'Connell Jr., will be one of the ushers.

"FRANCIS DRAKE ESTATE AGENT" ENTERS A PRISON

Leavenworth, Kas., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Federal prison doors closed today behind Oscar M. Hartzell, former Iowa farmer. He was convicted of swindling Americans out of more than $700,000 in promoting a claim to the fictitious estate of Sir Francis Drake. He got a 10 year term.

"I won't be in there long," he told Steve Cusack, a guard. "I've got lots of friends working for me to get a presidential pardon."

Once a victim himself of Drake estate racketeers, Hartzell went to London and, government prosecutors charged, duped American investors out of $700,000 to $1,300,000 in thirteen years.

Former Club Steward Dies; Sister Asks Investigation

John Saracino, 49 years old, 4011 Jackson boulevard, former steward for the Medinah club, who fired on policemen when they arrested him two weeks ago, died yesterday at the Mother Cabrini hospital, but the exact cause of his death was not officially determined last night. Police said he died of self inflicted injuries. His sister, Miss Anna Saracino, is demanding an investigation, claiming the injuries, which included a fractured skull, could not have been self inflicted. Saracino was arrested on complaint of E. H. Guilfoyle, manager of the Medinah club, that Saracino had threatened him.

SHARP TO BE U. S. WITNESS IN OWN TRIAL

Ralph J. Sharp, former assistant state's attorney, will be the first government witness this morning to testify against Matt Finnerty of Green Bay, Wis., charged with conspiracy and with possession of bonds stolen from a registered mail pouch in the Chicago and North Western railway station at Neenah, Wis., last Aug. 14.

Sharp and Finnerty went on trial before a jury yesterday in the court of Federal Judge John P. Barnes. Both pleaded not guilty. Assistant United States Attorney Edward A. Fisher announced that Sharp would testify as a government witness and would name Finnerty as the man who gave him three stolen $1,000 bonds.

Sharp was arrested in a North Clark street saloon with the bonds.

CHICAGO SUBURB ATTORNEYS LOSE U. S. TAX APPEAL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Attorneys Melvin L. Griffith and George M. Stevens of the Chicago law firm of Winters, Stevens, Risk & Griffith, today lost their cases before the United States board of tax appeals. The board upheld deficiency levies brought against the attorneys by the commissioner of internal revenue.

Griffith had claimed $2,381 received by him in 1926 and $5,612 in 1927 for services as village attorney of Homewood were not subject to taxation because the compensation was received in exercise of an essential governmental function. Stevens made the same defense against a deficiency levy against $7,119 received as village attorney of La Grange in 1926.

The board held that as the fees were paid the attorney on a per diem basis in connection with special assessment work and were in no sense salaries, the attorneys were not entitled to claim exemption.

NAME HOSPITALS HERE TO RECEIVE PARALYSIS FUNDS

The Chicago hospitals to share in the infantile paralysis funds to be raised at President Roosevelt's birthday party on Jan. 30, were named yesterday at a meeting in the local committee headquarters in the Sherman hotel.

The hospitals are Presbyterian, Michael Reese, St. Luke's, Wesley Memorial, Mercy, Children's Memorial, Martha Washington, Home for Dependent Crippled Children, Spalding School for Crippled Children, Home for Destitute Crippled Children, and the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children.

The selections for the Chicago recipients of the fund were made by Dr. Karl Meyer, Miss Ada Belle McCleery, Dr. F. Gabriel, Dr. Frederick B. Moorehead, Will H. Wade, and Charles A. Wordell, heads and superintendents of various hospitals.

Chevrolets for 1935

and a complete line of 1935 trucks

AT THE ARMORY, THURSDAY, JAN. 17th, TO SUNDAY, JAN. 20th, INCL.

(16th and Michigan Ave.)

CHICAGO will be one of the first cities in the country to view the two marvelous new lines of Chevrolets for 1935. For Chevrolet has arranged a special pre-showing of the New Standard Chevrolet and the new Master De Luxe Chevrolet models, as well as a complete line of 1935 trucks, to be held at the Armory, 16th and Michigan Avenue, Thursday, January 17th, to Sunday, January 20th, inclusive.

Be sure to attend this big pre-showing of the 1935 Chevrolets. You will be well rewarded for the time that you spend in examining them.

You will see the newest and finest creations of the world's largest builder of motor vehicles . . . two new Chevrolets featuring two distinct body types of alluring Fisher beauty . . . two new Chevrolets that give the finest combination of performance and operating economy ever engineered into a Chevrolet product . . . two new Chevrolets, in the two lowest price ranges, that provide value far surpassing all previous Chevrolet values.

See these cars . . . consider their prices, operating economy and performance . . . and we believe you will agree that it is wiser now than ever before to choose Chevrolet for quality at low cost.

Remember the time—Thursday at 2:30 p.m. and Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week from 12:00 noon to 11:00 p.m. And the place—the Armory, 16th and Michigan Avenue.

COINAGE AND CONTRACTS.

Anxious citizens who have been wondering what the Supreme court will have to say about gold, coinage rights and the impairment of contract will find considerable interesting speculation in former decisions of the same court on the same subject. In past emergencies the court has been of two minds and its study of the powers and obligations of government has left a complicated record of judicial findings.

Chief Justice Chase was confronted in 1869 with a judicial perplexity which he resolved in Spartan fashion against himself. He had been secretary of the treasury when the civil war greenbacks were issued. As chief justice he met the question of their legality as tender to satisfy obligations calling for specie, and as jurist he said his treasury notes would not do. Before that there had been a Supreme court decision holding that the greenbacks were not legal tender in settlement of contracts specifically calling for payment of specie.

Chase's case came up to him through the effort of a Mrs. Hepburn to meet a defaulted note for some $11,000 and settle a lawsuit by paying in 1864 in the notes which congress had issued to meet the war expenditure. In the first issues these bills had been convertible into U. S. bonds and were as sound as the bonds were. But in 1863 this convertibility was dropped and the issues were without backing other than the good faith and solvency of the United States. Their value fluctuated violently following military vicissitudes and election returns. Chase, supported by three justices in a court of seven, struck a note of contrition and left this comment as a reflection upon the tribulations of government: "Amid the tumult of civil war the time was not favorable to considerate reflection upon the constitutional limits of legislation."

There have been subsequent tumults not favorable to considerate reflection, as we of posterity have had occasion to observe. Chase further commented that emergency had stifled doubts, and even where the doubts had persisted men had held their tongues. With the emergency resolved, the country could return to the keeping of good faith. Issues of so-called legal tender were not legal tender. As is well known, the issue did not rest there. A vacancy in the court was filled and an added new judge appointed. Another case was hurried in for determination, whereupon, Chief Justice Chase being reversed, a new setup of governmental philosophy and dicta emerged, among which was the declaration that the non-enumerated powers of the federal government included the power of self-preservation.

In this decision of 1871 [Knox vs. Lee] it was held, "Every contract for the payment of money simply is necessarily subject to the constitutional power of the government over the currency, whatever that power may be, and the obligation of the parties is therefore assumed with reference to that power."

Government, it was held, did have the power to impair contracts and had done so specifically when congress passed bankrupt laws, as when it declared war and when it placed embargoes on trade. A critic might object that the object of a bankruptcy law was not to impair a contract but to seek its satisfaction within the power of the obligated person to meet the terms of his contract, but the court concluded that a state of bankruptcy involved an impairment. It was not an endurable theory of sovereignty that the powers of government were always restricted by obligations which had been incurred. The right of self-preservation transcended these obligations, and with regard to money and coinage prerogative was above all such restrictions. People made certain contracts subject to some risks and to unstated conditions.

"What we do assert is that congress has power to enact that the government's promises to pay money shall be, for the time being, equivalent in value to the representations of value determined by the coinage acts or to multiples thereof." If congress said it was legal tender, it was legal tender and it satisfied obligations.

The Supreme court has in its own records a variety of conflicting opinions, as indicated by the above. It is still possible that some new ground may be broken in defining the relation of the sanctity of contract to the sovereignty of government.

CHICAGO INVITES THE ARMY AND NAVY.

Nine years ago this coming fall Chicago persuaded the army and navy authorities to permit the playing of the West Point-Annapolis football game here at Soldiers' field. The request for the game had tough going at first. Every tradition in the two services seemed to be against it. The eastern seaboard had acquired a proprietary right in the game and the effort to prevail over objections had to be one of moving a mountain from its base.

Chicago offered to bring out both schools and see that they suffered no money loss and finally succeeded. What for its time was the largest football crowd on record attended. The young men thoroughly enjoyed their trip and the people of this region showed their keen interest in the two schools of which they see so little.

A request for the game this fall is made by the Illinois delegation in congress. The success of the first invitation is a guarantee of the second. A smaller city might hesitate to assume the responsibility. It is not a small order, but Chicago has the habit. It has the facilities, the experience and the willing customers. What was said nine years ago can be repeated now with equally good reason. It is profitable for the academies to show themselves in the midwest occasionally.

Such a visit is not a freak. It isn't a circus stunt. It is good policy for the army and navy. The academies are not parochial institutions. A visit to the interior once in nine or ten years is well within reason.

THE SAAR PLEBISCITE.

As a foregone conclusion the vote in the Saar does not tempt comment and yet it deserves some reflection among the many individuals, especially prominent unfortunately in the United States, whose amiable zeal for international accord and ingenuous faith in every legal device proposed for procuring and maintaining world peace are little troubled by consideration of the human characteristics which complicate the problem. The Saar vote ought to remind them, but probably will not, that the sentiment of race or nationalism is omnipresent and almost omnipotent in international affairs, and any project, however reasonable and beneficent it may seem to the altruistic theorist, which fails to take account of it as a principal factor in any scheme of international accommodation will disappoint or utterly fail. Except for a very small and, in Europe, ineffectual minority the sentiment of internationalism has little appeal and experiments based upon it, in spite of the lip service statesmen apparently find it expedient to pay to them, have no more chance of standing up against the deep and powerful sentiment of nationalism than a sapling has in a hurricane.

Nationalism is in very bad odor nowadays with our intelligentsia, and from its outrageous excesses is drawn the theory that when we have abolished it the lion and the lamb will lie down together and the golden age of universal peace will dawn. The theory ignores or at least, we think, greatly underestimates the contributions nationalism has made to civilized order, to domestic security and strength, to the cultural enrichment of humanity. Like every other human phenomenon nationalism has the faults of its virtues, but even in the field of irresponsible theorizing and on the plane of pure idealism it is by no means clear that the former outweigh the latter. But in thinking that regards experience more cautiously than the idealist is likely to do, this accounting seems an academic exercise without much, if any, practical importance. Whether or not the sentiment of nationalism ought to be removed from human affairs a survey of the world offers no prospect of its removal or any substantial evidence that it is diminishing as an influence in human affairs, notwithstanding the excesses it has committed in our own time. On the contrary, in vast regions of the world, among the most numerous of its peoples, nationalism is the dominant passion and aspiration. There is nothing among the assumptions supporting the optimism of our internationalists more unregardful of realities than the notion that nationalism is mainly a contrivance of statesmen or of the sinister special interests that are supposed to control them.

In truth, when it is observed how the sentiment of nationalism overrides plain and weighty considerations of economic advantage, or ignores the threat of war, even among people who still wear the bleeding wounds of recent conflict, we ought to realize that it expresses profound and precious values which mankind shows no willingness to surrender. Both primitive and civilized man cherish them and will pay any price for their defense. Grandiose schemes for international accord and even more moderate and practical schemes underestimate not only the force of this sentiment but also its value and validity. It is this failure that defeats them.

Editorial of the Day

THE HIGH COURT INTERVENES.

[Kansas City Star.]

By consenting for the second time to review the findings of the Alabama state courts in the so-called Scottsboro case the United States Supreme court should relieve the minds of those persons who have feared that another injustice might have been done to the two Negro defendants in connection with the retrial of their case. It is not necessary to entertain an opinion as to the innocence or guilt of any of the seven Negroes originally convicted of criminal assault and sentenced to death at Scottsboro, Ala., to be glad that the federal court again has assumed jurisdiction and will pass upon the fairness of the trials at Decatur in the same state, to which the case was taken on a change of venue.

The original trials were held under conditions that reflected a high degree of racial prejudice. The Supreme court of Alabama, however, confirmed the convictions and the defendants were saved only by the United States Supreme court, which declared that they had not had a fair hearing and ordered a general retrial of the case. By this time the issue of justice had been clouded by the injection of communist propaganda on one side and local resentment at outside interference, as well as racial prejudice, on the other. One defendant, Heywood Patterson, was retried under much better circumstances and again convicted, but the judge set aside the verdict on the ground that it was contrary to the weight of the evidence.

Patterson and a second defendant then were tried before a different judge and were convicted and sentenced to death, in spite of the fact that one of the principal witnesses in their first hearing completely reversed her testimony. But when appeal was taken to the federal high court the trials of the other five Negroes were postponed. Like so many other celebrated cases in history, the Scottsboro case now has become complicated by evidence of perjured testimony and prejudice. Fortunately in the United States Supreme court this country has a tribunal which can function in such cases to dispel doubt and insure justice. Its intervention here should be generally welcomed.

MAYBE TOMORROW YESTERDAY.

"I am that!"

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

"WHAT," whatted the Inquiring Reporter of a portly gentleman in an ermine and eider down overcoat who was about to step into his thirty-six cylinder imported car, "will be the effect in your case of cream going up to 14 cents a pint and milk to 11 cents a quart?"

"It will force me," replied the portly gent, "to practice an even greater degree of Spartan simplicity. It makes me look forward to a life of pioneer austerity. I shall be forced to deprive myself of something I have always regarded as one of the necessities of life—the delectable eggnog. But the pinch of poverty is felt by all of us—every one; we are all in the same boat, we cannot complain."

"Then," inquired the Inquiring Reporter, "you will be obliged to drink milk punch, milk being much cheaper than cream?"

"As things are going," said the portly person, flicking the ashes from his 75 cent cigar, "I shall probably come to that ere long. But for the present I will cut out eggnogs and reduce myself to New Orleans gin fizzes."

"But they're made of cream, too," said the Inquiring Reporter, who had read that in the bartenders' manual.

"Ah, yes," said the portly gent, "but whereas it takes a half pint of rich cream to make an eggnog for one, my butler tells me it takes but three tablespoonfuls of cream to make one New Orleans fizz. A great saving, my boy, a great saving. And in these days we must skimp and save and make every sacrifice, no matter how dreadful."

And the portly gentleman stepped into his great shining chariot, said "Home, Meadows!" and was gone. And the Inquiring Reporter, smacking his lips every time he thought of eggnog and even of New Orleans fizzes, went around the corner and bought himself a glass of beer.

THE AGED.

Scarcely in this quiet
Where song is seldom heard
Shall one recall the soaring
And singing of a bird;

All but forgotten
Beneath these wingless skies
Are birds that once flew over
As any bird flies.

DOROTHY KISSLING.

STRAVINSKY is now in our midst, and while I haven't been to one of his concerts yet I know from what enraptured bystanders tell me just how to behave when I do go. I have to wear an enraptured look just as though I knew what it was all about, and at the end of each number on the program I have to gasp "Marvelous," "Divine," or "Madly enchanting"! I'm going to be different. I'm going to throw my hat on the floor and jump up and stamp on it, bite three holes out of the top on the seat in front of me and yell, "Say, kiddo, swell! simply swell!" By heck, when it comes to gushing I can be so good that everybody thinks I'm a geyser escaped from Yellowstone Park.

AND WHEN STRAVINSKY, who is very, very modern, plays his "Le Vieux et le Lièvre," well, I'm going to make a fool of myself, that's all. Because the program says that this composition is "a cryptic little study of antithesis, concerning an old man who cooks soup without fire, who urges the lame to walk, and the dumb to speak more softly." The rest of the impassioned listeners can gasp "Ah," and "Oh's," and "Gorgeous, Simply Gorgeous," and "Marvelous! Marvelous!" all they want to. I'm going to be so carried away that I'll climb on the stage and jump right up and down on Stravinsky's piano. And especially when Stravinsky comes to that part about cooking soup without fire! That's when I'm going to yell right out, "It's onion soup. It's so realistic you can smell it! ### TREATMENT OF INFLUENZA.

DESPITE a tremendous amount of study and investigation, no plan of conferring immunity against influenza has as yet been developed. This means that no vaccine or serum has been prepared that will successfully protect against the disease.

The epidemic of 1918-'19 attacked young and old alike, although the greatest number of serious cases were among young adults. In a widespread occurrence of the disease good health of its victims seems to offer no obstacle. The most robust individuals are often afflicted more promptly than those in poor health. Between world-wide epidemics appearing four or five times in a century, the disease occurs each year in a relatively mild form with, however, sporadic cases of great severity, the complications of which are sometimes annoying if not serious.

The management of the condition is all important. Good nursing care is essential, and the patient should be confined to a room with free ventilation. The bed clothing should rest as lightly as possible on the body, since the very weight of heavy blankets on chest and abdomen may increase fatigue and be a factor in raising the temperature. Should the fever be high, sponging with tepid water, to which a little alcohol has been added, is restful and comforting. If the patient is inclined to perspire care should be taken to keep the body dry and thus prevent chilling.

Liquids must be taken freely and frequently except when the patient is resting, and food should be given preferably in liquid form. For the three or four days of the acute attack it is not necessary to force the patient to eat. Forced feeding is sometimes responsible for an increase in severity of intestinal symptoms. If vomiting is persistent, nothing should be given by mouth, unless fruit juices, weak tea, or water are easily retained. Should vomiting continue, fluid in the form of a 5 per cent solution of glucose, or normal salt solution, may be administered by rectum.

In most cases bronchial symptoms are present and in some pneumonia complicates the picture. It is frequently a wise precaution at the beginning of any case of influenza to saturate the air of the room with moisture and to keep it saturated. To a kettle of boiling water compound tincture of benzoin, or menthol, may be added for this purpose.

Occasionally sleeplessness calls for assistance, because the patient must rest, and the physician will, if need be, prescribe a proper sleeping draft. Alcohol as a part of the treatment is rarely indicated, and then only for older persons with threatened heart failure. Once in a while, if there is marked pallor of the skin of the entire body, alcohol may be useful.

Complications in most instances will be avoided by following a strict bed rest régime. When convalescence is established let the patient recover as slowly or as rapidly as he will. Resuming activity too early is often followed by a rekindling of infection in some important part of the body. We must also remember that in any case of influenza the heart muscle has probably suffered slight damage and it must not be asked to resume its full load too abruptly. A fairly accurate guide is the rate of the heartbeat. If it remains persistently high or is higher than normal, more rest is required.

Mild tonics may be valuable, and it is sometimes wise a few weeks after recovery to visit a physician for a thorough checkup.

GLANDULAR DEFICIENCY.

Mrs. H. T. writes: After reading your articles on the endocrine glands I took my 22 year old son to a physician, who told me he had a glandular deficiency and gave me a prescription, but said he was not sure it would be effective. He is not to see him for two months. My son is 22 years old, 6 feet tall, much underweight, and takes cold easily, which usually lays him up with a fever. Do you think he can be brought back to health?

REPLY.

SEE AN EXPERT.

A. D. R. writes: Since last March I have had a lump near the nipple. Sometimes it pains. Should this be removed?

REPLY.

TREATMENT OF COLDS.

S. T. P. writes: Do you see any objection to the following method of breaking up incipient colds? Get one ounce saturated solution of menthol in alcohol. Put a very little on the inner folds of a large handkerchief and let stand open for a few minutes to allow alcohol to evaporate. Fold and inhale slowly through nose and mouth.

REPLY.

No objection. The plan may add to your comfort, but do not lean too heavily upon it for cure.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

Is it cruel to swat a fly or step on a spider? Many people feel sorry for the poor insects which are mutilated and killed in such a fashion. However, scientists have now relieved our minds by discovering that insects have no sense of pain whatever. They have found that an insect will go right on eating its dinner without interruption while legs and wings are cut off. One insect had the rear portion of its abdomen cut off, and it continued to eat and the food simply rolled out as fast as it was swallowed. The insect showed no signs of inconvenience or discomfort.

DISARMING THE CITIZENRY.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—I congratulate THE TRIBUNE on today's excellent editorial, "Disarming the Citizenry." It is desirable to call the American system of government to the attention of such persons as Clay Baird. It is obvious he is not informed when he says the states cannot cope with the crime problem. Public men do not agree with him. In a letter to THE TRIBUNE dated Jan. 29, 1934, Hatton W. Summers, chairman of the judiciary committee, house of representatives [Washington], praised Chicago for its example to other communities for efficient government. At the governor's conference at Springfield Jan. 5, 1935, the representative of the attorney general's office [Washington] felicitated the state of Illinois upon its success in suppressing crime. The immediate execution of a convicted criminal by a firing squad, the government monopoly of firearms and ammunition, are practiced today in Russia. These ideas are no part of the American system. Moreover, if Mr. Baird can find any wild west today outside the Hollywood studio "locations," he will take his place beside Byrd as a discoverer. Perhaps Mr. Baird may learn to know America some day. The first hundred years are the hardest.

A. R. EPPSTEIN.

FROM A WELL ARMED CITIZEN.

Elkhorn, Wis., Jan. 12.—Referring to Mr. Baird's letter in today's TRIBUNE on "Disarming the Citizenry," Article II. of our bill of rights guarantees the right of every citizen to own and use in a peaceful manner warlike weapons, and forbids the passing of any law infringing upon that right. Surely regulation cannot be carried to a point equivalent to the nullification of this guaranty.

Granting that Article II. could be repealed, does Mr. Baird think that all law abiding citizens would give up their arms? Sure. Does he think that all thieves and outlaws would do likewise? Certainly not.

I am a farmer living miles away from police protection. In a corner of the room where I am writing there is a good double barreled shotgun. At a short range it is probably the most deadly kind of weapon made. I am familiar with the homes of many of my neighbors and in each of these homes there is a similar weapon. If you look into all of the millions of farm homes in this country you would find very few unarmed. These guns are used only for the shooting of wild game in season and for the extermination of farm pests. But the guns are there. This fact, together with the inevitable farm watchdog, explains why farm property is seldom molested.

I opine that for many years to come, barring accidents, the old double barrel will stay where it is; that "Shep" will continue to be the chief guardian of the place, and that I will continue to smoke my old dudeen in peace as I peruse my daily TRIBUNE for the discussion of more vital topics.

H. T. PRICE.

NAVAL SECRETS.

Astoria, L. I., Jan. 10.—This morning I read an item about a bill introduced by Senator Park Trammell of the senate naval affairs committee which would prohibit publication of photos, drawings, etc., of naval "secrets."

That the navy has secrets any one in foreign countries would care to learn, I doubt. But the defects of its own products and organization are secrets it prefers to keep from the citizens of this country. The only reason that our navy is deficient is its power of suppression of facts. The only thing it fears is publicity—at home.

The navy has not shown the least concern in keeping "secrets" from foreign navies. You will find natives of most countries actually at work in our navy yards. It is said that many Japs were on the ships as stewards masked as Filipinos.

That the submarine engines are defective or the ships structurally bad or not up to speed, etc., are the kinds of "secrets" better told than hidden.

Such a bill would only be effective against American publishers and could be used to censor all naval news.

E. R. CARROLL.

A THOUGHT PROVOKING CARTOON.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—The cartoon "The Slave Block," showing the little girl, representing future generations, on the auction block (debt), is enough to make any parent think and should certainly make the most ardent New Dealer stop, look, and listen.

CORRECTIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The article in THE TRIBUNE relative to the death of the famous Polish soprano, Mme. Marcella Sembrich Kochanska, contains the following sentence: "A girl was born to Casimir Kochanska, the village musician of Wisnosky, in Austrian Poland." It should read to Casimir Kochanski, as the use of the letter "a" at the end denotes the feminine gender. The name of the city is not Wisnosky but Wisnowski and last but not least "in Austrian Poland" should read, "formerly in Austrian Poland."

FRANCIS XAVIER OSUCH.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—It would delight the hearts of many thousands of Chicago citizens to have THE TRIBUNE espouse the cause of building and completing Calumet harbor.

MORTGAGE.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I purchased a mortgage for $3,000 on a piece of property. This is a first mortgage and was originally taken out in 1924 and twice since renewed. In 1925, or about 13 months after the mortgage was [1] issued a judgment of $800 was granted against this property. Although this judgment has not been allowed through legal proceedings to be [2] liened, [3] would not my mortgage have first claim if some time in the future this judgment of $800 should be officially placed against this property?

W. H. B.

1. We assume that it was also recorded.
2. We are doubtful as to this word. Is it "liened"? If so, we are still doubtful as to your meaning. A Cook county judgment would automatically be a lien upon Cook county real estate of the judgment debtor.
3. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

SOUTH ILLINOIS LAND READY FOR RELIEF COLONY

$325,000 Project Starts with 111 Families.

The colonization of 111 rural families in southern Illinois as part of the most ambitious federal relief experiment yet attempted in this state will be started shortly in Pope and Johnson counties. This was announced yesterday by Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

The government now holds options on more than 2,000 acres of submarginal land in the vicinity of Dixon Springs, Pope county, and spreading over into the southeastern part of Johnson county.

Important changes in the original plan have been made, it was learned yesterday, following a conference at Urbana of the rural rehabilitation directors of five states. Representing the Illinois relief commission was C. H. Humphrey. He is secretary of the recently created Illinois Rehabilitation corporation, which is to finance the project with federal relief funds.

It Becomes Land Reclamation.

Instead of transplanting the families from their hill farms to arable bottom lands as first intended, an effort will be made to reclaim the submarginal lands in the vicinity. Most of the families selected for the experiment are already living on this land, and the others will be moved from similar farms nearby to enter the colony. Virtually all of the families are on relief or are prospective relief clients.

Soil experts of the University of Illinois college of agriculture want to demonstrate their contention that the submarginal land has no inherent defects and that it can be rehabilitated along with the relief families.

The land, once fairly fertile, has become submarginal through improper care, the college experts declared. They contend that scientific fertilization, rotation of crops, and anti-erosion work will reclaim it to the point where the families may eventually become self-supporting.

AAA Bureau Coöperates.

A third agency coöperating in the project is the land policy section of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, which approved the purchase of the submarginal farms at an average of about $10 an acre. Few of the farmers now living on the land own it themselves, and these will be given credit for their farms against what they will soon owe the new rehabilitation corporation.

Each family not living on the land will be given a residence and farm structures, which will be erected by the corporation on the twenty acre plots. The existing buildings will be rehabilitated. Also given to the families, on the same credit basis, will be cows, chickens, and other necessary equipment.

The head of each family will be given 100 days of work a year at $2 a day on the 13,000 acre experimental farm operated in the same vicinity by the University of Illinois. With this $200 annual cash income the farmers in the colony will be expected to purchase necessary articles and also repay the corporation for the farm and other capital goods.

Cost Is Put at $325,000.

The cost of the experiment has been estimated at $325,000. This is only the first of a yet undetermined number of similar projects in other parts of the state.

"The farmers in that region may really be called hill-billies," Mr. Reynolds said. "They are poverty stricken and hardly up with the progress of other Illinois farmers. However, they come of old American stock. Their families go back for many generations."

Mr. Reynolds said the depression had not been the major cause of their becoming "clients" of the relief commission because their economic status had been following a downward trend for many years.

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A bloodless duel with pistols was fought today between Lieut.-Col. Alfredo Henriod, former Peruvian consul-general in New York, who recently resigned as minister of the interior, and Congressman Luis Flores, leader of the revolutionary union party. Each of the duelists fired two shots, none of which found its mark. The incident grew out of a reported speech of Flores last week on the floor of congress. The duelists parted without a reconciliation.

ABOUT DIZZY SPELLS AND INDIGESTION

Bear this in mind, that when you keep bile flowing freely and stomach, liver and bowels functioning properly the waste and poisons in the bowels leave the body thru the natural channels—they don't stay to be absorbed into the blood, causing dizzy spells, headache, biliousness, coated tongue and other annoying and depressing ailments—indigestion is another.

Take the little daily dose of Kruschen Salts—for instance—only as much as will lie on a dime—in your morning cup of coffee or tea.

How this regular little daily dose does keep internal organs in splendid working order—it creates in you the urge for activity and after a night of sound sleep you jump out of bed feeling joyously alive and ready for the work of the day.

Millions, the world over, take this little daily dose of good health because it means that after a month's treatment you'll feel younger and more ambitious—your petty, bothersome ailments will leave — skin eruptions disappear — eyes sparkle—you are your old energetic self again—you'll be gratefully surprised.

Try just one small priced jar which lasts over two months—get that Kruschen feeling of glorious internal cleanliness—become alert—keen in mind and vivaciously active and remember if after the first jar you are not completely pleased—get your money back.

MATE DIVORCES CLAIRE LUCE AND NAMES A 'PRINCE'

Minden, Nev., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Claire Luce, blonde movie and stage star, lost her husband, Warren Smith, here today as the result of his charges that she dallied with a "Prince Alexis" on the Aquitania and elsewhere.

Smith, who denied on his arrival here ten days ago that he ever gave the fair Claire $25,000 a year spending money, and denied he "ever would," said at that time that he "could tell a story on her but I won't at present."

It is understood that Smith charged infidelity and names the prince—whose exact identity was not stated—and who is said to have sailed with Miss Luce aboard the Aquitania for Europe on Jan. 2.

SHELVE HEARINGS; TRY ROUND TABLE ON FEEDER BUSES

Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, won substantially unanimous consent yesterday to his suggestion that the feeder bus needs of Chicago be threshed out in friendly round table conferences. Several cases, accordingly, were continued to Jan. 29.

"By the conference method," Mr. Lindheimer said, "we can accomplish in two weeks what might take a year and a half by the procedure of formal hearings. Conferences proved a signal success a short time ago in readjusting public utility rates. I see no reason for cluttering up the records with thousands of pages of evidence and testimony."

Lawyers for the city and for neighborhood organizations at once agreed. Harry J. Weber, attorney for the Chicago Surface lines, said he would urge the idea on the receivers of the car companies. Chicago Rapid Transit lines officials were understood to approve the plan.

PLOT IN RUSSIA SEEN AS OMEN OF STALIN'S FINISH

Events Are Likened to the French Revolution.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 16.—Will Gregory Zinoviev, former powerful communist leader and now an opponent of the policies of Dictator Josef Stalin, became the Russian Danton, and has Thermidor—the fateful month which marked the beginning of the end of the French revolution—begun in Russia?

These questions are being discussed in whispers in Moscow and Leningrad, the inhabitants of which have received the greatest thrill since the death of Nicolai Lenin by the trial of Zinoviev, former president of the communist Internationale and former commissar of the Leningrad district, and Leo Kamenov, former commissar of the Moscow district and former president of the soviet of Peoples' commissars, together with G. Evdokimov and sixteen other members of the communist party.

"Death Judges" Try Prisoners.

Comrades Ulrich and Matulevich are conducting the trial. Both are renowned cheka judges, having officiated in many important Moscow trials. Since the assassination on Dec. 1 of Stalin's friend, Sergei Kirov, they have held trials at Moscow, Kiev, Minsk, and Leningrad, sentencing a known total of 117 prisoners to death.

The charges against Zinoviev and his companions are plotting a reign of terror against the Stalin dictatorship which was scheduled to begin with the Kirov assassination. The defendants are being tried under the same law as the actual assassin, Leonid Nicolaieff, and if sentenced to death have not the right of appeal.

Portions of the confessions of the accused were broadcast on all soviet radios today, giving a glimpse of the events transpiring behind the closed doors in the Leningrad court. Zinoviev admitted guilt and told the court that it was terrible that he and his followers should be treated the same as murderers and bandits.

Plotted to Undermine Stalin.

Evdokimov confessed that Zinoviev and his followers had been attempting to undermine Stalin's authority for years, that they had been opposed to collectivization of the peasants, which brought famine, and also that they had collected reports of the government's failures in various industrialization projects which they had used to create dissension in the party ranks and develop dissatisfaction against Stalin's rule.

Evdokimov and the other defendants admitted the error of their ways, but claimed that they were not attempting to oust Stalin but merely wished to develop opposition within the party which would force a change in present policies.

CHINA'S DICTATOR OPENS DRIVE ON BANDIT MENACE

Chiang Plans to Lead Troops Himself.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 16.—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China, announced today that he will go to the upper Yangtze river personally to lead his troops in a campaign to stamp out the bandit menace. He said he will establish his headquarters at Chungking, in the mountainous area 1,500 miles inland, where the narrow Yangtze gorges provide a "bottle neck" controling ingress and egress from Szechwan province. The population of 50,000,000 in this province is now threatened by bandits.

About 500 foreign missionaries, mostly Americans, Canadians and British, reside in Szechwan province, most of them at Chengtu, the capital. Many others are scattered far inland beyond the possibility of foreign assistance in event of a crisis.

5 Foreign Gunboats on Guard.

Five foreign gunboats, two American, two British and one French, are now anchored at Chungking, which is sandwiched between two major bandit groups, one north and the other south of the Yangtze.

The bandits south of the Yangtze, recently expelled from Kiangsi province, are under the leadership of the notorious Chu-teh, Mato Ze-tung, and Gen. Ho-lung, who terrorized Kiangsi for six years under the guise of a so-called "soviet republic."

Chiang's obvious intention is to use combined military and economic measures, which finally succeeded in ousting the bandits from their Kiangsi stronghold, where for a time they threatened to overcome the authority of the Nanking government.

Murders Laid to Bandits.

Chiang expressed his determination to follow up the government's Kiangsi victory and to exterminate completely the menace which threatened the nation's existence and was responsible for the death and impoverishment of millions of Chinese. The Reds are also held responsible for murders and kidnapings of numerous foreigners, the latest being the Chicago missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stam, who were kidnaped when the village of Tsingteh was pillaged on Dec. 7 and later killed. Their 2 months old daughter, Helen Priscilla, was rescued.

Gen. Chiang will proceed to Nanking tomorrow, where he is scheduled to confer with Premier Wang Ching-wei and other government officials on a long list of problems, including the financial crisis precipitated by the export of silver and numerous Sino-Japanese issues following Japan's abrogation of the Washington naval treaty.

Premier Wang said he expected China this year is likely to experience the most serious crisis in the nation's history, due to a combination of domestic and external complications.

The estates, situated at Caputh, were the property of Ilse Kayser and Margot Marianoff. The property owned by the famous physicist was confiscated after the Nazis came into power.

BRITAIN REVEALS PLANS FOR VAST HOUSING PROJECT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The government launched a nation-wide attack tonight on overcrowding outside of slum areas by issuing the text of the new housing bill to be pushed through parliament this year.

The bill makes it a punishable offense for more than two persons to occupy a single room, for more than three to occupy two rooms, or for more than five to live in three rooms. It forbids boys and girls over 10 years old to be quartered in the same room. The bill provides government subsidies for rehousing families now living in overcrowded conditions.

Whole areas of London and other big cities will be transformed, for the bill provides that overcrowded families must be rehoused near their old homes. Consequently new houses are expected to spring up with state assistance in London areas where no new houses have been built since mid-Victorian times.

The government thus is carrying on two housing drives simultaneously. One is its slum clearance plan to build a half million new homes for slum dwellers in five years. The other is the present attack on overcrowding.

DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED IN HOUSE; ARGUE D. C. COSTS

Liquor in Congress' Cafe Brings a Row.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The house passed the deficiency appropriation bill today and then launched into a debate on the measure financing the District of Columbia for the next fiscal year.

The deficiency appropriations, totaling $1,477,000, went to the federal communications commission, national mediation board, and the securities and exchange commission.

The reporting out of the District of Columbia bill from committee brought an attack from Representative Thomas L. Blanton [Dem., Tex.], who declared that the proposed increase of $2,440,000 was the result of propaganda spread in the local press.

Asks Liquor in House Café.

The session was enlivened by the demand of Representative Emanuel Celler [Dem., N. Y.], that liquor be sold in the house restaurant. Nothing stronger than beer can be purchased at the present time.

"I rise to a point of personal privilege," asserted Celler. "I wanted a glass of wine in the restaurant and couldn't get it. There's no reason why the members haven't the right to imbibe temperately."

"You are seeking to turn the capitol of the United States into a common barroom," shouted Blanton.

Attacks Trade Pacts.

An impassioned attack on the reciprocal trade agreements was made later in the day by Representative Everett M. Dirksen [Rep., Ill.].

"The administration should forget about the frippery of world economy and talk about our own," declared Dirksen. "We should practice internal economy and get over sympathies for people living in the far and exotic corners of the earth."

A resolution was introduced by Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. [Rep., N. Y.], calling upon the secretary of the treasury to furnish the names and addresses of all persons and corporations owning tax exempt securities in the amount of more than $100,000.

Seeks to Add Clerk to Each Congressman's Staf

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Congressmen who think they are overworked are going to get a chance to do something about it. Representative White [Dem., Idaho] told his colleagues today he was going to propose a resolution that would add one clerk to each member's staf. "Due to the extreme burden of work I think we require increased clerical forces," he explained.

BRITISH PREMIER OPENS GENERAL ELECTION DRIVE

Brands Propagandists as Great Danger.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald opened the long general election campaign at Newcastle tonight with a speech in which he attacked the anti-government propagandists and their press.

He branded propagandists as "one of the most threatening dangers of our time."

"You should be the masters of the press," he told his audience, "and not allow the press to be masters of you."

Dodges Lloyd George Issue.

The prime minister had been expected to provide the national government's counterattack to the "New Deal" plans, on the lines of the American experiment, which have been drawn up by David Lloyd George, Liberal leader. He chose, however, to dodge this issue for the time being although he did indicate that the government does not intend to spend millions of public money on vast schemes for unemployment relief.

MacDonald was given a mixed reception by his audience which listened none too patiently as he referred to his old political experiences and spoke at length of the "bonds of empire." He praised Great Britain's efforts toward the pacification of Europe.

This was the first of a series of speeches which MacDonald will make in north England. Tomorrow night he will speak to his own constituents at Seaham. At the same time Lloyd George, on his 72d birthday, will outline publicly for the first time his "New Deal" proposals.

Lloyd George Gets Ally.

On the eve of his speech the veteran Liberal statesman has found a powerful ally in Viscount Snowden, former chancellor of the exchequer and an old friend of MacDonald. Lord Snowden, it was revealed tonight, has written Lloyd George approving his plans.

It was stated at Lloyd George's headquarters tonight that several prospective Liberal candidates have already expressed willingness to fight under his banner in the next election, which is not expected until the end of this year. Strong support is also promised by many Labor members of parliament and candidates.

Worker Killed, One Hurt on New Bridge at Joliet

One laborer was killed and another seriously injured yesterday when they were struck by the falling boom of a crane on a bridge under construction over the inland waterway canal just north of Joliet. The man killed was Axel H. Johnson, 26 years old, 311 Hebbard street, Joliet. The injured man is Simon Isberg, 53 years old, 321 Scribner street, Joliet. They were employed by the Powers-Thompson Construction company of Joliet

SWANSON ADMITS CONCERN AT RED ACTIVITY IN NAVY

Officers Act to Prevent Propaganda Work.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson today expressed himself concerned over attempts by communists to spread dissatisfaction and even mutiny and rebellion among navy men. He revealed naval officers having recently been forced to take measures to prevent Red propaganda from getting aboard U. S. vessels.

The secretary is convinced that communists are making but little progress, but feels that every effort should be made to halt the flood of subversive propaganda. This impression prevails, he said, among fleet officers.

Agitators Better Trained.

The first attempts to "undermine the morale of the navy" were discovered in 1930 when occasional leaflets turned up among enlisted men. Recently the activity has become better organized and the agitators have become better trained, it was reported in the navy department.

No matter where vessels may go, it was said, agitators are on hand to distribute vicious pamphlets. The navy department has a collection of such pamphlets which are designed to incite dissatisfaction, disaffection and disloyalty and, in some cases, actual sabotage.

The propagandists have been found to be working from headquarters in New York. Reports have been received that the New York headquarters is working under orders direct from Moscow. The practice of the agitators, according to Secretary Swanson, has been to board naval vessels in small groups of two or three with companies of sightseers. Once aboard, the agitators will attempt to distribute leaflets among the crew or more often to stuff their handbills into places where members of the crew will eventually find them.

Pretty Girls Active.

Girls, chosen for their good looks, are also among the agitators. These engage sailors in conversation aboard vessels or ashore, make "dates," and then attempt to convert the sailors to communism in the hope of gaining a recruit within the ship's company, the secretary said.

Secretary Swanson expressed himself as favoring the bill introduced by Chairman Park Trammell of the senate naval affairs committee which would prohibit photographing or making sketches of national defense equipment. The secretary said such a bill would be advantageous to the national defense as previous laws prohibit photography and sketching at navy yards.

The secretary announced issuance of an order under which navy men will be selected for promotion hereafter purely on the basis of equality of service aboard any type of ship. Previously promotions were made in a measure in accordance with the size and importance of ships on which men served.

WOMAN'S NOVEL WAY OF ENTERING FLAT ENDS IN HER DEATH

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—A 200 pound matron, dangling in a crudely fashioned rope noose suspended from a roof parapet four stories up, plunged to her death in the Bronx today when the rope snapped.

The victim was Mrs. Pauline Kopp, 42, wife of a wholesale butcher and owner of the apartment house where the tragedy occurred. She had lost her apartment key on a shopping tour, according to a neighbor, and was attempting to enter her fourth floor rooms through a window, intending to go down hand over hand along the rope, which had been lashed to a standpipe.

ELMORE GRANTED LEAVE TO AMEND SUIT FOR $10,000

Circuit Judge Joseph Burke yesterday granted Howard W. Elmore, former sanitary district trustee, leave to file an amended bill in his suit for $10,000 against M. P. Moller, Inc., pipe organ manufacturers of Hagerstown, Md. The suit, first filed in 1933, grew out of Elmore's gift of $22,000 to the Lindblom High school for the purchase of an organ. In the original bill Elmore alleged that on Dec. 29, 1926, he ordered the pipe organ from C. B. Reynolds and G. W. Ford, who were then doing business in Chicago under the Moller company's name. He alleged he paid $18,500 for the organ which was worth only $13,500 and that the sellers failed to install it according to the contract. The amended bill will name Reynolds and Ford as co-defendents.

SAFETY MEETING SEES MOVIES OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

Moving pictures showing automobile accidents, how they happened and how they can be avoided, were featured last night at a Keep Chicago Safe meeting held at the Rogers Park Masonic temple, 1716 Lunt avenue, under the auspices of the Rogers Park Chamber of Commerce. It was one of a series of such meetings, sponsored by Mayor Kelly, to be held throughout the city.

Speakers were Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court and Judge John Gutknecht, now sitting in the Trafic court.

NEW VOLATILE "RUB" REACHES THE SPOT!

A Cold Treatment of Such "Spread" You Can Relieve Your Head Colds and Chest Colds, Without Taking Medicine

This "cold season" will be a different story in a great many households.

They have tested the new volatile rub—and are convinced.

The word has spread so fast about Pine Balm that druggists have had to order and re-order to supply the demand.

What It Is

Pine Balm is a "rub" that is so highly volatile, its pungent pine aroma reaches the very bronchial tubes. It starts its work in ten seconds. It relieves a head cold in a few minutes, and generally loosens a chest cold overnight.

For a throat irritation, just swallow a lump of this remarkable preparation; sprays and gargles cannot compare with this newer treatment.

Dr. Caldwell Pine Balm is bringing surprising results with various types of colds. It is particularly valuable in treating children — whose stomachs are easily upset by internal medicines. Powerful as it is, you can use it on any child—full-strength.

It Costs Only 25 Cents!

Get this new treatment, and be prepared. It is only a quarter a jar. Druggists who were all out of Pine Balm following the first announcement, have plenty now. Get the name right—ask for Dr. Caldwell Pine Balm in the "pine cone" jar, and use according to simple directions that come with it.

Pine Balm is a real discovery.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

They Tried "Moist-Throat" Method!

"NEXT DAY OUR COUGHS WERE GONE!"

"Jackie and I coughed our heads off," says Mrs. P. Fernandez, Providence, R. I. "Doctor said 'Pertussin.' Next day our coughs were gone!"

WHEN you catch cold, sticky mucus clogs your throat's moisture glands. That's because the healthy secretions of these glands have thickened or dried. Your throat feels raw—tickly—you cough. To relieve coughing, you must "unclog" these glands and so moisten the throat. PERTUSSIN does just that. Sticky phlegm loosens. Relief—quick. Get a bottle now.

Ask Your Doctor First, Mother

Before You Give Your Child An Unknown Remedy to Take

According to any doctor you may ask, there is one duty every mother owes her child. The duty of asking him before giving her child an unknown remedy to take.

Yet, unthinkingly, every day mothers violate this simple rule. Take the advice of unqualified persons—instead of their doctors' — on remedies for their children.

If they knew what the scientists know, they would never take the chance.

Doctors Say PHILLIPS' For Your Child

When it comes to the very frequently used "milk of magnesia," authorities stand solidly together.

Ask your own doctor about this. For over 50 years, doctors, whose life work it is to study the safety and quality of drugs that go into the home, have said "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia for your child."

Safety for You and Yours

You can assist others by refusing to accept a substitute for the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Do this in the interest of yourself and your children—and in the interest of the public in general.

For "Phillips'" is the result of over a half century of continuous laboratory experiment. And is rated among the finest products that science knows in its field, the kind of product your child deserves.

So Always Say "Phillips'" when you buy. And see that your child gets what you ask for—Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Do this for your own peace of mind.

The 1935 FORD V·8 TRUCK

Now on Display and Ready for Delivery

For 1935, Ford has added many important improvements to the Ford V-8 Truck. Chief among these is better balanced load distribution. The load-center has been moved farther forward, resulting in less body overhang, better braking and more uniform tire and brake wear.

The brakes have been newly designed for quicker, smoother stops with heavy loads. They will not "fade" even when making quick stops in rapid succession. The cast iron brake drums have integral cooling ribs which dissipate heat faster and minimize distortion.

The new clutch has a diameter of 11 inches and a larger frictional area. Pedal pressure is lower at idling speeds. Plate pressure increases by centrifugal force as the speed of the engine increases. This is a new type of clutch developed by Ford engineers.

Crankcase ventilation has been added to the engine. No other change has been made in this engine, which has proved so economical and reliable in the hands of owners. The cooling system has been improved; the radiator is wider and water pump impellers are larger.

Appearance has been materially improved. Fenders are skirted and finished in baked enamel colors that match the hood and cab. The new cab has a sloping windshield. Passenger-car comfort has been provided for the driver. The seat is adjustable, and its width has been increased to 49 inches. Safety Glass is standard equipment throughout. Triple ventilation includes (1) Clear-Vision Ventilation in door windows, (2) easy-opening windshield, (3) large screened cowl ventilator. The interior of the cab is completely lined. The roof and dash are insulated.

Ask your Ford dealer to arrange an "on-the-job" test with your own loads, over your own routes, with your own driver at the wheel. Prove to yourself how V-8 Performance and V-8 Economy will save time and money for you.

PRICED AS LOW AS $500 for 131½-INCH CHASSIS F. O. B. DETROIT

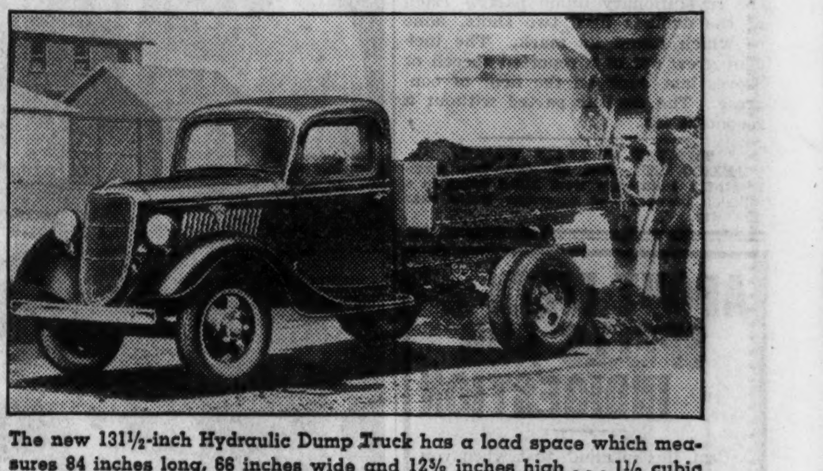
Smart appearance counts in delivery service . . . and this new 131½-inch Panel certainly has it! Lots of load space too. Inside measurements are 111 inches long, 55⅜ inches wide and 57⅞ inches high. Rear doors are sealed against dust and dirt by sponge-rubber strips. Dual wheels are extra.



The new 131½-inch Hydraulic Dump Truck has a load space which measures 84 inches long, 66 inches wide and 12⅜ inches high . . . 1½ cubic yards capacity. Side slots permit the addition of sideboards. Either direct-lift or arm-lift hoists are available. Maximum dumping angle is 50 degrees.

THE NEW 1935 FORD V·8 COMMERCIAL CARS ARE SMART, FAST AND THRIFTY

| PRICES | |
|---|---|
| Chassis with Drive-away front end | $360 |
| Cab and Chassis | 455 |
| Closed Cab Pick-Up | 480 |
| Sedan Delivery | 585 |
| Panel Delivery | 565 |
| De Luxe Panel Delivery | 580 |
| Station Wagon | 670 |

The new Sedan Delivery has the same smart lines as the 1935 Ford V-8 passenger cars. Load space measures 65 inches long, 46¾ inches wide and 44 inches high. For those who need more room than this, there is a new Panel Delivery and a smart new De Luxe Delivery. The new Ford Pick-Up has the same cab comforts as the 1935 Ford V-8 Truck. The appointments of the new Station Wagon follow closely the appointments of the 1935 Ford V-8 passenger cars. This is without question the smartest, fastest, most economical line of commercial cars that ever bore the Ford name.

LEAGUE ANNULS ARMS EMBARGO AGAINST BOLIVIA

Penalty on Paraguay for Continuing War.

GENEVA, Jan. 16.—(AP)—For the first time in its history the league of nations today took punitive action against a war making member.

Because Paraguay has failed to accept the league's plan for peace in the Chaco, the league's Chaco advisory committee voted to reinforce the arms embargo against Paraguay and lift the embargo against Bolivia which has accepted the plan.

Bolivia henceforth will be free to buy, and nations adhering to the league's embargo will be free to sell armaments and munitions. The committee's action took the form of recommendations to the governments now imposing the embargo on the Chaco belligerents.

An unprecedented step, it creates delicate problems for the United States inasmuch as the American congress, in authorizing the embargo, stipulated it should be operated against both the warring nations. The United States and Brazil, as nonmembers of the league, will be asked to subscribe to the project.

Grace Ends Feb. 24.

Paraguay is given a further chance to accept the peace plan, since the resolution specifies that Feb. 24 is the date of expiration of the three months Paraguay has to decide finally concerning the detailed plan for ending the war.

The lifting of the embargo against Bolivia was held likely to force the Asuncion government to assent, although Paraguay, in two communications to the league, has entered so many objections that league officials have interpreted her replies as tantamount to rejection.

Meanwhile, another league body, the consultative commission handling the Peruvian-Colombian problem concerning Leticia, received Peru's notification that Colombia has failed to approve the Rio de Janeiro protocol settling the dispute within the agreed time limit, and resolved to ask Colombia to hasten legislative ratification of the instrument. Copies of the resolution were cabled to the Peruvian and Colombian governments.

Paraguay at Dead End.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A series of bloody, but sporadic, battles in the northwest Chaco today apparently had served to change the military situation but little, and observers here predicted the deadlock might continue indefinitly. Bolivia's heavily fortified "third Hindenburg line" seemingly had halted the onrushing Paraguayans.

Observers agreed that Gen. José Estigarribia, Paraguayan commander in chief, would have to sacrifice numerous Paraguayan lives if he hoped to capture Villa Montes, major Bolivian army base, and continue his drive into Bolivian territory proper.

Neutral reports from the Argentine front indicated the hilly terrain along the 60 mile front in the northwest Chaco, along which armies estimated to total 60,000 men confront each other, would help Gen. Enrique Penaranda's well entrenched Bolivians hurl back Paraguayan thrusts.

Await First Move.

A general battle, it was believed here, might bring 80,000 men or more into action, if Bolivia brings up recently mobilized reserves and Estigarribia uses all his available forces. Bolivians obviously are waiting for Paraguay to make the first move.

Meanwhile, the Paraguayan press, debating the league's action today, complained that the embargo has not been effective, insisting furthermore that most of Paraguay's arms have been captured from Bolivia.

Reach River Parapiti.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Jan. 16.—A laconic announcement from the front says the Paraguayan troops today reached the River Parapiti following a bloody engagement in which the Bolivian regimental commander was made a prisoner. Now the Paraguayans are threatening Santa Cruz department of Bolivia. The Paraguayans consider Parapiti the true frontier of the Chaco territory.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 16.—Mrs. T. T. Sarao and her star boarder, Leone Gagliardi, who were to be hanged next Friday for the murder of the woman's husband last summer, today were granted a reprieve until March 29. They received the news calmly in their death cells here.

COMMUNITY FUND ELECTS RYERSON PRESIDENT AGAIN

Group Plans to Become Permanent, Report Says

Edward L. Ryerson Jr. was reelected president of the Community Fund of Chicago yesterday at the annual meeting in the headquarters at 111 West Washington street. This action indicated an intention to maintain this enterprise in behalf of Chicago's private charities as a permanent institution.

At the same time Fred A. Preston, general chairman, announced that the $3,000,000 goal for the coming year had been raised with a $35,195 surplus. This amount will be distributed during the coming year as pledges are received each month. Mr. Preston gave 7,530 as the total number of subscriptions, a total of 31.21 per cent m[illegible] than 1934. This included 1,850 subscriptions from employé groups of 345,000 individuals.

Reports on Year's Work.

The annual report read by Mr. Ryerson was for the year ending Sept. 30, 1934, during which $2,949,537 came in from subscriptions. Of the total amount subscribed, less than 1 per cent remained uncollected at the end of the year. He complimented the work of the campaign organization and the support of the press and the public.

"Our fund has been the outgrowth of the emergency," Mr. Ryerson continued. "As public funds came into the picture we have gradually withdrawn until our organization now begins to take on the aspect of permanency.

"There have been many agencies and influences adverse to a complete community chest. Many have felt that a complete community chest in which a central fund raises all the money needed by all charitable agencies would not be practicable in a city the size and character of Chicago."

Vice presidents elected are Mr. Preston, Clifford W. Barnes, D. F. Kelly, Albert D. Lasker, and Victor Olander. James R. Leavell was reëlected treasurer and Frank D. Loomis secretary.

LORD RIDDELL'S WILL DISPOSES OF MILLIONS IN GIFTS

Peer Remembers Friends, Employes, Charities.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Blanket bequests to employés of his various companies and numerous legacies to old friends featured the will of Baron George Allardice Riddell, millionaire newspaper publisher, who died last month.

The amount covered in the will totaled $9,190,000. The will, which was probated today, gave $5,000 to former Prime Minister David Lloyd George, for whom Riddell has acted as press liaison officer at the Paris peace conference, and $5,000 to Winston Churchill, Conservative politician and old friend.

Remembers His Employés.

Riddell bequeathed six weeks' pay to each employé of his Sunday newspaper, News of the World, if the employé had been three years in his employ at the time of his death. He left two weeks' pay to every employé of his weekly, Country Life, and of four other companies, if the individual had been in his employ three years at the time of his death.

Ten members of the staf. of the News of the World got an additional $10,000 each.

His generosity to old acquaintances in the newspaper business and to men who helped him make his fortune was shown further by a bequest of $25,000 to the News Vendors' Benevolent association, $5,000 to the secretary of the Periodical Proprietors' association, one-third of the residuary estate to the newspaper press fund, and one-sixth of the residuary estate to the printers' pension fund to be used for yearly pensions of $260.

Huge Gift to Hospital.

The Royal Free hospital also was given one-third of the residuary estate and the remaining one-sixth was given to the Solicitors' Benevolent association and the Solicitors and Managing Clerks' association. Riddell, who was born of poor parents, started his career as a lawyer.

His secretary, chauffeur, valet, and footman each received generous legacies. Frances L. Stevenson, secretary to Lloyd George, received $5,000. James Braid, professional at Watkin Heath Golf club, which Riddell founded, received $5,000, while other employés of three years' standing received $500 each. His messenger was given $5,000.

Riddell's interest in child welfare—he died childless—was shown by a $50,000 gift to the National Playing Fields association.

$40,000 Annuity for Widow.

His widow received a $40,000 annuity and $500,000 cash, plus residences and effects not otherwise bequeathed. He asked her to make a will leaving his effects to a state owned museum or to the county council.

Death duties amounted to $3,920,000.

MOTORIST DIES IN CAR-TRUCK CRASH NEAR LAKE BLUFF

Edward Slovinski, 30 years old, of Stevens Point, Wis., was killed yesterday when the car he was driving south in Telegraph road two miles west of Lake Bluff swerved and crashed into the side of a truck going in the opposite direction. George Hull of Terre Haute, Ind., driver of the truck, said he believed Slovinski had fallen asleep.

Elvert Lindsey, 40 years old, of Otsego, Mich., driver of a truck that crashed into a shanty at the Indianapolis avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday morning, killing Patrick Byrne, 65 years old, 755 East 80th street, the watchman, was absolved by a coroner's jury. His truck bore Michigan license No. 559754 for 1934.

The death of Byrne and one other yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to twenty-eight. The other victim:

William Gray, 50 years old, 121 South Ashland avenue. Died at the county hospital after being struck by a taxi driven by Max Cohen, 33 years old, 631 South 14th avenue, Berwyn.

Mrs. Kendall, Naperville Mayor's Widow, Is Dead

Mrs. Linnie May Kendall, 73 years old, widow of Francis Austin Kendall, mayor of Naperville for ten years until his death in 1917, died in her home in Naperville yesterday. She was the daughter of Philip Strubler, who settled in Naperville after the California gold rush of 1849. Two sons and three daughters survive. One son, Lieut. Oliver Julian Kendall, was killed in the war. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in St. John's Episcopal church, Naperville.

Rites for George Allan, Bank Cashier, Tomorrow

Funeral services for George Allan, assistant cashier of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, who died suddenly on Tuesday at the Illinois Masonic hospital after a heart attack, will be held tomorrow afternoon at Scales Mound, Ill., his boyhood home. Mr. Allan had been employed by the Continental bank and its predecessor institutions for 36 years and had been an officer since 1912. He is survived by his widow and his mother, Mrs. Sibella Allan.

Gen. Kuno Von Steuben Dies; Kin of Famous U.S. Warrior

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Kuno von Steuben, 79, who served Germany on the eastern fronts during the world war, died today. The old general was the head of a family famous in the historical annals of the United States because of the services of Maj. Gen. Baron von Steuben of Washington's army.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS

JOHN TEACH DIES AT 93; A PIONEER PONTIAC SETTLER

John H. Teach, 93 years old, 1118 South Union avenue, pioneer resident of Livingston county, died in his home yesterday after a brief illness. Survivors include 8 children, 18 grandchildren, and 21 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Teach was born in Pennsylvania. When 25 years old he settled near Pontiac, Ill., with his wife, the former Harriett Blakeslee, who died in 1924. The family moved to Chicago in 1898 and Mr. Teach was a clerk in the Pullman Car works until his retirement twenty years ago. In recent years he had lived with a daughter, Mrs. John B. Le Fort.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow in the chapel at 214 East 115th street. Burial will be Saturday in Saunemin.

JOSEPH M. ELIAS, 50 years old, a deputy bailiff of the Municipal court, died of a heart attack yesterday morning in his home at 1703 North Halsted street.

NESTOR LEMAIRE, PROMINENT U. S. SWORDSMAN, DIES

Lemaire was born in Vivrien, Belgium. He became a lieutenant in the Belgian army and his steely wrist and unerring marksmanship in fencing soon brought him such renown that he counted the nobility of Belgium among his friends.

He came to the United States in 1913 and later to Indianapolis. He taught fencing at Wabash college and Purdue university and then had a studio here where he taught until his death.

Lemaire is said to have fought the longest duel on record in this country. At Providence, R. I., under police surveillance, he and an Englishman fenced six and a half hours with tack point ends on the buttons of their foils.

ALLAN BARROS, LA CROSSE STORE OPERATOR, DIES

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Allan D. Barros, president of Allans, Inc., operating department stores in La Crosse and in Waterloo, Ia., died here today following an illness of more than a month. He was 45 years old.

Mr. Barros was well known among Chicago manufacturers, and maintained an office in that city at 300 Adams street, in conjunction with Sam Levy & Co.

He is survived by his wife, Pauline, one daughter, Betty, and a son, John, as well as his mother, two brothers and four sisters.

Joseph Dulke, Restaurant Owner, Dies in Cicero

Funeral services for Joseph B. Dulke, 33 years old, 1929 South 60th court, Cicero, who died at his home Tuesday, will be held Saturday morning from the home to St. Valentine's church. Interment will be in St. Adalbert cemetery. Mr. Dulke was well known to officials at the Criminal courts building who patronized a restaurant owned by him at 2538 South California avenue, near the courts building. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lucille Dulke.

Mme. Ella Russell, Famous Opera Singer, Dies at 70

FLORENCE, Italy, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Mme. Ella Russell, 70, who was born in Cleveland, O., and achieved fame as an operatic lyric soprano, died today. Mme. Russell made her first public appearance as a singer at the age of 10 at a charity concert in Cleveland. When she was 18 she sang the part of "Leonora" in "Il Trovatore" at Prato in Tuscany. In private life she was the Countess Di Rhigini.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A messenger boy dropped in on Art Kassel and his bandsmen at the Bismarck hotel yesterday. He had a telegram for Art's good looking young troubadour, Norm Ruvell. "What now?" though Ruvell, ripping open the envelope. It was a happy surprise—an invitation from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to come to Hollywood. After investigating to assure himself that no practical jokers were at work Ruvell accepted and was told to report Jan. 28.

Norm has no spokesman on the M-G-M lot, so far as he knows, and no idea as to how the movie interests got a line on him, except, of course, that he sings nightly over NBC on sustaining programs. Before joining Kassel a year ago Ruvell sang with Harold Stokes' orchestra in the NBC show called "Lives at Stake." Ruvell is in his early twenties—got out of Indiana university three years ago.

Lucrezia Bori, lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, was engaged yesterday as the second soloist on that CBS cigaret series. She will make her first appearance next Monday evening. Lily Pons made her bow on the program last night.

That original microphone serial which Otto Harbach is writing will have its première over NBC Monday evening, Jan. 28. Al Goodman's orchestra will provide the musical background. Singers and members of the dramatic cast are being selected this week. Harbach has written a number of Broadway successes. "Roberta," currently on view in the loop, is one of them.

The Advertising Men's post of the American Legion will invade the Edgewater Beach hotel this evening and present Herbie Kay, the radio maestro who plays there, a trophy in token of their esteem for him. Kay often appears at veterans' hospitals to provide entertainment for service men.

Countess Olga Albani, singing star of "Silken Strings," has just received a belated Christmas gift in the shape of an ocelot skin from a South American admirer. . . . The Washington and Lee fancy dress ball, with Isham Jones playing, will be broadcast at 11 o'clock tomorrow night by WBBM. The dance will seek to re-create the imperial ball of the Congress of Vienna in 1815. . . . Art Jarrett, who opens with an orchestra over W-G-N from the Blackhawk Jan. 25, will appear for a week at the Uptown theater, beginning tomorrow. . . . Irna Phillips, who writes "Today's Children," has a new show titled "Masquerade" coming up.

H. F. FERGUSON, STATE SANITARY ENGINEER, DEAD

Harry F. Ferguson, chief engineer of the state division of sanitary engineering since 1919, died last night at the University of Illinois Research hospital. Mr. Ferguson was 47 years old and made his home in Springfield.

He was widely known in his field and was in charge of sanitation and the water supply for the American expeditionary forces in France during the world war. He was a former president of the American Society of Civil Engineers and a professor of public health in the University of Illinois college of medicine.

Funeral arrangements have not been made as yet.

Lucien Fugere, French Lyric Comedian, Dies, 86

PARIS, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The death yesterday at the age of 86 of Lucien Fugere, celebrated French lyric comedian, was announced today. Fugere, a baritone, emerged from retirement in 1933 to score a triumph in the rôle of Bartolo in Rossini's "Barber de Seville," despite his advanced age.

Robert Haight, Ex-Head of Alton, Ill., Schools, Dies

Alton, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Robert Allen Haight, 84, former superintendent of the Alton public schools and a resident here for 68 years, died today.

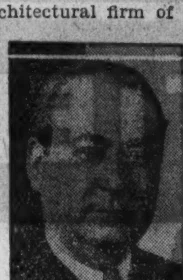
SAMUEL CROWEN, ARCHITECT, DIES IN LAKE FOREST



SAML. N. CROWEN.

Samuel N. Crowen, head of the architectural firm of S. N. Crowen and associates, of 221 North La Salle street, died yesterday morning at his residence, 1381 Elm Tree road, Lake Forest. He is survived by his widow, a son, Philip C. Crowen, and a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Briggs, of Lake Forest. Services will be held this afternoon at the Rosehill chapel, with burial in Rosehill cemetery.

Mr. Crowen was born in 1872. He practiced architecture for more than four decades in Chicago. He designed the Willoughby Tower, at Michigan and Madison, and many other office buildings, hotels, and industrial structures.

He was a member of the American Institute of Architects and was treasurer of the Illinois Society of Architects for several years. He was a member of the C. A. A. and the Midday club.

DR. D. P. RUSSELL FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Dr. Dennis P. Russell, 74 years old, 3218 Jackson boulevard, who died in his home Tuesday after a long illness, will be held tomorrow morning from the home to Our Lady of Sorrows church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Dr. Russell was born in Chicago, and had practiced medicine here since his graduation from the Rush Medical college in 1890. He was formerly active in Democratic organizations and was a charter member of the Chicago council of the Knights of Columbus. Surviving are his widow, the former Helen Houston; a son, Dennis Jr. and two daughters, Helen and Margaret.

Wm. J. Hill, Official of Street Department, Dies

William J. Hill, 45 years old, 5335 Belle Plaine avenue, died yesterday in the 46th ward office of the streets department, apparently of a heart attack. Mr. Hill was supervisor of streets for the northern districts and was until recently street superintendent of the 46th ward. He was formerly president of the Portage park district. He is survived by a son.

Miss Vennema Will Be Bride of A. S. Owen

License Reveals Plans for Their Marriage.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALTHOUGH their intimate friends have known since the holidays that they were to be married this winter, it was not until the daily marriage license list was issued last night that Miss Marcelle Dorothy Vennema and Anderson Ashley Owen, both of Winnetka, announced their engagement and revealed their plans to be married next Wednesday.

Miss Vennema, the tall, brunette daughter of John Vennema, consul general for the Netherlands, and Mrs. Vennema, has known Mr. Owen since last summer, when he and his mother, Mrs. William B. Owen, moved to the north shore suburb. Both Miss Vennema and Mr. Owen are graduates of the University of Chicago. Mr. Owen received the degree of bachelor of laws at Harvard university. Since finishing school Miss Vennema has traveled and devoted her time to charitable activities. A year ago she helped to organize a branch of the Infant Welfare in Winnetka.

Only their immediate families and a few friends will hear them repeat their marriage vows after the Rev. Samuel Harkness, pastor of the Winnetka Congregational church, at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening in the drawing room of the Vennema home at 849 Willow road in Winnetka. A small reception will follow the service and then Mr. Owen and his bride will slip away on a wedding trip to Florida. Upon their return they are to make their home at 334 Ridge avenue in Winnetka.

A number of the intimate friends who have known the last fortnight, at least casually, of the wedding plans have entertained for Miss Vennema and Mr. Owen.

Roberta Hawley Will Be Bride.

"Mr. and Mrs. William Emery Ullman of 1210 Astor street announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Roberta Hawley, to William J. Moody of Evanston," reads an announcement that is of interest this morning to the post-debutante crowd. Miss Hawley, who is a daughter of the late Gen. and Mrs. Charles R. Hawley of Bay City, Mich., attended Miss Madeira's school in Washington and Miss Risser's school in Rome. She is living in Chicago now at the Whitehall.

Mr. Moody, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Moody of Evanston, was graduated from Yale university in the class of 1925. The wedding will take place early next month.

Announcements will be received today from Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Wolf announcing the marriage of their daughter, Ann Wolf Loftus, to John Crawford Milsted, son of Mrs. Thomas G. Milsted, on Jan. 10. The wedding took place at St. Paul's church, with the Rev. L. Ward Brigham officiating. The couple are at home at 202 East Walton place.

The wedding was small and informal for the bride's parents were in Florida at the time—and still are there—and Mr. Milsted and his bride did not leave on a wedding trip immediately, preferring to wait until March when they will be able to have a long honeymoon. Mrs. Milsted attended the University School for Girls. Mr. Milsted is a graduate of Yale.

Plan Theater Parties for Junior League Play.

It would be hard to think of any more delightful way to dispense charity than that chosen by a half dozen of Chicago's most generous minded society leaders. The morning of Jan. 26 or one of the three succeeding Saturday mornings, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Richard I. Stearns, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, and Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, among others, are planning to take parties of underprivileged boys and girls to see the Junior league's talented young actresses in "Snow White" at the Harris theater.

At the same time they will be making contributions to the league's coffers that help so many of the city's

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A COUPLE who live in Champaign planned to do some visiting on a recent Sunday. [Not a crime in a small town, writes Alvin Hamburg, who relays the item.] His wife was ready to leave before he was, so she went outside to wait. Some five minutes elapsed before he finally came out of the house, looking pale and shaken.

Wife—Grim—Painter—Spectator.

"Do you know that I've been waiting out here fully ten minutes," she said sharply.

"But, dear," he implored, "please don't get angry. I couldn't help it. As I started down stairs I slipped on the top step and fell down the whole flight of stairs."

His wife sniffed.

"Well, what of it?" she demanded. "That shouldn't have taken you so long."

NOMINATION for the grimmest punster of the month. The young woman Dick Francis overheard in the picture department of a loop store. Informed that the print she was admiring was not a Van Gogh as she supposed, but a Cezanne, she wisecracked that it had all the earmarks of a Van Gogh. [All right, if you don't understand it, it means you're not up on your biography reading.]

Most of the visitors to the Arts club galleries like "The Tennis Players."

A little girl with streaming hair is about to hit the ball, and, caught beyond the strings of her racquet, reduced as if seen through glass, is the figure of her opponent, also youthful, sturdy, concentrated.

The mysterious and moving beauty of his "The Blue Pitcher," "The Apple Tree," "The Spectacle," and other of his canvases; the depth of his reds and the strangeness of his blue-greens, arouses, in this uncritical breast, the same nostalgia reading Heine and the prose poems of Baudelaire did at 18.

Tchelichew himself, slim, tall, blond, has no eccentricities of dress or manner, is amiable, speaks excellent English, and is visiting Chicago for the first time. He has visited the Art institute, seen many of the private collections of Chicagoans, visited the Field museum and the Shedd aquarium, attended the Symphony, and in addition is doing some sketches in colored India ink in his room at the Plaza hotel. He will remain in Chicago about a week longer, then go to New York to do three portraits for his exhibition in Paris in June.

CHICAGO midweek nightlife note. A young man and his wife decided they would go to a night club Wednesday evening after the theater. Repairing to a fashionable room in one of the better hotels, they were astonished to find there was only one more couple in the room. The four of them sat at their respective tables and watched an elaborate floor show. Then the young woman called her husband's attention to a fifth spectator of the goings on. It was a mouse, standing on its hind legs, its bright and beady eyes fixed attentively on the entertainer who was singing "I Get a Kick Out of You." The song finished, the mouse scurried away and disappeared. Just then a waiter came up to say that the place really was packed on Saturday nights.

High School Chorus Group Hold Festival

BY EDWARD MOORE.

There can be little denying that the various musical competitions of the Chicago public schools are bringing results. The tenth annual competition of the senior high school choral groups at Orchestra hall last night was given the name of festival, and it deserved the title. It resulted in some of the best singing ever heard from Chicago schools, and was run off in speedy and businesslike fashion.

The fifteen finalists on the program were divided into six sections according to size and makeup. Each section sang a required song and another of its own selection. Dr. Russell V. Morgan of Cleveland, O., was the judge. His findings follow.

1. Boys' glee clubs less than 50; Marshall, directed by Mary A. Ballard, won against Farragut.

2. Girls' glee clubs less than 50; Englewood, directed by Hazel P. Steinfeldt, won against Calumet and Farragut.

3. Boys' glee club less than 300; Lane, Joseph Taylor, director, won against Lake View.

4. Girls' glee clubs less than 300: Flower, directed by Lydia F. Cleaver, and Marshall, directed by Edith M. Wines, tied for first place.

5. Mixed chorus less than 100: Lake View, Dora G. Smith, director, won against Englewood and Senn.

6. Mixed choruses over 100: Roosevelt, Erhardt Bergstrasser, director, won against Senn.

Joseph Brinkman, pianist, formerly of Chicago and now on the faculty of the music school of the University of Michigan, returned to Kimball hall to give what would seem to be his first recital since his departure from this city. He was a welcome visitor, for he used to play well when he was here, and he plays better now. A program small in numbers but large in content consisted of Franck's Prelude, Choral, and Fugue, Ravel's "Miroirs," two pieces by Chopin, and the Beethoven sonata known as the "Hammerclavier."

Mr. Brinkman has a fine, broad touch and a brilliant delivery, but more than these, he excels in musical intelligence. Each work had its own manner of interpretation, and each sounded logical, consistent, and quite in accordance with what the composer evidently intended.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. William Jarvis Gibbs of River Forest announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice, to John Darlington Huey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Matlaack Huey of West Chester, Pa. Miss Gibbs is a graduate of Miss Mason's school at Tarrytown, N. Y. Mr. Huey prepared at Hackley, Tarrytown, for Amherst.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Holloway of 2715 Payne street, Evanston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice Mary, to Robert E. Prescott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. Prescott of Freeport, Ill.

Mothers' Club of Newman Foundation to Hold Party

Celebrating the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Mothers' Club of the Newman Foundation at the University of Illinois, a benefit card party and fashion show will be held Feb. 2 in the gold room of the Congress hotel. # First Nighters Acclaim Opera by Mascagni

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MILAN, Italy, Jan. 16.—Another memorable page in operatic and musical history was written here tonight in the world famous Scala theater when 71 year old Maestro Pietro Mascagni triumphantly conducted his latest opera "Nero" through its first night performance before a brilliant audience.

It was thirty-four years ago that Mascagni rose to world-wide fame as a composer with "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Tonight's performance in Scala theater, which has a tradition of 160 years and has been notable for first night performances of Rossini, Verdi, and a host of other famous composers, is described by Mascagni's admirers as one of the great musical events of the century.

Every seat in the theater was filled when the maestro took his place at 9 o'clock and tapped for silence.

There were storms of applause at the end of each act and at the end the house was turned into a pandemonium of praise of the maestro and three interpreters, the tenor Pertilt as Nero, and Bruna Raisa and Margherita Carosoi as Acte and Eglogia.

The performance was a notable financial event as well. The house was worth 1,000,000 Italian lire, it is figured [currently $85,000].

Orchestra seats went at 500 lire [$42.50] and boxes seating six cost 2,000 lire, including taxes.

In tonight's brilliant audience, made up of the social élite of Italy and other capitals of Europe as well as of musicians and critics from all over the continent, Count Galeazzo Ciano, undersecretary of state for propaganda, represented his father-in-law, Premier Mussolini, and the Italian government. The Italian royal academy was represented by Vice President Carlo Formichi.

As a spectacle, "Nero" was sumptuously staged, reinvoking with startling realism a tavern in ancient Rome and also Nero's famous domus aurea or house of gold. The critics seemed to be impressed largely with the last act, which shows the death of Nero. They said it "reflected a new and singular aspect of Mascagni's musical fancy."

An intermezzo evoking the flight of Nero from his palace to take refuge in a cabin on Via Salaria during a storm over Rome and amid the cries of the legions of Galba comes between the third and fourth tableaux of the opera and it won the tumultuous plaudits of the house tonight.

Mascagni, who works always at night, declared that he was influenced in his present composition by owls, church bells and early morning street cleaners and that these sounds gave him the themes which are musically woven into the score.

It is expected that the new opera will be on the boards in America within a few weeks.

A critic of the newspaper Il Messaggero says of it:

"The death of Nero is treated with tragic expression. The opera takes its force from the songs of the two inamoratas of Nero, Acte and Eglogia, which are of pure inspiration. Mascagni's picturesque orchestration seems to be giving increased suggestion to words, to sentimental images and to the cries of hate and jealousy of Nero's rival loves."

The less enthusiastic critics tonight say that Mascagni's last work, which the maestro says may be his swan song, lacks the fire and originality of his earlier works, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "L'Amico Fritz."

The opera is in three acts and four tableaux with a libretto drawn from the tragedy by the Roman poet and playwright, Pietro Cossa.

Lord Byng Asks Mae West to Jubilee of King George

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Mae West was invited to the jubilee celebration of King George V. in London, over the teacups at Paramount studio here today by Lord Byng, British hero of Vimy Ridge. The actress entertained Lord and Lady Byng at tea on the set of her picture, and was in her usual "good form," saying, "Have another cup, dearie," to his lordship and "Two lumps, darling," to her ladyship.

Good Morning!

Away back in the dark ages when bustles rustled, ladies who wore rouge were referred to in awful tones as "painted women" and any young man who dared to carry a tennis racquet or wear "ice cream trousers" was hooted down as a sissy by the neighborhood kids, putting on a show was, apparently, just as much grief as it is today.

And now the truth's out! "Sweet Adeline," adapted from the Kern-Hammerstein stage success of several years ago, is back stage stuff, dated in the '90s. Its heroine [Irene Dunne] is a beer garden singer. Its hero [Donald Woods] is a young librettist. The villian [Louis Calhern] is a dashing army recruiter. Villainess [Winifred Shaw]—a spy posing as an actress. The comedians are an "angel" [Hugh Herbert], a producer [Ned Sparks], and Adeline's papa, the beer garden owner, [Joseph Cawthorn]. Comedienne, the sister of the heroine, [Nydia Westman].

We meet all the principals in the beer garden. Papa Schmidt has "wedding bell in his eyes" every time he spots Adeline and Major Day together. The librettist—"song plugger," according to Papa—he hates with a good, healthy hate, and orders the youth to leave his place and to be seen there no more. . . .

BUT—

Angel Rockingham and Producer Herzig, sitting at a table, beckon the lad over. Sid is told that his operetta has been accepted and will be put on with Elysia, also very much present in a dark, Spanish way, in the lead. Elysia, you gather, is the irresistible force who has persuaded Mr. Rockingham to try his wings on Broadway. "AH—but I wrote those songs for ADELINE!" chitters young Sid.

. . . Of course, in due time, Addie gets to sing them—and, so forth to a blissful ending. . . .

I've been told that the story of the original "Sweet Adeline" has been greatly changed in transit from stage to screen, and not improved thereby. Well, be that as may—the picture version is clean and entertaining. It's a bit slowly paced but the charming music and the neat work of the cast make this fact but a minor irritation.

Miss Dunne renders pleasantly the songs which started Helen Morgan up the ladder of success. She's no torch singer and never will be one. Both voice and personality are too cool. But she IS a delightful woman, both to look at and listen to.

Louis Calhern plays the Major, with tongue in cheek. His slight, but unmistakable burlesquing of the rôle, I thought clever. Hugh Herbert—technique's a bit like Charles Butterworth's, don't you think?—is a joy as the "angel"—and the audience laughs spontaneously whenever either his phiz or the dour, owl-eyed, cigar-punctuated visage of Ned Sparks heaves into view. Joseph Cawthorn scores as Papa Schmidt. AND—I know you'll want to know more about the chap who plays opposite Adeline in the show—sings opposite her, rather. He has a way, and a captivating voice with him, that make his couple of brief appearances electric—and too brief. Phil Regan is the name.

For Donald Woods I cared not at all. Glowering, sputtering, moping, are about all his rôle calls for, so it and not he should be blamed for his not registering.

Dialog's quite pat and, in places, most amusing. You'll like the costumes and staging. [Always supposing, you're not fed up with old-fashioned stuff.]

That dear old mauve decade!
That dear, dead [?] mauve decade!
When plump Maewestians done 'em wrong
When Adelines drove men to song;
When waists were small and coiffures tall
And bands all played "After the Ball"—
Is having resurrection day.
Old doin's, done the same old way,
Have risen from the grave of years
To rouse our laughter and our tears.
The stage and screen, its trumpet-eers,
Twin Gabriels, which one really fears
[Fears—if, indeed one really keers],
Will toot the '90s back so MUCH
That with us they will get in Dutch.
And prayers like this un will be prayed:
"For Pete's sake SKIP the mauve decade!"

See you soon!

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

A new oatmeal soap that is more than kind to dry, sallow skins claims the attention of the modern miss who chooses her soap with care.

If you're at all appreciative of the virtues of plain, old fashioned oatmeal as a beautifier you'll be as excited as we are about the arrival on the beauty market of an honest to goodness oatmeal soap. It's one of the soundest inspirations the powers that be in the beauty world have had for a long time.

You know about oatmeal as a beauty aid, don't you? When grandma was a girl she used to sneak some from the family rations with which to give herself a little treatment—and the old timers will tell you that she was no slouch when it came to the gardenia complexion. Oatmeal earned its medals as one of the mildest of bleaches and the best of mediums for keeping skin soft and smooth generations ago.

Grandma would have loved this oatmeal soap—and if we're any judge her daughters and granddaughters will. It's like an answer to a prayer for possessors of the dry, sallow sort of skin—the kind that always looks faintly stained and is inevitably crinkly and parched. As a soap it's beautifully bland—and the presence of the oatmeal just adds to its merits.

This soap is unpretentious; if you're looking for fancy perfume or ribbons or wrappings this isn't your dish. It's just a good—an excellent—oatmeal soap with the actual flakes of the cereal mixed right into it, dotting its white surface like freckles on a small boy's face.

We'd consider this an especially good soap for adolescent skins and there are other points which will recommend it to the feminine heads of large households filled with small people who have a genius for getting grimy and who must wash or be washed a dozen times a day. It's as inexpensive as any one could wish and while it creates a rich lather and is rather creamy when wet a bar lasts for ages.

Roosevelts Eat Out Only Time in Year; Garners Are Hosts

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt were the guests tonight of the Vice President and Mrs. Garner at the only state dinner they will attend this season.

Cabinet members and their wives, with the exception only of Secretary Swanson, whose health does not as yet permit acceptance of dinner invitations, were the "next ranking guests" at tonight's dinner, which was given in the rose room of the Washington hotel and followed by an entertainment arranged by Gene Buck.

Will Rogers, who was the star attraction of the Vice President's dinner last year, was a guest tonight, and again contributed to the gayety of the occasion.

Tonight's entertainment was given by Miss Hallie Stiles, who sang, among other numbers, the aria from Louise, "Touch of Your Hand" and "Homing"; the Ionian quartet, which contributed a program of chamber music, and by Cardini, magician.

Glory of Fair Lives Again in Art Exhibition

Hold Preview of 25 Paintings by Eight Artists.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The perpetuation on canvas of the famous lighting effects of the 1934 World's Fair was viewed by some 300 Chicagoans yesterday at a preview of 25 "scenes of A Century of Progress" paintings in the galleries of the Chicago Lighting institute, 20 North Wacker drive.

The preview, held through the courtesy of the Groh associates, group sponsoring the work, contains pictures from the brushes of eight prominent artists, all of whom experiment with the effect of lighting on artistic materials, upholding the theory of Groh associates that light soon will occupy a predominant place in the field of art.

Chicagoans who loved their Fair loved it most by night, when giant beams of colored lights crossed in the sky, when iridescent fountains played in every court and lagoon, when prismatic pyrotechnics flashed into the clouds, and it is this picture of the Fair which is preserved in this collection.

"Finger of Light" is, for instance, the title of a bold piece by Edward T. Grigware which depicts the giant thermometer. Here it is painted snowy white against a deepening sky, its startling streak of red heat rising to the 90 mark. In the distance twinkle the lights of Swift bridge, its lights that are reflected on the leaves of typically Grigware trees.

Or take "Ramp and Rain" by Tunis Ponsen, a picture of swarms of Fairgoers crossing the green ramp at the Twenty-third street entrance. Dusk is falling, the rain is so thick that one can almost feel it and the people are rushing to get into the grounds.

"And Should I Live a Thousand Years I Should Never Forget It" is the title given by Rudolph Ingerle to his painting of the grand fountain in the lagoon as its giant dome of colored froth plays at night. Overhead cross colored shafts of lights, and at one side passenger-filled lagoon boats watch its play.

Everywhere, in all of the paintings, are caught significant features of the 1934 Exposition. Carl Pruessel paints Byrd's ship riding at anchor in the lagoon, its skeleton masts standing out against the pale background of the Sky Ride. Elmer Forsberg paints "Women on Parade," a rhythmic colorful memory of Ladies' day at the Fair, showing martial women, capped and caped, striding across Swift bridge.

Otto Hake paints the Midget City by night, with, standing high above its minutiæ, the giant of the village holding the smallest dwarf in his hand. Otto Koch paints the mirrowed reflection of the electrical buildings' lights in the lagoon waters. Victor Poole paints the motley throng of Elizabethans gathered in the shadows of Church Square in Merrie England.

RED STEFAN

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH.

SYNOPSIS.

Stephen Enderby, an Englishman, had lived as a boy on the Russian estate of his stepfather, and grew up with the large brood of children of a peasant family. When his mother died he went to live with his guardian in England. After the revolution in Russia, as Stefan Ivanovitch, he became a "secret observer" for England, adopting various peasant rôles to hide his identity. Now Stephen has inherited the fortune of his guardian and wants to quit his hazardous work. He is escaping out of Tronsk when he meets and rescues Elizabeth Radin, the widow of an executed engineer. Though English her husband was half Russian. She is flying from the advances of Commissar Petroff, who is also after a secret formula of her husband's. Stephen takes her with him and tells her his history. They stop at the home of the grandparents of the peasant children Stephen had grown up with, who believe Stephen to be one of their many grandchildren. Stephen tells them Elizabeth is his wife and her name is Varvara. Irina, a beautiful communist, wanted Stephen herself and resents Elizabeth. Scenting danger, Stephen departs with Elizabeth for the border, stopping en route at Tronsk, where they are overtaken by Petroff and Irina. Stephen plans to outwit them by denouncing Elizabeth, claiming he never suspected her identity until she began to talk in her sleep. Petroff believes his story, as does Irina. Elizabeth is put in prison, thinking Stephen has turned against her. She is called before Petroff. Stephen is with him. Petroff dismisses all officers, wanting to do all the police business himself and keep Elizabeth. Then Stephen knocks him cold and ties him up. Stephen disguises himself and Elizabeth and they slip out of the window.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

TO THE FRONTIER.

Elizabeth let go of the sill and slid down with the sliding snow. She slid quite gently because of the rope, but when her feet found the gutter she had a sick moment of fear, because now she would have to swing out over the edge and hang dangling like a spider on a thread. Some one might look out of the window below and see her. Some one might look out of any other back window and see her. The knotted strips might loosen or fray against the edge of the roof.

She lowered herself by her hands. They were so cold from the snow that as soon as her weight came upon them they lost their hold. She caught at the rope, spun giddily for a moment, and then came safely down upon the snow of the yard.

Stephen was after her in no time and they were running for the gate. It opened on a narrow alley way, which they followed to a street of tall, dark houses.

"Where are we going?" said Elizabeth in a breathless whisper.

"To the station. We've made Tronsk a bit too hot to hold us."

Fear of the station surged up in Elizabeth. She had a picture of it in her mind as a wind swept place beneath relentless arc lamps where the police of the G. P. U. scanned every passenger.

Stephen pressed her arm encouragingly.

"Don't worry—we'll get away before any one finds Petroff. We shall probably catch something that was due an hour or two ago. They don't worry about timetables in Russia. If it was summer, when every one is traveling, we might have to wait a day or two to get into a train. It won't be as bad as that now, and we can thank all our stars they haven't got their internal passport system going yet."

Elizabeth drew away from him in the dark.

"What's the matter?"

She did not speak. She was tired, and bewildered, and afraid, and she could take no comfort from Stephen, who had comforted her before. She was full of a cold gray anger which seemed to be soaking into her mind like sleety rain. A hot anger would have warmed her, but this cold resentment chilled her to the marrow.

Stephen slipped his hand through her arm.

"What's the matter?" he said again, and felt her draw sharply away. "Are you angry?"

"O, no," said Elizabeth in a desolate voice.

"That means 'O, yes,'" said Stephen. "I knew you were angry when you pulled your arm away. I won't touch you again, but you'd better tell me what I've done. It's going to be very difficult escaping with some one who is hating me like poison."

"I don't."

"I hope you don't. You sounded awfully like it just now. What have I done?"

The cold anger became suddenly hot. It loosened Elizabeth's tongue.

"Why did you ask Irina if she would be alone tonight?"

"Because I had to get rid of her, of course. You didn't think I was going, did you?"

"O, no," said Elizabeth, wearily—"I knew you weren't going. But Irina didn't. She'll sit there and wait for you to come. That's what I hate."

"Do you want me to call on Irina?" said Stephen. "I will if you like. We shall miss our train, but that won't matter, because you'll have been arrested again. They won't put you in the civil prison this time, and it'll end in our both being shot, but of course any of that would be better than keeping Irina waiting."

He spoke in a low matter of fact tone, but it came to her that he was angry, too. For some obscure reason this made her feel a great deal better.

"You played on her being fond of you," she said.

"I had to get her to go away, hadn't I? I've told you already that I've never made love to Irina in my life. If I've played a trick on her, she has only herself to thank. She's asked for it. When you fainted she laughed. Do you think I care what she feels or doesn't feel after that?" He caught her arm and tucked it under his. "For heaven's sake be practical! You can't quarrel with me now, because there isn't time. Wait till we're over the frontier."

He felt her quickened breathing. The frontier. . . . Would they ever reach it? It seemed, like the line of the horizon, a distant goal which with every step receded instead of drawing near. No man ever reached the horizon, just as no man ever touched the rainbow's end. To Elizabeth the frontier seemed as unattainable. This time she did not draw her arm away. Instead she said, very low:

"Shall we get there?" and at once was being scolded.

"Not if you talk like that—not if you even think like that. You'll never make a success of anything if you let yourself think about failing. Now I know that I'm going to get you over the frontier. I knew it the very first moment I saw you on the bridge. I could have picked you up and carried you over the frontier then and there. I've never had the slightest doubt about getting you away. I wish you'd clamp on to that instead of letting yourself get angry and afraid, and things like that. I'd rather you were angry than afraid."

Elizabeth was not angry any more, neither was she afraid. She was only tired.

They turned into the station approach.

"Now," said Stephen, "this is all going to be quite easy. Petroff wouldn't know you if he met you face to face." He dived into his pocket and brought out a hunk of black bread. "I want you to keep munching away at this till the train starts. Make it last if you can. I want you to keep a good wedge of it in your cheek, then if any one speaks to you, you can just mumble through it as if you'd got your mouth full. It's one of the best ways of disguising one's voice. I don't want to be seen with you on the platform, but I'll get the tickets. Don't appear to be hiding or anything like that. Keep near any one else who is waiting and do as they do. Now you stay here till you see me come out on the platform, and then just trickle through unobtrusively."

The next hour seemed to Elizabeth the longest hour of her life. There was a shelter into which the half dozen people who were waiting for the train had crowded. Four of them were members of a peasant family consisting of an old grandmother, her son and daughter-in-law, and a girl of about 16. They sat on the bench surrounded by bundles. The girl of 16 was the only cheerful one of the party. She spoke to Elizabeth, asking her when she thought the train would come. At the mumbled reply she giggled and began to roll her eyes at a young man who sat at the end of the bench. He wore a collar and tie, and might have been a clerk. After a little while he changed his place and sat next to the girl.

Presently Stephen came into the shelter. He stood near Elizabeth for a moment, and when he moved away her ticket was lying in her lap.

The peasant girl nudged the young man she had been flirting with.

"That's what I call a proper man—don't you? Look at his shoulders! He could break you with one hand. What a pity he limps. Perhaps he has been a soldier. Shall I ask him? Soldiers are always ready to talk."

Elizabeth watched Stephen as he walked away. He dropped one shoulder a little and halted on his left foot. A stranger who saw him would remember a man with a limp. He talked for a while to one of the G. P. U. police and then walked on again.

GASOLINE ALLEY—SOUNDS FAMILIAR

Secure Child's Confidence When Young

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"But she doesn't confide in me, and it worries me, now that she's older and going out so much," one mother was telling another. "I really feel as if I don't know anything about her."

Many parents have just this sense of being shut out from the thoughts and feelings and doings of their teen-age boys and girls.

Yet I wonder how many of them look back to the earlier years to see whether then their children were close to them and took them behind the barrier which the average child erects against the casual person. I wonder if, in the early years, they were always ready to listen—really to listen—and to try to understand.

The line of communication between a parent and child is not easily opened after adolescence arrives—perhaps less easily than at any other time.

The teens are a time for new reticence to grow up even in the most satisfactory family relationship—reticence due to new physical and emotional experiences only slightly understood by the child himself. How much more difficult then to attempt to establish a truly friendly, confidential relationship during the teens, when there has been none before. I suppose it can be or has been done—but it is not easy.

The early years, when you baby begins to be a little child, then turns into a growing boy or girl, are the time to establish a warm understanding with your son or daughter. Kept intact through the early years it will hold through adolescence provided you bring your delicacy and tact into full play at that time, and are willing to cease treating your maturing son or daughter as a child.

organized charities throughout the year. "Snow White," the only production so far this winter of the Junior League's Children's theater, is now in rehersal with the 21 members of the cast reporting early every day except Saturday and Sunday at the Harris or Selwyn theaters.

Mrs. Cudahy and Mrs. Stearns know that the children whom the Visiting Nurse association helps will enjoy Mrs. Robert M. Hoffman Jr. as Snow White, the little princess with hair as black as ebony, skin as white as snow, and lips as red as blood. This is the reason they are taking 30 of these boys and girls to the opening performance a week from Saturday. At the third performance the morning of Feb. 9 Mrs. Dewey will be playing hostess to 20 more of the Visiting Nurse children.

On Feb. 2 Mrs. Borland is indirectly giving a large party for she has taken a block of seats that the league is in turn giving to boys and girls from Emerson house that they may see "Snow White."

Crowded Calendar for Society Today.

There is a diversified enough calendar of events today to suit most any taste, whether it is literary, artistic, musical, or merely lightsome. Of literary importance is the luncheon the distinguished guest committee of the Chicago Woman's club is having at 12:30 for Pearl Buck, author of "The Good Earth."

In keeping with Miss Buck's Chinese travels and study, the club has arranged for a special collection of oriental "objets d'art" and the Chinese consul general, Robert R. Kuh, will have a place at the speakers' table. Mrs. Frederic D. Porter, as chairman of the distinguished guest committee, will preside, while other special guests will include Mrs. Ozora S. David, the club president; Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Miss Clara Laughlin, Miss Fanny Butcher, Mrs. Ethel C. Brazelton, and Sterling North.

Nearby, this noon at the Blackstone hotel, the Dearborn Seminary Alumnae association will be holding its 54th annual reunion. After luncheon a graduate of the seminary, Mrs. Alexander Hodgart, will give an illustrated lecture entitled, "Alone in the South Seas."

From all indications the bridge parties Mrs. Jacob Baur is sponsoring this afternoon and evening in the gold room of the Congress hotel for the sake of the Women's National Republican club will be a huge success. All bridge enthusiasts are welcome and tickets will be available at the door.

Ely Culbertson will lecture at 2:30 and again at 8:30 this evening. Mrs. Baur is entertaining for Mr. Culbertson at dinner tonight at her home while Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever will have him for luncheon before the afternoon session.

Mrs. Frederic Upham to Give Luncheon.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham is having another luncheon and taking her guests on for an afternoon of bridge. This evening Mrs. Harry H. Shearson, Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf will have dinner parties at home before going to the Congress.

At noon today at the Casino the Woman's Faculty club of Northwestern university will have a luncheon. The committee in charge of the Showboat benefit the Chicago Nursery and Half Orphan asylum is to have Feb. 1 will meet for luncheon at 1 o'clock on the Showboat anchored in the north branch of the Chicago river at Diversey parkway. Miss Jane Morton is chairman of this committee.

After hearing Stravinsky conduct the Chicago Symphony orchestra this afternoon in Orchestra hall many society folk will stop by the Robert Breckenridge gallery at 908 North Michigan avenue for the tea that is to mark the opening of Cyraa Cutter Beckw[illegible]h's delightful sculptures.

Da[illegible]e and Diane are the names of the twin daughters born to Mr. and Mrs. John D. C. Towne on Monday in New York City. The two tiny ladies made their appearance at the Harkness pavilion of the New York Medical center, and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, who came from New York yesterday, brings the report that they are doing splendidly.

Before her marriage Mrs. Towne was Dorothy Vilas. She and her husband moved east about three years ago and are now living at 151 East 83d street. Mrs. Sudler has been on a cruise to the West Indies with Mr. Sudler, but she tarried in the east for a visit with her cousin, Charles Hickox.

Easy Pattern for Amateur

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Here is a dress that will appeal to the amateur as well as to the expert sewer. It's an easily made one piece dress, with inverted tucks that give an easy fit through the waistline. The material used for the original dress was a lovely printed rough silk crêpe in an almond green. Plain brown crêpe made the scarf tie. You can wear this kind of dress now and right through the spring.

The pattern, No. 2747, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure.

Magazine Cover Artist Says Charm Lies in Beholder's Eye

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I asked McClelland Barclay, famous artist and magazine cover girl creator, about women and charm. Just what is it that makes the charming woman charming was what I wanted to find out from a man.

"Well," answered the celebrated artist, "there's an infinite variety of appeal. It depends upon the man a good deal, too. One man's response might be entirely to the physical appeal. He wouldn't be charmed with the mental type of woman. Nor would the man who liked to meet an intelligent response be hypnotized by the one with nothing but physical appeal.

Beauty, I learned from the artist, is not nearly the imperative quality popularly believed. Some of the greatest charmers the world has known, Mr. Barclay reminded, have not been beauties. Sarah Bernhardt was recalled as a woman of tremendous charm, but without a beauty reputation. Even Cleopatra was offered as one whose charm far exceeded her beauty of face. Katharine Cornell, the actress, is presented as a woman of infinite charm.

Asked to name screen women who best represented the appeal known as charm, Mr. Barclay appointed Norma Shearer and Ann Harding as outstanding exponents, Miss Shearer because of her smartness and the intelligence her looks and manner portray; Ann Harding for her womanliness and sweetness.

Miss Harding's appeal has nothing to do with sex, Mr. Barclay says. She represents the type men think of as the revered mother of children. For exciting charm, the type one would include, say, on a house party occasion, Claudette Colbert gets the appointment.

About a certain colorful screen person whose charm is controversial, Mr. Barclay admitted that if he were a truck driver he'd probably vote for her. Proving, at least, that charm is not an inflexible thing. Perhaps something more in the eye of the beholder than in the woman.

BY MARY MEADE.

Watta life! Not only is papa playing with all of junior's Christmas toys, but mamma, and the whole family for that matter, is now eating up baby's homogenized prunes!

For which we simply refuse to blame them. For "pune pup," as I used to articulate it in my babyhood, no longer has to be smashed and worried out of the bottom part of a strainer, but can be extracted from neat little cans, all ready for use not only as infant food but in all sorts of grown-up dishes. The latest temptation we've met down this alley is:

PRUNE WHIP WITH FOAMY SAUCE.

1 can homogenized prunes
¼ cup sugar
5 egg whites, beaten stiff
½ tablespoon lemon juice

Combine the sugar and the prune pulp and heat for five minutes. Cool and add the lemon juice. Fold the stiff beaten egg whites into the prune mixture and pile into a buttered baking dish, baking in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) until the egg white is "set," about thirty-five minutes. Serve with the following foamy sauce:

FOAMY SAUCE FOR PRUNE WHIP.

2 tablespoons butter
½ cup powdered sugar
2 eggs, separated
Dash of salt
3 tablespoons boiling water
Sherry flavoring or lemon extract

Cream the butter and sugar together until fluffy. Add the well beaten egg yolks, stirring well. Fold in the stiff beaten egg whites. Add the hot water and cook in a double boiler over boiling water until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool and add flavoring to taste.

And now for a cookery tip which won't upset anybody's baby schedule. Are Sunday breakfasts at your house a bugaboo and a brain fag? One of the brightest ways I've lately unearthed of pepping up crisp winter morning repasts is with Apricot Nut Bread. The only trouble with it is that it doesn't keep well—it's gobbled up before it has a chance to start! This fruity loaf may be served hot from the oven—then served again the next day as crispy, butter topped toast.

APRICOT NUT BREAD.

1½ cups dried apricots
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup juice from stewed apricots
½ cup irradiated evaporated milk
2¾ cups flour, sifted
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nuts

Wash the apricots through several waters, then cover with hot water and boil for five minutes. Drain, keeping the juices. Chop the fruit. Cream together the shortening and the sugar until fluffy. Stir in the well beaten egg, then add the chopped apricots, the one-half cup of apricot juice, and the evaporated milk. Sift together the flour, salt, and baking powder, stirring these gradually into the first mixture. Add the nuts and turn into a large greased bread pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

A VERY DIFFICULT HAND TO BID.

As you know, our procedure after three bids is largely based on the relative rankings of the suits. In most cases this treatment serves very adroitly. However, it is possible for this factor to be dead against you.

| | |
|---|---|
| Ht. A K Q J x x x | Cl. A Q J |

If the void were in spades and the A Q x were in diamonds, everything would be very easy and the hand would be errorproof. As it is, the bidding of the hand is extremely awkward. On the one hand, the possession by partner of the king of spades will remove two losers, whereas the club king would only remove one. As against this, if partner lacks the king of clubs, it is impossible to find out about the king of spades with safety. Of course, if you are an incurable optimist, you may say to yourself: "I will bid three hearts; partner will say three no trumps; I will probe in clubs; he will hold both black kings and reply with four spades. Then I can bid seven hearts." True; also, there will be no trouble if he has the king of clubs but not the king of spades. Three hearts, three no trumps, four clubs, five clubs [denying the spade], five hearts—an easy and safe signoff. Knowledge that you can get into dummy by means of the club king would permit you to gamble a small slam on the success of a finesse in spades if you were in good form and cared to do so. Or, again, if it goes three hearts, four diamonds, four hearts, now your partner should bid four no trumps if he holds both unbid kings. However, the fact is that to give you a small slam, you need just one specific card—the king of spades, which is the key to the hand. If he has that card without the king of clubs, how can you find it out without endangering your sure game in case he must deny this particular one out of thirty-nine cards? If he lacks the king of clubs, a probe in spades can only be answered at the level of five. The king of clubs is the key to the safe bidding of the hand, though the king of spades is the key to its play.

The Other Alternative.

Frankly, I am not certain which is the best treatment for this hand. I have explained the possibilities if you make an opening three bid. There is another alternative—to make an opening two bid. I think that I personally would choose this treatment, though I do not lay down the law on it or say that it is necessarily the better tool to select. By opening with a two bid I am enabling my partner possibly to make a natural response, which is really what we need here. Let us try to plot our moves in advance. I bid two hearts. The response is:

[a] Two no trumps. Three hearts by me, three no trumps or four hearts. Now I resign myself to playing at four hearts.

[b] Three diamonds, the most likely response. Three hearts, hoping he can bid a second suit. I would, if so, slam in his second suit as, if hearts were trumps, I could probably not get to his hand to finesse in that black suit, of which he may well lack the king. If he had the ace of diamonds and his black suit, which I had jumped to six, were headed by the K J or even K 10, he could well bid seven. He does not know I am void of diamonds, but he knows my rebid hearts are pretty solid and will give him discards of his losers.

[c] Three spades or three clubs. Now I know he has a five-card suit headed by the king [I have both queens myself] or a six-card suit. I will bid seven in his suit in rubber play, knowing that if he has x x x x x x he will have a finesse and drop for it; if K J x x x or K 10 x x x, or K x x x x x, it is a laydown. In duplicate, I might gamble on its being a five-card suit, and therefore headed by the king, and bid seven hearts, for the honor.

[d] Three no trumps. This is a natural response, showing two entries in high cards. One is likely to be a black king. I bid four diamonds, an irregular bid which he cannot read as a cue; he will read cue for the ace unless he has it. He must bid again, as we are still below game. If he does not raise diamonds, my next bid is seven hearts, gambling on his having both black kings, or one of them and a finesse. The opening lead should help. If he raises diamonds, I bid six hearts; if he goes seven diamonds, as is quite probable now, I go seven hearts and say a prayer.

These are the two possible treatments to select from. I have given you the methods. Do your own thinking in difficult situations. It's lots of fun.

Wooden Toys Are the Inspiration of Unique Quilt

Jack's Blocks.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Jack's Blocks" is a pattern not more than 15 years old, but its source of inspiration is unique. Wooden toys were instrumental in the creation of the design, even to the color scheme. The blocks were orange, blue, and yellow. In the quilt design, white was substituted for yellow with delightful results. A band of solid color may be applied between the pieced blocks, or they may be set together, block to block, to form a continuous pattern.

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Right Garment for Foundation Key to Fashion

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All pessimists take note—the younger set are giving their parent and big sister a good run on a lot of important things. We sat on the sidelines of a high school fashion show the other day and were our eyes opened! These delightfully slim youngsters walk better, stand straighter, and achieve lots more dash than the campus clothes collectors. It's one of the surprises of the season.

After delving about like a Mrs. Sherlock Holmes we discovered the reason. These knowing youngsters are wearing proper foundation wear. Hardly one of them were without these modern miracles of satin rubber lastex, ingeniously designed girdles, and all-togethers. Not a bone in any of these 1935 models, just the minimum of smooth satin silk or combination weaves of lastex and some other material.

Some new creations that ought to interest every one are the "finds" of lace lastex in flesh, black and white. Three designs are available, the short, cleverly designed panties with four garters, the combination affairs of brassiere and panties, and the very brief panties or shorts without garters.

They are the smoothest trifles in town. You can wear them under your most form fitting dance dress or formal satin evening gown and nary a bulge or wrinkle.

Off the figure they are the smallest bits of body control you can buy. The delicate patterns of lace make them decorative enough to suit the most demanding soul, and on, they keep your streamline in flawless formation.

OUST THAT COLD

—Roots and All—Give It No Chance to Sprout Anew!

Take no cold lightly! The so-called "common cold" is often the start of more serious trouble—flu and pneumonia, for example.

Treat a cold to rout it, not merely to subdue it!

Depend on no half-way measures. A cold, being an internal infection, must be got at from the inside.

Expressly For Colds!

It is also internal treatment and of four important effects.

First, Bromo Quinine opens the bowels, a desirable step in the treatment of colds.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

The Action Called For

These are the four effects a cold calls for and anything less may be taking chances.

Be wise—play safe! The moment you feel a cold coming on, go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Begin taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours.

Promptly used, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours. That's the speed of action you want.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Ask for, and insist upon, Grove's Bromo Quinine. The cost is small, but the stake is large.

WHAT EVERY ACTRESS KNOWS

The woman who has to "take it easy" or even to "favor herself" one or more days of the month, has no place on the stage! Actresses who have a difficult time just rely on Midol. So should all women having any periodic pain. Midol takes care of the "regular" pain, and spares you a lot.

Why not have the comfort of Midol? It acts fast, is effective for several hours, but it's not a narcotic. It is a special medicine, for this special purpose, and specialists can tell you how well it works! You'll see it on the druggist's counter—or just ask for Midol. Today, so that you will be prepared!

Try it MIDOL free!

Midol definitely relieves periodic pain, and you may have some free, to prove it. Just send this coupon to MIDOL, 170 Varick St., New York. 27

Guard Against COLDS

In the winter almost everyone needs an extra supply of Vitamin-A—the infection preventing vitamin . . . also Vitamin-D—the bone-building, tooth-protecting vitamin—the element nature skimped on in foods. Now you can get both Vitamin-A and Vitamin-D, extracted from nature's richest source—cod liver oil—concentrated in tiny "pearl-like" gelatin capsules . . . I. V. C. PEARLS. They are tasteless, and therefore easily taken by both adults and children. Made under U. S. patent No. 1,690,091.

Value Plus

Is the Byword of Every One of These

Sixteen Carson Events

Presented in Connection With State Street Dollar Day

We didn't want to limit your choice on this great day of savings to values that could come within the "dollar" limit—so we have rallied "specials" from all over the store, admitting to this group of events only those that could claim to give "value plus." Every item on the page is dependable Carson quality and every one is presented at a price substantially below what it would ordinarily sell for. Whatever you are in need of, from a new pair of shoes to a hand-tufted candlewick bedspread, now's the time to get it if you have your budget's interests at heart.

Fabric gloves on sale! These imported gloves are usually higher priced. Eight decorative styles with embroidered cuffs, applique, stitching, and buttons. Some are single woven, others double woven. In the group, black, brown, beaver, beige, and gray; pair, 58c

Stationery, First Floor.

Stemware— goblets, ice-tea glasses, sherbets, finger bowls, fruit or cereal dishes and salad plates at a price so obviously special that we believe we need not stress the extraordinary value. There's a clear white brilliance to the glass and the pattern is charmingly quaint. Price for each piece, 15c

Glassware—Seventh Floor.

Grenweave wear-tested chiffon silk hosiery at a very special price. It's famous for its astonishing strength. Yet with its sterling character it has a flattering sheer clearness. It proves that fragile looking hosiery can endure. Pair, 88c

Hosiery, First Floor.

Boys' shirts underpriced for today's selling event. All are brand new in the attractive patterns and colors that boys choose and mothers approve. Both junior sizes in ages 8 to 14 and youths' sizes 13 to 14½ neck. Buy a supply today. You can't go wrong on this item. Each, $1

Boys' Room, Fifth Floor.

17 piece sets for breakfast or luncheon in gay colored novelty crash. Sets include one center runner, eight oblong doilies and eight napkins. The edges are fringed and sewn to assure extra long wear. Here is an inexpensive way to add color to your table. The set, $1.95

Linens, Second Floor.

Waffle pique collar sets just off the griddle at this special price, and Vogue says waffle pique is specially new. Four charming styles—ascots, double collars, high round necklines, bibs. White, pink, and blue. Two other styles in organdy with ascot or bow. $1

Neckwear, First Floor.

Sale! 1300 Pairs of Spring Shoes $5.95 pr.

"I'll meet you in Carson's Shoe Section for a 1935 spree." Spree, no, not when you can buy a new pair of spring shoes at this low price. Spree, yes, when you consider the fun of owning new spring shoes and choosing them from Carson's huge selection. Stunning new styles in tree bark or kid. Note the new accents—patent leather interlacings, stitchings, perforations, braidings, and light underlays.

Shoes, Third Floor.

Silver plated flatware in the charming Carlton pattern. Teaspoons, dessert spoons, dinner forks, individual salad forks, oyster forks, butter spreaders, stainless steel knives, butter knives, sugar spoons, table spoons, soup spoons, iced tea spoons, bouillon spoons, large serving spoons, gravy ladles, cold meat forks. 19c each piece. Choose any 6 pieces for $1

Silverware, First Floor.

Hand-tufted candlewick bedspreads as elaborately worked as these are seldom found at this very low price. That's why this is such an outstanding value. Single or double bed size in harmonizing shades of green, old rose, gold, dark red, dark blue, peach, brown, orchid and all white. $3.95

Bedspreads, Second Floor.

Handkerchiefs of linen are most unusual at this price. You'll find a fine selection of classic styles that smart women like best. White linen with ½ and 1 in. hemstitched hems. Also 1/16 in. hemstitching with inside spoking. Very specially priced, each, 10c

Handkerchiefs, First Floor.

Bedding—Sixth Floor.

Lace trimmed slip of a lovely quality pure dye crepe de Chine. In the slim fitting, bias cut, molded style which has proven so satisfactory. The imported lace edges the bottom as well as trims the top. At this low price you'll surely want more than one. Special! $1.85

Lingerie, Third Floor.

Imported seersuckers in a firm, close weave that will win the blue ribbon this year. Patterned in exciting new plaids and stripes. Color combinations with blue, green, brown, and maize predominating. All are a yard wide. Buy now for children's frocks and your own summer needs. Yard, 48c

LOTT, STOEFEN REAP $6,133 IN WEEK AS PROS

Tennis Troupe Still Behind '34 Figures.

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—With fame behind them and fortune as their goal, George M. Lott Jr. and Lester R. Stoefen, latest recruits to professional tennis, earned slightly more than $6,000 each in their first week as play-for-pay racquet wielders.

While Lott and Stoefen and their barnstorming partners, Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines took things easy today in New Haven before appearing there in an exhibition tomorrow night, Promoter Bill O'Brien announced that the gross receipts thus far of the three months' tour which opened in Madison Square Garden here a week ago amounted to $49,069.52.

$6,133 for Six Exhibitions.

Lott and Stoefen quit the amateur ranks last fall, signing contracts with O'Brien for cuts in the gross receipts amounting to 12½ per cent each. At that rate last year's world doubles champions have realized $6,133 each from six eastern exhibitions. Vines' share is reported to be 20 per cent, while O'Brien and Tilden, partners in a promotion concern, split the remainder.

At its present rate of drawing power the tour is approximately 20 per cent behind the income received from the first week of the 1934 barnstorming campaign, which featured Vines' debut as a professional, and included the Frenchmen, Henri Cochet and Martin Plaa, along with Tilden. For the corresponding period a year ago gross receipts were $62,347.

Troupe Trails in Attendance.

Although O'Brien could not recall the 1934 attendance figures for the opening week, he said this year's troupe was also trailing in that respect, having played to 35,800 in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh, and Providence.

Forty per cent of the total attendance witnessed Lott and Stoefen's debut in New York last Wednesday night and paid half of the sum already taken in on the tour. The attendance was 16,000 and the receipts were $24,682

"We are doing approximately 80 per cent of last year's business," said O'Brien. "Our total in 1934 was $243,000 and I expect this year we will reap close to $200,000."

After the engagement in New Haven tomorrow night the tour swings westward and O'Brien anticipates a large turnout in Chicago, Lott's home town on Jan. 26.

DEFENDS PAY FOR MOVIES

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Making no secret of the fact that the move is designed to keep Fred Perry and Bunny Austin in the amateur fold, Herbert Roper Barrett, captain of the British Davis cup team, today defended the British Lawn Tennis association's effort to make life simpler for court stars by permitting them to be paid for educational motion picture action films.

Simultaneously Barrett expressed keen disappointment over the failure of Walter Merrill Hall, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association, to "mount the band wagon" and join England and Czechoslovakia in a move to abrogate the International Lawn Tennis federation rule prohibiting amateurs from receiving pecuniary gain for appearing in action films.

Predicts Move Would Hurt Pros.

Whereas it always has been customary for amateur officials to profess nothing but rare good will toward professional barnstormers like William [Big Bill] Tilden and Ellsworth Vines, Barrett not only admitted he doesn't like them, but predicted that the move he fostered at last Monday's meeting of the B. L. T. A. would "cut the ground from under them."

Admitting that the objective of indorsing the movement started by the Czechosolvakian association was to keep Perry and Austin, England's Davis cup stars, amateurs, Barrett said:

"Every one should realize that if they turned professional it would open the flood gates and leave the amateur game in a precarious position. We must remember we are living in 1935 and not 1905 and be prepared to make concessions to progress.

Not Opposed to Teachers.

"We are not in the least opposed to the regular professional who earns his living teaching, but we are positive measures must be taken to halt this rush to join the barnstormers.

"They are only playing tennis to put money in their own pockets and are not doing anything toward imparting skill to youngsters. It is a terrific temptation when a player is offered £10,000 [the amount Perry was once offered to turn professional by Bill O'Brien of New York] or some such fabulous sum to turn professional. That is the temptation we should remove because when he reaches the age of 35 the pros will be through with him and he has no other career to fall back on."

Stockholders in Wimbledon stadium, where the 1935 Davis cup matches and the all-England championships tournament will be played next summer, heaved a sigh of relief when the B. L. T. A.'s bold stand in the matter was made public today.

LOTT TO WED AGAIN

A Barber's Tip Gives Bookies' Purses a Right Smart Trim

BY FRENCH LANE.

Serious warfare between the barbers in our town and those bookmakers who are winking at the law and the police is threatened.

Early on Tuesday afternoon a barber in Austin, or maybe it was Oak Park, received a telegram from his tipster at Tropical Park to "have a good bet down on Cathop."

By the time Cathop paraded to the post for the fifth race everybody in Austin, Oak Park, and downtown Chicago had heard the red hot tip on him.

Some of the stories had the tip coming direct from Trainer Jack Howard to the Chicago owners of the Strathmore stable, from which Cathop hails.

"Even the judges are betting on this one," shouted Jimmy Murray as he dashed down Randolph street in search of a merchant who would accept a two dollar wager.

But the only tip out on him seemed to have been the one the barber on the west side received. People at the track would have nothing to do with Cathop, and a message from Trainer Howard yesterday conveyed the news that "I didn't bet a nickel on the steed."

One Chicago bookmaker said he lost $8,000 on the race. Another one claimed he got hit for $5,000 and some people familiar with money as it changes hands between bookmakers and players estimated $25,000 might have been won on the barber's tip.

Several Chicagoans have wagered quite heavily lately in the future books on the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap. Their bets all went down on Twenty Grand to win. Most of them got 6 and 8 to 1 for their money.

They were disturbed yesterday over reports that came out of California to the effect that after his recent workouts, in which he has showed all his old time electric speed, Twenty Grand walked off the track showing unmistakable signs of lameness.

"He soon walks out of the limp," the reports say. Still those are not comforting tidings for the folks who have their money down on the former champion.

There must be another promising young jocky hanging around in A. A. Baroni's racing stable.

Just about a year ago Baroni sold the contract he held on Wayne Wright to Joseph E. Widener. For a number of seasons Wright had been the best rider in Baroni's barn, and with Widener's stable last season he developed into one of the outstanding riders of the country.

Baroni had a kid he called Moose Peters hanging around his barn and he took up where Wright left off with the Baroni horses. He wound up as the leading rider of the year in America.

Now Baroni has sold the contract he held on Peters to the Foxcatcher Farm stable, a wealthy establishment from the east.

Mrs. Laffoon to Invite President to Attend Derby

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruby Laffoon, wife of the Kentucky governor, visited Washington today, intent on presenting a personal invitation to President and Mrs. Roosevelt to attend the next Kentucky Derby.

She said she was on her way to New York to confer with officers of the Kentucky colonels group which will lay plans for their dinner annually held in Louisville about the time of the Derby.

Dodgers Seek Reading Club for Farm Chain

Joe Sullivan Suffers Attack of Pneumonia

NORTHWESTERN TO WELCOME ITS COACH TONIGHT

Student Body and Public to Greet Waldorf.

Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern university's new football coach, will be greeted by the university this evening at public reception in Patten gymnasium. The affair is sponsored by the N Men's club, the General Alumni association and the Northwestern Club of Chicago.

The meeting is one of several being planned in honor of the new football coach, who will arrive in Chicago this morning from his home in Manhattan, Kas.

Wilson to Greet Waldorf.

Waldorf will be met at the Dearborn Street station by Athletic Director Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson. He will confer with Wilson either today or tomorrow about the vacant opening game date on the Wildcats' 1935 football schedule.

One of his first official acts will be to meet members of the football squad at a dinner this evening preceding the public reception.

Meetings to Continue.

The round of meetings will continue tomorrow when Waldorf will be presented to Chicago sport writers at a dinner at the Bismarck hotel. Coach Waldorf will return to Manhattan Sunday to make arrangements to move his family here in time for the start of spring practice on March 1.

At that time he will be joined by Burt Ingwersen, who will be first assistant and line coach. Ingwersen is making plans to move here with his family within the next few weeks.

INGWERSEN GETS RELEASE.

Baton Rouge, La., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Announcement of abrogation by mutual agreement of Burt A. Ingwersen's contract as assistant football coach at Louisiana State university to permit him to take a similar post at Northwestern, and that Bernie Moore had signed a three year contract as L. S. U. head football coach was made today by university authorities. Ingwersen's contract at Louisiana State still had a year to run.

Moore, it was anonunced, signed a three year contract as successor to Capt. Laurence [Biff] Jones] at $7,500 a year, the same amount Jones received.

EDDIE BENNETT, YANKEES' JINX CHASER, IS DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—Baseball lost one of its most colorful figures today when Eddie Bennett, 31, the midget mascot of the Yankees, died in a furnished room in West 84th street. He had been ailing for some time and was found dead in bed by his landlady, Mrs. Margaret L. Scholtz, who had gone to his room to see if he was comfortable.

Bennett's litle wizened figure was a familitr sight in the ball parks of both the National and American leagues. In 1919 he was mascot of the Chicago White Six when they won a pennant and in 1920 repeated with the Brooklyn Dodgers. He quit the Dodgers that year to go with the Yankees.

Move Braves to Montreal, N. L. Urged

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Seizing on the chance of a lifetime to crash big time baseball, Canada today sought admission to the National league to replace the Boston Braves. Ernest Savard, director of the Montreal Royals of the International league, proposed a plan to take Rabbit Maranville, Shanty Hogan, Wally Berger and other Braves' stars across the border, add a few French-Canadian rookies for window dressing and steam up international competition and gate receipts.

This is the first time an outside nation has sought alliance with the United States in major league ball.

Want Right Proposition.

Heretofore restricted to minor league ball despite the fact its fandom is a deal more rabid than that of such major league cities as Cincinnati and Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit, Montreal is to be offered the real thing in the diamond sport "if the right sort of proposition can be made," Savard declared.

He is a prominent Montreal business man as well as baseball magnate and he says financial backing would be no obstacle if the homeless and broke Braves' franchise is made available.

Meeting Tomorrow.

The Boston Nationals have relinquished Braves' field to the better paying sport of greyhound racing and they have been turned down on offers to share the Boston Red Sox park.

Whether Savard's suggestion will be discussed here Friday when the National league magnates gather to consider the Braves' plight in response to a frantic hurry call sent out by Ford C. Frick, the league's new president, could not be learned today.

UTERITZ NAMED BACKFIELD COACH AT CALIFORNIA

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Irwin C. Uteritz, back field coach at the University of Wisconsin, was appointed to the same post with the University of California eleven tonight by the student executive committee on the recommendation of Head Coach L. B. [Stub] Allison.

Quarter back at the University of Michigan from 1921 to 1923, Uteritz was an assistant coach at Northwestern university in 1924 and went to Wisconsin the following year.

Besides his gridiron duties Uteritz acted as freshman baseball coach for the Badgers for eight seasons until he was advanced to varsity baseball coach in 1933.

DEAL BOLSTERS GAP IN DEFENSE LEFT BY ABEL

Games Tonight

Chicago at St. Louis.
Toronto at Montreal Canadiens.
Detroit at New York Americans.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Chicago Blackhawks, who haven't won a home game since they beat the Montreal Maroons, 3 to 2, on Dec. 16, yesterday made the hocky skies seem brighter when they announced the purchase of Alex [Mine Boy] Levinsky, a rugged defense player well known to Chicago fans.

Levinsky was obtained in an outright cash transaction from the New York Rangers, last place team in the American division of the National league. The Rangers' defense cast has not been blamed for the trailing status of the Rangers, however.

As soon as he had closed the deal for Levinsky, Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks, announced that Taffy Abel, holdout veteran, again had been suspended. Abel's earlier suspension had been lifted when he came here several weeks ago to train with a view of returning to the Hawk ensemble.

Hope to Have Him Tonight.

The Hawks hope to have Levinsky in the lineup at St. Louis tonight but some doubt was expressed as to his being able to reach St. Louis from New York. His first Chicago appearance will be next Sunday night against his old team, the Toronto Maple Leafs. The Leafs brought Levinsky to the majors for the 1930-'31 season and he remained with that outfit for four seasons, until sold to the Rangers.

The acquisition of Alex gives Chicago two Levinsky boys in the sport business. Unlike the somewhat subdued Kingfish of fistic fame, Alex has a working knowledge of reading and writing, having graduated from the University of Toronto and subsequently admitted to the bar.

Weighs 195 Pounds.

Levinsky was born in Syracuse, N. Y., on Feb. 2, 1910, but was taken to Toronto by his parents when 5 years old. As a youngster he played hocky with such stars as Charley Conacher, Busher Jackson, and Red Horner, later to become their teammates on the Leafs. He weighs 195 pounds and is one of the most severe of the tough body checkers.

Levinsky, who with Max Kaminsky of the Bruins, represents the Jewish faith among major league hocky players, is an expert swimmer, a pro football player and a semi-pro baseball player.

The status of Abel, other than that he is under suspension, remained as uncertain as the buildup of his expected return to the Hawk lineup.

There were indications up till noon yesterday that Abel and the management would come to terms, but the landing of Levinsky, who is far from being a mere stopgap performer, gave the salary battle a new setting.

Suspicion of Tampering.

It is said that officials of the Hawks suspect that there has been some sabotage to gum up the Hawk machinery, and sleuths are seeking to learn definitly whether Tommy Gorman, last year's Hawk manager and now boss of the Maroons, has put any ideas into Abel's head. If such suspicions are confirmed, it is said, a brisk protest will be placed with the National league, which has rules regarding tampering.

According to reports no effort will be made by the Hawks to end Abel's career. Deals will be entertained involving his transfer to another team, though it is not probable he will wind up with Gorman's Maroons.

FIVE WOLVERINES BREAK TRAINING RULES; BENCHED

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Five members of the Michigan basketball squad, including four regulars, have been benched for breaking training rules, Coach Franklin C. Cappon announced tonight. Cappon refused to elaborate on the statement or say what rules had been broken. Those named are Capt. Al Plummer, George Rudness, John Jablonski, Chelso Tomagno, and Jack Teitlebaum.

Cappon said that none of these boys would be taken on the trip that the squad will make to Illinois this week-end. He will announce the squad that he is to take to Champaign on Friday afternoon. The squad will leave Friday night. It is presumed that the training rules set down by Cappon were broken over the last week-end when the squad played Minnesota and Wisconsin away from home and lost both games.

N. Y. U. Defeats Temple, 38 to 22, for 25th Straight

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—New York university kept intact its unbeaten record tonight, defeating Temple university, 38 to 22, for the Violets' 25th straight triumph over a span of two years. The game was played before a crowd of more than 15,000 in Madison Square Garden. The defeat snapped Temple's consecutive winning streak at nine games.

RACE MEETING AT HIALEAH PARK TO START TODAY

Tropical Park Program Is Finished.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—With twenty-one horses entered for the featured inaugural handicap, the forty-five day Hialeah Park meeting will open here tomorrow.

All seven races on the opening program are well filled and the stake, which carries a value of $2,500 added, will be the first of eleven to be decided during the meeting. The climax will be the $15,000 added Florida Derby, to be run on closing day, March 9.

Although many of the leading stables of the country are represented in the stake tomorrow, it appears that the favorite will be Wise Prince, which carries the silks of Felix Spatola. An easy winner at Tropical Park last Saturday, Wise Prince is chosen to repeat in the six furlong stake under 109 pounds.

Tropical Park Closes.

George D. Widener's Kawagoe, the Anall stable's Larranaga, the Greentree stable's Black Buddy, the Shandon Farm's Evergold, the Wheatley stable's Slapdash, J. W. Parrish's New Deal, E. R. Bradley's Bold Lover, and many other prominent campaigners probably will start in the inaugural handicap.

The closing day card at Tropical Park today was without special feature, but the Greentree stable's Basquine carried Mrs. Whitney's colors home first for the first time during the meeting by winning the Lake Rosalie purse, a five and a half furlong allowance affair for fillies and mares.

Basquine Beats Maple Queen.

Basquine scored by half a length over the Charlotte Swan stable's Maple Queen, with the Anal stable's Vanda Cerulea another half length back in third place. Six started for the dash, with Basquine a mild favorite. Polly Rita, Neon, and May Mack completed the list.

RODAK ARRIVES TOMORROW FOR CANZONERI BOUT

So anxious is Leo Rodak to start training for his scrap with Tony Canzoneri at the Chicago Stadium on the night of Jan. 31, he cut short his stay in California and will arrive in Chicago tomorrow night.

Rodak plans to begin training at the Catholic Youth organization gymnasium on Saturday, according to the plans his manager, Pat Kenneally, has mapped out for him.

Canzoneri is scheduled to arrive on Wednesday and pitch his training camp.

It became certain yesterday that Eddie [Babe] Risko will appear on the same card. Risko, who recently stopped the middleweight champion, Teddy Yarosz, in seven rounds at Scranton notified Matchmakers Jim Mullen and Nate Lewis yesterday that he was anxious to square away against any opponent they select for him. They are endeavoring to sign Frankie Battaglia of Winnipeg for the match.

Montgomery Girls Beat Bowler Quintet, 18 to 7

The Montgomery Motor Sales company girls' basketball team defeated the T. J. Bowler Boosters, 18 to 7, last night at the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. Teichman scored seven points and Kellstrom six for the winners.

EINAR FREDBO IS FAVORED TO WIN NORGE SKI MEET

New Record Is Expected in Sunday's Event.

A new champion and a new Norge hill record seemed probable yesterday when the Norge Ski club received the entry of Einar Fredbo of Salt Lake City, Utah, for its 29th annual tournament Sunday at Fox River Grove.

Fredbo, who was ranked as one of America's outstanding professionals, was reinstated as an amateur this season. Fredbo celebrated his return to amateur competition by defeating Casper Oimen, national and Norge champion, with a jump of 226 feet at Salt Lake City. Last week, in exhibition jumps, he and Oimen tied at 175 feet.

Strengthens Olympic Team.

Fredbo's return to the amateurs will be of considerable help to the American Olympic team which will be picked at the conclusion of the season. His appearance in the Norge meet will be his first in the central states.

Two outstanding riders—Bruna Saari and George Maki—will represent the Northern Ski club of Ishpeming, Mich., in the feature class A event. Maki, former Michigan champion, was in the Olympic trials of 1932, while Saari won five first places in B class competition last year to earn his right to enter class A events.

How to Get There.

Fans driving to the meet may take either state route 19 or 22, both of which lead directly to the hill. Special trains will leave over the Chicago and North Western railroad at 8:30, 10:30, and 11:30 a. m. The meet will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Hornets Add Rice to Team for Polo Game

The 124th Field Artillery Hornets yesterday strengthened their lineup for Saturday's polo game with the 122d Field Artillery at the Riding club by engaging Lieut. Don Rice. Rice will team with Capt. Bill Everett and Lieut. Chris Schuh, in a effort to halt the 122d's climb in the Black Horse Troop league.

The program will start at 8:15 o'clock, with the University of Chicago meeting the Stalford Polo Farm trio of La Grange, Lieut. L. C. Price, Maroon polo coach, has named John Bodfish, George Benjamin and Lloyd Powers as starters while Stalford's lineup will be composed of Arnold Taussig, Chester Zelinka and Bob Anderson.

In another game the Tiger Lilies, a team of girls, will make their second start against a picked men's trio. The Tiger Lilies will line up with Betty Eckersall, Kay Drake, Blink Thomas, and Jane Ripley.

Chicago Bowlers to Hold Party Tonight at Medinah

Bowlers of various Chicago leagues will gather tonight at the Medinah club for a bowlers' ball. Among the 1,000 who will attend will be Elmer Baumgarten of Milwaukee, secretary of the American Bowling congress.

Lagging States Face Whip in Horse Doping

Miami, Fla., Jan. 16.—(AP)—H. J. Anslinger, federal commissioner of narcotics, today threatened national legislation to whip lagging states into line in the fight against horse doping.

Speaking before the annual convention of the national association of state racing commissioners, the federal narcotics chief said:

"I can say the treasury department has considered and is considering legislation to perfect the crusade against the use of narcotics in connection with racing. We took this problem and placed it on the doorstep of several states. In some cases they have certainly done a splendid job. To states like Florida I would say that they should be placed on the federal roll of honor.

"To certain other states, I think Uncle Sam should go to the cupboard and get out the birch rod."

Anslinger recommended the saliva test, which he said categorically had been proven reliable in the detection of doping, be regularly administered by track authorities at unannounced times.

The state racing heads adopted resolutions asking the treasury department to establish a separate bureau for assistance in activities incident to the efficient administration of the saliva test and placing the national association on record as urging every state to adopt uniform legislation for narcotics control.

C. Y. O. BOXING SQUAD RETURNS FROM TRIP WEST

Boys Are Shaken Up in Train Accident.

The train bearing the Catholic Youth organization boxing champions steamed into Union station from Portland, Ore., yesterday a half hour late. Few in the gathering of 200 friends and relatives, present to welcome back the boys who last Saturday whipped a Portland team in an intersectional match, appeared worried over the delay. A seventy-five piece C. Y. O. band entertained with popular tunes while a corps of Eagle scouts stood at attention during the suspense.

The team, headed by the Rev. Louis F. Kroeck, detrained amid wild excitement and after the boxers posed for photographs, embracing mothers and sisters, it disbanded. Several of the youths, however, moved around with difficulty. It was learned later that their sleeping coach and the observation car were derailed early Tuesday morning along the South Dakota right of way and every member was thoroughly shaken up and bruised. Saviour Canadeo, lightweight, and Johny Noto, flyweight, were more seriously injured.

A heavy obstacle fell on Canadeo and his ribs suffered for it. Noto fell from an upper berth. Both are expected to be in fighting condition after a few days' treatment.

Max Baer, heavyweight champion, yesterday notified James C. Mullen and Nate Lewis he will be available for the first of three ten round bouts under their direction at Chicago Stadium late in February or the first week in March, several weeks earlier than expected. The champion, in Florida to appear in exhibition encounters at Tampa next Monday and Miami Jan. 24, told the Stadium matchmakers a movie in which he is to appear, scheduled to get under way at Hollywood, Cal., next month, has been indefinitly postponed and is responsible for the change of plans.

Baer will go to California after a meeting with Jim Maloney, former Boston contender, at Miami, to appear in a windup bout of a charity show for the benefit of Mrs. Frank Campbell, widow of a victim of his punches. Max also will attend a hearing before Superior Court Judge Malcolm Glen at Sacramento Feb. 19 on the suit of J. Hamilton Lorimer, Oakland, his former manager. Lorimer alleges $40,000 is due him from Baer's earnings.

Frank Sagilio, Cicero slugger, opened drills yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium for a ten round tussle with Young Joe Firpo of Philadelphia at Cicero Stadium Jan. 25. . . . Hayden [Young] Stuhley, middleweight challenger, is training at the Kewanee, Ill., Y. M. C. A., for pending matches. . . . Frank Battaglia, Chicago 160 pounder, quite likely will go through with an engagement with Lou Brouillard, booked for tonight at Pittsburgh, on Feb. 13.

Laddie Tonelli, Marseilles, Ill., and Puggy Weinert, Chicago, were matched yesterday for an eight round rumpus at Marigold Gardens Monday.

Al Ettore, Philadelphia, and Art Sykes, Elmira, N. Y., left last night for St. Paul, Minn., where they will appear in two affrays next Thursday. . . . Ettore will meet Charley Retzlaff of Leonard, N. D., and Sykes is paired with Larry Udell, Minneapolis.

The Polish Youth Organization will offer an amateur show tomorrow at its clubrooms. Sammy Zaczek, 1934 Golden Gloves novice flyweight titleholder, will clash with Benny Silva.

LOTTMAN WHIPS JERRY MATHIEU IN AMATEUR BOUT

Sam Girschbein stopped Fred Kruetzer [2].
Al Van Derbosch stopped Oscar Schuberg [1].
San Sferis knocked out Joe De Pasquale [1].
Vincent Pelligrini stopped Irving Fisher [2].
Ralph De Mario beat Dave Schimmel [3].
Ed Luebker beat Stanley Petyre [3].

South Side College Five Conquers Wright, 58-54

In the highest scoring game of the season the South Side Junior college basketball team defeated Wright, 58 to 54, yesterday. The scoring for Wright was well distributed but Conwill and Archbold did the bulk of the point making for South Side, the former counting seven baskets and five free throws and the latter nine field goals.

READY FOR GOLDEN GLOVES QUEST

Members of the Catholic Youth Organization's championship boxing team arrived here yesterday morning from a victorious trip to the Pacific coast, where they whipped a team of Oregonians at Portland Saturday night. The C. Y. O. team will be one of the leading contenders for team honors in the eighth annual Golden Gloves tournament, and will be entered as a unit. Front row, left to right: Johnny Brown, John Noto, James Diamico, and Walter Richter. Back row, left to right: Savior Canadeo, Andy Scrivani, John Kelly and Al Camber. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

LONDOS SEEKS TO GIVE MARSHALL FIRST LOSS HERE

Jim Londos' defense of his world's wrestling championship at the Coliseum tomorrow night will send him against Everett Marshall, Colorado star who has never been defeated in Chicago and who has less than a dozen defeats in his entire career, two of them registered by the champion himself.

Marshall's mat career is dotted with victories over Ed [Strangler] Lewis, Gus Sonnenberg, Richard Shikat, Jim Browning and other stars of the game. His two matches with Londos have been classics, the first one going almost two hours, while a few months ago in Philadelphia be forced the titleholder to wrestle three hours and 20 minutes before Londos was able to take the only fall of the match.

With his record of no defeats in Chicago, Marshall is prepared to make another bid for the championship and his plans call for an aggressive battle all the way. The Coloradean believes that Londos' grip on the title is gradually loosening and he intends a steady attack upon the champion for the first hour of the match.

Williams Throws Brown; Malcewicz Pins Martin

Al Williams defeated Jack [Bad Boy] Brown in the windup of the wrestling show at the Marigold Gardens last night. Williams pinned Brown in 22 minutes and 13 seconds. In the semi-windup Frank Malcewicz threw Max Martin in 13 minutes and 50 seconds. In the preliminaries Rudy Kay won from Jack Kinney in 14 minutes and 9 seconds, and Joe Montana and Emanuel Cortez wrestled to a 30 minute draw.

MOSTLY about DOGS
By Bob Becker

THE QUESTION BOX.

"I WOULD like to know something about the coach dog. You rarely see one of them advertised. Will you please give me information as to its adaptability as a house dog?"

E. D. BRANDENBURG,
Hammond, Ind.

The coach dog or Dalmatian, to give him his other scientific name, is an exceptionally intelligent dog. You need not worry about the qualities of this breed and its suitability as a home and a companion dog. Not only is the Dalmatian a hardy, good looking dog, but he also is a mighty fine watchman around the house. This is a very old breed. As early as 1790 one English writer pictures a Dalmatian that was the same in build as our modern dogs of that breed.

"I own a female Great Dane. She has the run of our six room home, but unfortunately she sheds to such an extent that we must farm her out or devise some scheme to obviate the trouble. Our dog loves the outdoors, eats and sleeps well. Her diet consists of cornmeal and cooked meat. This she gets twice a day, also plenty of bones, cheese, and milk. The dog is not fond of vegetables. Do you think this steady diet of cornmeal causes the shedding?" ELMER G. B., Wilmette, Ill.

Dogs shed naturally at certain times of the year. For example, last July my Labrador was shedding with the growth of his light summer coat. Now he has a heavy winter coat which will have to be gotten rid of in a few months. However, if I understand your inquiry correctly, your Great Dane is shedding most of the time.

Very likely, if I were a Great Dane and had to eat cornmeal and cooked meat twice a day, day after day, I would want to shed something, too! It might be a good idea for you to take the dog to a veterinarian and have her examined. That's always good insurance on an investment such as you have in a dog.

At the same time the vet will give you some suggestions on diet, and I'll hazard a guess that one of the first things he will ask you to do is to change the dog's diet so that it gets a more varied and well balanced list of foods. Cheese and milk are excellent foods. Bones give the dog massages for the gums and are good for her teeth too.

Raw meat, for a change, is good and try mixing some vegetables with the raw meat, just a small amount at first. Vegetables give a dog minerals, vitamins and roughage. Don't forget that a dog needs practically the same food elements as we do in order to be healthy—including protein, carbohydrates, vitamins, etc.

I am feeding a 77 pound dog I have at home the following foods: Some raw beef, milk, vegetables [tomatoes, etc.], a prepared dog food that I know is well made and has real nourishment in it, raw eggs, an occasional stew with meat and vegetables, dog biscuit, etc.

Pug Lund to Get Football Trophy Feb. 4

Francis [Pug] Lund, captain of the University of Minnesota undefeated football team, will be presented with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S silver football, emblematic of the most valuable player to his team in the Big Ten, between the halves of the Chicago-Minnesota basketball game at Minneapolis on the night of Feb. 4. Arrangements were completed yesterday by Frank McCormick, director of Minnesota athletics, for the presentation.

Second Gopher to Win.

Lund will be the second Gopher football man to win the most valuable trophy. Clarence Munn, star guard and kicker on the 1931 varsity, was the first Minnesota player to win the trophy.

Lund was chosen by a committee of 23, the ten Western conference football coaches, ten football officials, Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference; Harvey T. Woodruff and Wilfrid Smith of THE TRIBUNE sports staf. The presentation will be made by Mr. Smith, since Harvey Woodruff, who conducted the poll, is in Hollywood, Cal.

Others Get Souvenirs.

White gold miniature footballs, souvenirs for the ten players who were named by the Western conference teams as most valuable to their teams, will be mailed to the winners within a few days.

C. Y. O. BOXERS OPEN CLASS B MEET TONIGHT

Opening bouts in the Catholic Youth organization's second annual class B boxing tournament will be held tonight at the C. Y. O. gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. Dick Fitzpatrick, C. Y. O. boxing instructor, has arranged for the first of the 32 scheduled fights to start at 7 o'clock.

Boys representing west side parishes will fight tonight. Tomorrow night the north side and suburban entrants will be in the ring. South side preliminaries will be held Monday night. Winners on these three nights will meet in the semi-finals on Jan. 24. The title matches have been set for Jan. 31.

Parishes having the largest list of entries are Presentation, St. Matthew's, St. Bridget's, St. Christine, Mary Queen of Heaven [Berwyn], Immaculate Conception [Elmhurst], St. Patrick's [South Chicago], St. Mary of the Lake, and Mary of Celle [Berwyn].

Up to yesterday 350 boys had registered for the competition.

OPTOMETRISTS BEAT AMERICAN QUINTET, 32-28

The Northern Illinois College of Optometry basketball team defeated the Amercan College of Physical Education quintet, 32 to 28, on the latter's floor yesterday.

Play was close throughout with the Optometrists holding a slight edge until Swanberg, center, and the team's high scorer, was ejected from the game on personal fouls during the last period. American college then rallied to make the contest close.

The Optometrists' undefeated squad will meet the Chicago Normal college quintet on the latter's floor Jan. 23. Lineups:

In the Wake of the News

WAKE LETTER BOX.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 16.—Dear Wake: One of your recent contributors stated that Dr. C. W. Spears of Minnesota gained his reputation as a football coach at Minnesota. In truth, it was because of his previous reputation that Spears was engaged by Minnesota. A great player himself at Dartmouth, Spears earned his coaching spurs with West Virginia's Mountaineers. One of 'Em.

In justice to Glenn Thistlethwaite, who has just piloted little Richmond college through its most successful football season of recent years, may I take exception to a statement that "Hanley came to Northwestern for the 1927 season, succeeding Glenn Thistlethwaite, and almost immediately Northwestern football fortunes, until that time in perennial shadow, brightened." It was Thistlethwaite who lifted the Purple from "perennial shadow" and started Northwestern on its gridiron renaissance.

Northwestern tried to retain him, but Glenn accepted a Wisconsin offer. He was fairly successful at Madison, but eventually succumbed to the political and alumni complexities there. Hanley, his successor at Evanston, continued his good start, but Northwestern's rise began under Thistlethwaite. M. T. A., Badner.

I still do not think enough credit has been given Kirksville [Mo.] Teachers' college for its unbeaten record of the last three years. During that period it scored 513 points to 53 by its opponents. Arnold Embree, quarter back, was of All-American caliber. This record caused Don Faurot, coach during this time, to be signed by Missouri to succeed Frank Carideo, once of Notre Dame. Evotto Granamati.

Liquor Stores.

Los Angeles and tributary suburbs are filled with liquor stores, selling native wines as well as all brands of spirits. One wonders how they all exist. Why, they've even attempted to induce the women to induce the men to drink to stimulate trade. At many places they give free a pack of cigarets for the ladies with every purchase of a quart or more.

Confession.

I've kissed a thousand pretty lips,
And thrilled at stars above . .
I've sung a song to each one
But never was in love.

O Gypsy winds! They drive me on Down winding roads afar . .
To fresher loves and fresher lips
As red as roses are.

I've kissed a thousand pretty lips
In quest of love and zest . .
Buy now they haunt me as they say,
"You're like all the rest!"
Jack Whitton.

RICHARD FITZGERALD.

Richard Fitzgerald of Chicago, who passed away of pneumonia a few days ago in Los Angeles, was one of the strong figures in the Western Jocky club which governed racing in the middle west in the early 1900s. As steward representing Hawthorne, he was a staunch friend of The Wake when we were secretary and treasurer of the turf association.

Mr. Fitzgerald carried his experience, gained from wide business enterprises, into turf councils. Had his sage advice prevailed, it is possible the turf war between the Western Jocky club and American Turf association in 1904-'05 might have been averted. This war and a public reform wave were held responsible for the closing of middle western tracks for many years.

By his conciliatory policy and clean reputation Mr. Fitzgerald stopped warfare between Hawthorne and Harlem which has raged for years. Not until Edward Corrigan, known as the "master of Hawthorne," forced himself into the turf picture again did the old enmity flare up with disastrous results to all concerned and to Corrigan's ultimate financial ruin.

Richard Fitzgerald was a square shooter. For many years before his death he had no connection with racing. He was interested, however, in constructive golf legislation and caddy welfare in the Chicago district. He was among the low score shooters in "southpaw" tourneys. As Hek, first conductor of this column, used to lament, "A good old pal's gone out."

BABY RUTH SIX, OAK PARK WILL CLASH TONIGHT

Two games will be played in the Chicago Amateur Hocky league at the Stadium tonight when the unbeaten Baby Ruths meet Oak Park in the feature game, and the Vodrazka Hornets and Whiting Macs appear in the opener.

The Baby Ruths have added strength in obtaining first line forwards from Eveleth Junior college, midwest champions. John Rozinka, Leonard Saari and Albert Suomi are the players. Two defense men from the same six, Paul Schaefer and Arne Riutta, probably will see action with the Ruths soon.

If the Ruths win tonight's game they will tie the league leading Boston Store six in the Stadium division.

Melinkovich Master of Ceremonies at Benefit

George Melinkovich, Notre Dame football star, will be master of ceremonies at a benefit entertainment for Old St. Mary's church, 9th street and Wabash avenue, to be given Saturday night in the Red Lacquer room and exhibition hall of the Palmer house.

North Park College Conquers Normal, 38-28

The North Park Junior college basketball team defeated Chicago Normal 38 to 28, last night in the Normal gymnasium. Behrens led North Park's attack with 18 points.

CHICAGO WELCOMES "BOTTOMS-UP" TESTED FOR MELLOWNESS!

LOCAL dealers are reporting fast sale of "BOTTOMS UP," a Kentucky straight whisky first introduced into this market a short time ago. The reason is easy to explain. While "BOTTOMS UP" sells at a low price, it is ESTER-TESTED for mellowness before bottling.

Whisky drinkers have been looking for this quality. As esters develop with age, and give whisky its finer qualities of flavor, aroma and mellowness, the ester-test is the safest guide to insure that each bottle of "BOTTOMS UP" is properly matured before bottling. Now being aged for at least a full year in warehouses with controlled summer temperature and humidity, wonderful results are accomplished in imparting real smoothness and mellowness to "BOTTOMS UP." Also a high percentage of small grains is used, giving it a unique flavor and excellence. Its quick-won popularity makes it possible for you to get it at almost any good whisky dealer's. Just ask for "BOTTOMS UP."

Von Steuben High school made its belated debut in the lightweight division of the Chicago Public High school league yesterday by defeating Amundsen, 35 to 12, in a north section game at Von Steuben gymnasium. It was Amundsen's second league defeat.

In the west section McKinley scored its third consecutive triumph by handing Steinmetz a 31 to 21 defeat.

Bowen won a nonleague double header from Morgan Park Military academy, the lights triumphing, 14 to 10 and the heavies, 35 to 33, in overtime. Lineups:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Bonds recovered their equilibrium today in quiet trading. The gold clause case now before the Supreme court had but little effect in the market and trading was orderly.

United States government bonds finished irregularly lower, 9-32ds lower to 5-32ds points higher on a turnover of $2,768,000. Total dealings on the stock exchange amounted to $10,400,000, the smallest in more than a week.

Domestic Issues Mixed.

Domestic corporation bonds finished irregularly higher, a few issues rallying a point or more. Utilities and rails averaged higher and the industrials slightly lower, although in the latter group Kelly Springfield Tire 6s due 1942 jumped 4 points on the news of further progress made in the reorganization of the company.

Despite further strength in the dollar against many leading foreign exchange rates, foreign bonds showed considerable improvement.

Foreign List Improves.

German government loans moved up fractionally and other German issues mounted a point or more. French government 7½s recovered 2 points, and Italian issues were up half a point to 2½. Brazilian bonds which had been under pressure recently as a result of the clouded outlook for continued debt service on the present basis, rallied briskly today. Other Latin-American loans were irregular.

Kansas City Public Service.

Investors' Guide: Can you kindly give me information on Kansas City Public Service first 4s, due July 1, 1951?—Miss K. E.

Answer: Kansas City Public Service company is an independent operating company furnishing transportation service, both bus and street railway, to Kansas City and Independence, Mo., and Kansas City, Kas.

Revenues dropped steadily from 1927 through 1933. The drop was only partially offset by operating economies.

During the first nine months of 1934 operating revenues were about 7.3 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1933 period, but earnings available for fixed charges dropped about 6½ per cent. An agreement on the part of bondholders to accept only 3 per cent interest a year to 1937, however, enabled the company to cover fixed charges 1.30 times, against 1.11 times for the first nine months of 1933.

The same factor enabled the company to cover bond interest by the slim margin of 1.06 times in 1933. In 1932 only 89 per cent of charges was earned. Bond interest was covered 1.49 times in 1931, 1.37 times in 1930, and 1.48 times in 1929.

On Sept. 30, 1934, current liabilities were $355,000 more than current assets.

Interest on the $13,314,000 of first mortgage bonds due July 1, 1951, will increase from 3 to 6 per cent for 1937 and 1938, thereafter to 7 per cent a year to maturity. In view of the fact that the present rate of interest is being covered by none too wide a margin and that the trend of amount available for fixed charges is down, the bonds are considered speculative.

Mapes Consolidated.

Investors' Guide: Will you please let me have your latest report on Mapes Consolidated?—Mrs. S. E.

Answer: Mapes Consolidated Manufacturing company manufactures patented egg packing and shipping equipment and equipment for packing bottles. Plants are in Griffith, Ind., and North Kansas City, Mo.

Earnings have held up fairly well, although they show the effect of reduced business activity. Earnings for the first half of 1934 equaled $2.55 a share, against $2.87 a share for the corresponding 1933 period. In 1933 earnings equaled $3.13 a share, against $3.11 a share [on a smaller number of shares] in 1932, $5.35 a share in 1931, and $5.27 in 1930.

On June 30, 1934, cash alone of $817,000 compared with total current liabilities of $139,000. Total current assets aggregated $1,009,000.

Capitalization consists solely of 126,500 shares of no par stock, which pay quarterly dividends of 75 cents a share. The stock is medium grade.

N.J. STANDARD OIL WILL ISSUE STOCK UNDER NEW RULES

Easier SEC Requirements Make Move Possible.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Taking advantage of the simplified requirements adopted by the Securities and Exchange commission, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has filed notice of its intention to register under the securities act of 1933 a $10,000,000 issue of capital stock which it intends to make available to its employés.

Action by the oil concern was especially gratifying to the commission, inasmuch as the same company decided last year that it was unable to register under the requirements then in force, securities for the refinancing of $90,000,000 in 5 per cent debentures which it called for Feb. 1, 1935.

Explains Inability to Act.

In connection with that transaction, Walter C. Teagle, president of the oil company, said last November: "Prompt action being deemed advisable a public offering involving registration could not be considered because the company is not in a position to submit a certificate of independent audit. Such an audit covering subsidiaries operating in all parts of the world has been under way since May 1, 1934, but will not be completed before next spring."

For handling the operation without registration the company decided to pay $8,000,000 in cash out of the treasury and arrange for $45,000,000 in short term bank notes and for the private distribution of $37,000,000 of serial debentures.

Reach Decision After Conferences.

This decision was reached after frequent consultations with the federal trade and Securities and Exchange commissions at which the company officials tried to work out some plan under which it could collect and certify more quickly the great mass of data which it felt registration then demanded.

Efforts of the company to meet the specifications laid down and its representations of inability to do so played an important part in bringing about revision of the registration form and regulations which were announced Monday.

The stock for which registration is sought under the securities act of 1933 and on the New York Stock exchange under the securities exchange act of 1934 consists of 400,000 shares of $25 per value.

Riley Quits Title and Trust Executive Committee Post

Harrison B. Riley has retired from the chairmanship of the Chicago Title and Trust company executive committee, but will continue as a director and special counsel for the company, it was announced yesterday. Directors reëlected all officers.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

Keen competition featured the sale yesterday by Alleghany county, Pa., of $9,175,000 of new bonds, the largest bond issue of the week. One block of $7,298,000 of bonds, consisting of $5,000,000 uncollected tax, $1,200,000 road, $870,000 park, $150,000 courthouse extension, and $78,000 workhouse bonds, due from Jan. 1, 1936 to 1965, was awarded to a syndicate composed of the Union Trust company of Pittsburgh, the Bankers' Trust company of New York, and Edward B. Smith & Co. The price paid was 101.26 for the bonds as 2¾s.

Singer, Deane & Scribner, Inc., of Pittsburgh, won the award of a new issue of $50,000 borough of Washington, Pa., 3¾ per cent refunding bonds, dated Feb. 1, 1935, and due serially from 1936 to 1945. The price paid was 103.50.

The city of Memphis, Tenn., has awarded $1,600,000 of notes jointly to the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and the Harris Trust and Savings bank. For a block of $1,000,000 of the city's revenue notes, dated Jan. 1, 1935, and due $400,000 on June 16 and $600,000 on Sept. 16, 1935, the banks bid 100.049 for the notes to bear interest at the annual rate of 0.75 per cent. For the block of $600,000 of notes of the city's school district, dated Jan. 1, 1935, and due $200,000 on July 15 and $400,000 on Oct. 15, 1935, the banks bid 100.225 for the notes to bear interest at the annual rate of 1 per cent.

A banking syndicate, composed of Blyth & Co., Inc., Bankamerica company, Dean Witter & Co., and Weeden & Co., is making public offering of $3,200,000 4¾ per cent bonds of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway district. The bonds mature from 1942 to 1971 and are priced to yield from 3.75 per cent to 4.45 per cent, according to maturity. The bonds are a portion of an original $35,000,000 issue authorized at a general election in 1930, the funds of which are being used to build and operate a bridge across the Golden Gate at the entrance to San Francisco bay.

N. Y. HIGH COURT UPHOLDS GOLD CLAUSE IN BONDS

Bethlehem Steel Co. to Pay on Old Basis.

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—New York Supreme Court Justice Aaron Steuer signed an order today requiring the Bethlehem Steel company, in effect, to pay interest on certain of its bonds at the old gold parity of the dollar.

The decision was given in a suit brought by the City Bank Farmers' Trust company, holding as trustee sixty $1,000 first lien and refunding mortgage 5 per cent 30 year gold bonds of the Bethlehem Steel company, issued in 1912, which provided for payment of interest either in dollars, British pounds or Dutch guilders. The decision contrasted with the ruling two days ago of The Netherlands high court that the Royal Dutch Shell and Batavia Petroleum companies were no longer obligated to fulfill gold payment clauses of their dollar bonds floated in Amsterdam and New York.

Bethlehem's Steel's Stand.

The Bethlehem Steel company declared in its answer that because of the gold legislation of the Roosevelt administration it was not obligated to pay interest to residents of the United States in anything but dollars of the present gold content or their equivalent at the current rate of exchange. Justice Steuer granted the motion by the plaintif to strike out the answer and to enter judgment for the plaintif for the sum of $2,437. The company contended it was obligated to pay only $1,500 as six months' interest.

Although the constitutionality of the congressional resolution of June 5, 1933, voiding the gold clause in public and private obligations was questioned by the plaintifs, Justice Steuer did not rule on this point except by implication in sustaining the plaintif's case. This is the resolution now before the United States Supreme court.

Contrary to Amendment.

While Justice Steuer did not rule on the point, the order as signed by him referred to the fact that the plaintif had contended that if the June 5, 1933, resolution or any act of congress or executive order pursuant thereto should be construed as affecting the plaintif's rights in the case, then such resolution or act or order would be unconstitutional "in that it offends and is contrary to the fifth amendment to the constitution and is in excess of power granted to congress by the constitution."

The Bethlehem bonds set the semiannual interest of the issue, which originally totaled $15,200,000, at $25 in New York, 5 pounds 2 shillings 10 pence in London, and 62.25 guilders in Amsterdam on each $1,000 bond. The City bank presented the Nov. 1, 1933, coupons for payment in Amsterdam, Holland, in guilders, and when payment was refused sued here for $2,437.09, the present dollar value of the number of guilders specified as interest in the coupons of the sixty bonds.

Tells of Cost Involved.

An affidavit submitted by E. Fontaine Brown, counsel for the Bethlehem company, set forth that there were $285,000,000 of bonds of American companies payable as to interest or principal in foreign currencies at a fixed rate of exchange with reference to the dollar before devaluation. There were $386,000,000 such bonds payable as to interest only in foreign currencies, he said.

The total annual interest on these bonds amounted to more than $39,000,000, Brown declared, and it would take many millions more to pay off this interest in Dutch guilders at the old rate.

The Bethlehem Steel company set forth in its answer that the owners of the bonds involved in the suit were all citizens of the United States. Refusal of payment in guilders was justified on the ground that the holders intended to convert the guilders into United States currency in a greater amount than they would be entitled to if the coupons were presented for redemption here and that the holders intended to use here the money converted.

OBERWORTMAN TAKES OVER BANK EXAMINER DUTIES

The position of chief examiner has been vacant for the last nine months since the resignation of William Taylor who became vice president of the First Wisconsin National bank of Milwaukee. Since Taylor's resignation, R. S. Beatty has been acting head of the office which is in the Federal Reserve Bank building.

Oberwortman was formerly assistant reserve agent in Kansas City and for the last three months has served as chief examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation in Washington.

Chicagoan to Investigate Bargaining Complaints

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—Appointment of John R. McSweeney, Chicago, as impartial chairman of the group to investigate complaints of unfair competition in connection with collective bargaining agreements between employés and employers in the electrical contracting division of the construction industry, was announced today by the National Industrial Recovery board. McSweeney is a member of the law firm of McSweeney and Silverstein and is a former state representative

Morgenthau and Cummings Seek Gold Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—While inflationists meeting in the capitol itself were demanding even more drastic monetary tampering, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings today debated what the government will do if the Supreme court decides against it on the crucial gold revaluation cases.

The two cabinet officers were believed to have considered legislation which will be rushed to congress at once in the event of an adverse gold decision. The nature of the legislation was not disclosed, but it will be aimed at preserving the existing monetary system despite the court's decision.

Warren Arrives Today.

Significance also was attached to the disclosure tonight that Prof. George F. Warren, adviser to President Roosevelt during the formation of the present gold policy, was to arrive here tomorrow morning. Prof. Warren, a rubber dollar advocate, was one of the brain trusters closest to the White House during the previous periods of monetary uncertainty.

The inflationists, summoned by Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.] to meet as the national monetary conference, were loudly declaring, meanwhile, that congress' power to regulate the gold value of the dollar was paramount and were demanding even more direct inflation.

Resolutions calling for issuance of greenbacks, remonetization of silver, creation of a central bank, and immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus were adopted by Senator Thomas' meeting, which included monetary radicals ranging from former senator Robert Owen to the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit.

Borah, Wheeler Present.

Senators William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] and Burton K. Wheeler [Radical, Mont.], members of the powerful silver bloc, attended the inflationists' powwow which was held in the Capitol building but refused to play any rôle except that of "observers." The American Legion also sent a representative to observe and watch over the welfare of the bonus resolution.

The meeting between Morgenthau and Cummings in the latter's office came as a surprise. Early this morning the treasury head, unheralded, slipped into Attorney General Cummings' reception room and was immediately ushered into the inner office. Accompanying Morgenthau was Herman Oliphant, general counsel of the treasury, who has been drafting legislation to be hurled into the breach if the Supreme court overturns the gold laws.

Three Confer Alone.

These three officials remained closeted alone, not even taking into their confidence other federal lawyers who have fought in the gold litigation before the Supreme court. None of the trio would discuss the nature of their meeting.

Morgenthau has hinted, however, that the treasury is drafting new legislation to meet any eventuality, explaining that "we always try to do our home work." Oliphant is in charge of the "home work" just as he was in charge of drafting previous monetary legislation now under fire.

New laws will be rushed through congress literally overnight if the court's decision goes against the government, observers predict. The exact form may depend on the nature of the court's decision. An adverse decision may hold that only the government is required to redeem its gold bonds in gold or it may hold that both the government and private borrowers with gold contracts must fulfill them.

Several schemes, some of them obviously inadequate, have been suggested for meeting any emergency. One is that the treasury should make gold available to any person having to fulfil a gold contract, and then, as soon as the transaction is completed, seize the gold from the person who receives it under the hoarding laws.

MERCHANDISE BANK DEPOSITS SHOW BIG GAIN

Deposits of the Merchandise Bank and Trust company more than doubled during 1934, reaching the year end figure of $6,374,883, against $3,119,339 at the beginning of the year, according to the annual report issued yesterday. Total assets amounted to $7,885,601, of which $1,985,954 was represented by United States government securities and $3,143,705 cash and due from banks. Immediately realizable assets were $7,061,306.

Profit for 1934 was reported at $94,742, which was transferred to surplus. Surplus account increased $28,765 after a $60,000 increase in the contingency reserve and adjustments.

William F. Boeger last night was elected president of the Bellwood State bank to succeed P. H. Korrell, resigned, and Fred Volkman was elected vice president to succeed H. G. Glos, resigned. Other officers and directors were reëlected.

All officers and directors of Banco di Napoli Trust Company of Chicago and Uptown State bank were reëlected at the annual meetings held yesterday. The annual meeting of State Bank and Trust company, Evanston, was postponed until Jan. 22, because of lack of a quorum.

INDICATE NRA WILL DROP COAL PRICE CONTROL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Authoritative sources indicated tonight NRA was ready to abandon its proposal to take over the task of fixing prices for the nation's vast soft coal industry.

A committee of the National Bituminous Coal Industrial board reported to the board that NRA leaders had agreed at an earlier meeting to reconsider proposed amendments to the soft coal code submitted by the industry in an effort to bolster the price structure.

Who Were the Best Customers of the Steel Industry in 1934?

Rail Workers Lose Jobs, Sue Own Union

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the grand lodge of the brotherhood, headed by A. F. Whitney, were named defendants in a suit filed today in federal court on behalf of forty-four residents of Peoria, Ill., who seek $25,000 damages each, or a total of $1,100,000.

The damages were allegedly incurred because the brotherhood, it is charged, violated the railway labor act. The plaintifs, according to the petition, all were members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and employés of the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad in 1929, when the alleged violation occurred.

Union Takes Charge.

The petition says that a committee was appointed by the Peoria branch of the brotherhood to negotiate with the railroad for a wage increase, and that before an agreement had been made two representatives of the brotherhood were dispatched to Peoria with instructions from Whitney to take charge of the negotiations.

In November, 1929, according to the petition, the two grand lodge representatives asked for a strike vote "to strengthen our hands with the management," promising "fraudulently" that a strike would not be called.

Declares Act Violated.

The strike was called Nov. 13 and the railway labor act was violated, the petition charges, in that the brotherhood representatives called the strike without first appealing to authorities in Washington for help.

The strike continued for some time, the petition says, and at its conclusion the defendants were not reinstated by the railroad and thus lost their seniority rights.

Whitney could not be reached for a statement tonight, and other officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen refused to comment on the situation.

Commodities Show More Advances than Declines

Dun & Bradstreet's commodity index shows widespread price declines in dairy products, grains, coffee, and sugar, but other articles held sufficiently strong during the week ended Jan. 16 to show more advances than declines in the total number of commodities comprising the index. Advances numbered 36 and declines 24.

SENATE APPROVES SEC BUT CONFIRMATION OF MOFFETT IS DELAYED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Members of the Securities and Exchange commission were quickly confirmed by the senate today, but the nomination of James A. Moffett as federal housing administrator, ran into difficulties.

The senate approved the nominations of the five commission members, including Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy, of New York, without a word of debate, or a single objection. There had been rumors of opposition to Kennedy. Other members of the commission whose nominations were approved were: Ferdinand Pecora, of New York; Robert E. Healy, of Vermont; James N. Landis, of Massachusetts; George C. Mathews, of Wisconsin.

The senate also confirmed Henry E. Hoagland, of Ohio, as a member of the federal home loan bank board, and August E. Giegengack, of New York, as public printer.

Senator Neely [Dem., W. Va.] blocked the immediate confirmation of Moffett, asking that his nomination go over until the next consideration of nominations. Neely said off the floor he did not know whether he would oppose Moffett's confirmation, but merely wanted time to study the administrator's appointments in West Virginia. He added he was dissatisfied with them.

DECLARES U. S. SUIT UNFAIR TO 1,200,000 WORKERS

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Weirton Steel company took the position today that granting of the government's petition for an injunction against the company would be a denial of the rights of employés throughout the nation now working under employé representative plans.

Presenting final argument in the government's suit for a restraining order to halt what it alleges is interference on the part of Weirton in its employés choice of collective bargaining representatives, Earl F. Reed, chief of company counsel, contended:

"The result of an injunction in this case would be to define the employé representative plan as illegal as a means of collective bargaining; and it would be a denial of the rights of those 1,200,000 employés throughout the nation, who are working under it and want it to continue."

tuning up

We are making more and more loans of $600—$800—$1200—to a splendid class of executives—good managers of good families, who find the kind of loans we make and the way we make them admirably suited in tuning their affairs to the times.

We are glad to have the opportunity to "fill the gap" in this period when things are on the mend. We are anxious for more and more of such opportunities to be useful in this great city.

DOLLAR'S RISE IS CHECKED, BUT GOLD FLOWS IN ## Pound Records Gain; Market Calmer.

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Comparative calm prevailed today in the foreign exchange market after yesterday's turmoil. Foreign currencies generally were reasonably steady against the dollar and the British pound staged a small advance.

The United States treasury which intervened late yesterday to check the violent upturn in dollar exchange was again credited with holding the dollar down through purchases of foreign exchange. Speculative buying of the dollar on the possibility of restoration of the old parity also abated.

Encouraged by the action of the treasury in halting the panicky rise of the dollar, a few domestic commercial banks today arranged shipments of gold from abroad. A total of about $13,000,000 gold was reported to have been engaged abroad in the last two days, but of this amount some is believed to have been bought for the treasury.

Report Banks Coöperate.

Exchange dealers said that the New York banks were apparently coöperating with the treasury and the federal reserve banks to steady the franc and other gold currencies after yesterday's rout.

The franc declined moderately early in the day, but rallied to close at 6.56½ cents, a net decline of 1½ points from yesterday's final price. The Dutch guilder closed at 67.28 cents, off 19 points, and the German mark declined 6 points to 39.99 cents.

The British pound again sold below its old parity of $4.86625, touching $4.84, but it rallied and closed the day ¾ cent higher at $4.87¾.

Bought in Several Countries.

The latest gold engagements were made in England, India, Canada, France, and Holland. They bring the total of gold engaged for shipment here since Nov. 5 to about $240,000,000.

The market held the opinion that the failure of the treasury to intervene in the foreign exchange market earlier Tuesday had been due to the existence in treasury circles of the same doubts which affected bankers themselves.

It was pointed out that a Supreme court ruling which resulted in a restoration of the dollar to its old parity would mean that the treasury, like the banks, might be exposed to the risks of loss on whatever gold it bought abroad. More than that, it might mean that the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund might be taken away.

Banker, Who Owes Nothing to RFC, Urges Sound Money

BY HOWARD WOOD.

When the history of these exciting times is written Percy H. Johnston, president of the 570 million dollar Chemical Bank and Trust company of New York, will either stand out as a lone prophet or an interesting dissenter. Since the convention of the American Bankers' association in Washington three months ago practically all of the nation's leading bankers have been either singing the song of coöperation with the administration or preserving stony silence. Mr. Johnston does neither.

PERCY H. JOHNSTON.

"Notwithstanding a decided improvement in general business," he said yesterday at his bank's annual meeting, "we adhere to our previous statements that no sustained prosperity can obtain without a stable currency and a balanced budget.

"The nation has tried to accomplish in one generation that which, under ordinary and prudent circumstances, it should take a country a hundred years to bring about.

* *

"The result has been to plunge us head over heels into debt, and we are not going to right our condition by going deeper into debt. Unless we change our course, and within a reasonable time adjust our national expenditures to our income, we will unquestionably bring ruin upon the entire body politic.

"A wave has swept over our legislative halls to cure all ills by the enactment of more laws. In our judgment this course hamstrings business and slows down general progress."

A possible sidelight on this forthright expression of independent views occurred later in Mr. Johnston's report when he said:

"In my last annual report I stated that the bank had sold to the Reconstruction Finance corporation $5,000,000 of capital notes maturing July 31, 1934. These notes have been retired."

Two and Two Make Four Sometimes, but Not Always.

Two dollars of assets plus two dollars of assets don't necessarily make four dollars of assets. Back in the late 'twenties when the owner of an apartment building or business block appeared to be making a nice profit some promoter would get hold of the property across the street, float a bond issue on a shoe string and put up a competing building.

Then when hard times came along and the shoe string building went into receivership and cut rents the owner of the first building, although originally on a sound basis, had to cut likewise in order to keep tenants. After a time both were in receivership and nobody wanted either building. Assets had become liabilities. Each might be a good "yardstick" for the other but neither was worth much.

* *

In the last seven weeks, since the threat of government duplication of existing public utility plants has assumed substance, 434 public utility stocks and bond issues on the New York stock and curb exchanges declined 1 billion 72 million dollars while other stocks and bonds remained steady, according to a Wall street compilation.

This, of course, is purely anticipatory but indicates the apprehension of the investing public over the establishment of government utility plants as "yardsticks" to measure the rates charged by existing privately owned utilities.

Domestic Nature Tinkers Prove Aid to Foreigners.

Benjamin Anderson, economist of the Chase National Bank of New York, calls attention to an ironical consequence of the Agricultural Adjustment administration's attempt to boost cotton prices by reducing production. Some years ago Brazil tried the same scheme in coffee, the result being an expansion of coffee production in other countries, notably Colombia. Now Brazil is on the receiving end. With the United States curtailing cotton production other countries are raising more cotton. The foreign nation which is expanding its cotton output most rapidly is Brazil. Says Dr. Anderson, "it would be indeed a remarkable reversal of things if we, taking over Brazil's valorization policy, should, in exchange, present to Brazil a substantial part of our foreign cotton market."

Canada Has Heavy Stake in Gold Clause Decision.

The United States isn't the only nation that would be affected by a Supreme court decision adverse to the administration in the "gold clause" cases. At least 200 million dollars of Canadian loans floated in the United States contain the gold clause in the conditions of repayment. An adverse decision by the court might therefore mean a restoration to American investors in Canadian securities of the 138 millions of dollars which they forfeited when the United States government debased the dollar 40 per cent.

POWER OUTPUT NEAR PEAK OF LAST 4 YEARS

Rise Is 6.2 Per Cent During Week.

National production of electricity last week gained 6.2 per cent over the preceding week and rose 7.7 per cent above a year ago, reaching the highest level in more than four years with the exception of the week ended Dec. 22, 1934. In Chicago output totaled 6.1 above the preceding week and 4.8 above a year ago.

The total for the United States was 1,772,609,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,668,731,000 in the preceding week and 1,646,271,000 in the corresponding week of 1934, according to figures released yesterday by the Edison Electric institute.

Gains of Other Weeks.

In the preceding week of this year there was a gain of 6.7 per cent over a year ago, while in the corresponding week of 1934 output rose 10.1 per cent above the 1933 week.

Power output for the Chicago district last week amounted to 109,007,000 kilowatt hours, against 102,730,000 in the preceding week and 103,994,000 in the corresponding week of last year, the Commonwealth Edison company announced. In the preceding week there was a gain of 2.8 per cent over a year ago, while in the 1934 week there was an increase of 10.4 per cent.

The company stated that production last week maintained a level only slightly below that of four years ago. The percentage of increase showed improvement over the two preceding weeks and would have been better, except that the transportation load declined from a year ago.

Figures for Chicago Area.

| Week ended. | 1935. | 1934. | Percent Increase. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Jan 12 | .......109,007 | 103,994 | 4.8 |
| Jan 5 | .......102,730 | 99,950 | 2.8 |
| Dec 22 | .......111,927 | 105,136 | 6.5 |

All districts except the southern states recorded a more favorable percentage gain over a year ago than in the preceding week. Increases for the week with comparisons of the preceding week were: New England, 7.7 per cent, against 5.9 per cent; middle Atlantic, 5.4, against 2.9; central industrial, 8.7, against 6.9; west central, 4.1, against 1; southern states, 9.4, against 15.9; Rocky mountain, 12, against 10.6; and the Pacific coast, 6, against 5.8 per cent.

STOCKS ADVANCE AS GOLD CLAUSE FEARS SUBSIDE

Mining Shares Lead Rally —Volume Modest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 16.—A substantial decrease in the fear psychosis that sent stocks tumbling yesterday was evident today. With the panicky selling apparently having run its course gains in active issues ran up to 2 points with the mining shares showing the way.

Although much caution still prevailed among the trading fraternity it was apparent the market had been improved from a technical standpoint and that the street displayed less concern over possible effects of the impending decision on gold clause contracts.

The activity in stocks was well under a million shares and in lieu of ordinary business the gold clause case continued to provide traders with fodder for discussion.

Temporary Confusion Seen.

Some think a good deal of confusion might result for a few days should the court upset the government's position, but the country on the whole would not be upset. On the other hand, the security that would follow, they feel, would put an end to market fears and be a big aid in the long run.

Abatement of excitement in foreign exchange markets setting currency fears at rest, at least for the time being, helped promote the better feeling which prevailed in the speculative markets. Business news continued to be of a bullish character, which also aided.

A feature of the list today was the performance of National Department Store preferred, which chalked up a gain for the day of 5¾ points. The common stock, which is in the hands of receivers, was fractionally higher. Other merchandising shares were quiet and firm.

Inflation Call Aids Mining Shares.

The rally in mining issues, heaviest sufferers during the previous session, was partly attributed to the calling of an inflation conference in Washington by Senator Thomas of Oklahoma. Virtually every issue in this category moved upward, gains ranging from a fraction in American Smelting to 1¼ in Dome.

Steel shares were in demand. Bethlehem was strong as was the common issue of United States Steel while its preferred stock increased 2 points during the session.

Caterpillar, Case, Harvester and other farm implement shares were strong. The three named stocks all bettered their position by more than a point.

Union Pacific led the rail section into higher territory with a gain of 2 points. Baltimore and Ohio, Lackawanna, Pennsylvania and New York Central advanced fractionally.

American Telephone rose more than a point on short covering, but the rest of the utility division reacted only fractionally to the better power report. Industrial leaders acted well, American Can picking up more than a point. Tobaccos, chemicals and oils were strong.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Quiet gray goods markets this week led to second hand offerings at concessions today with very little trading going on. Fine and fancy goods were firm. Finished cottons sold in increased quantities to cutters and wholesalers. Wool goods were firm with dress goods demand improving. Silk crepes and sheers sold better. Rayon yarns were firm and rayon fabrics quiet. Burlaps were steady with early cables easier.

COTTON PRICES IN CHICAGO MART GAIN 3 TO 8 POINTS

Cotton markets fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday. Apprehension over the allotment for the 1935 crop under the provisions of the Bankhead bill, which will be announced today, caused confused movements. There was some early selling of the new crop months on the belief a 12,000,000 bale quota would have a depressing effect, but all deliveries rallied quickly from dips, with the finish at net gains of 3 to 8 points in Chicago. Other markets were 7 points higher to 3 points lower.

Spot cotton 5 points higher, with New Orleans and New York 12.60 cents, and Galveston and Houston 12.65 cents per pound. Prices follow:

BUTTER UP ⅛ TO ⅜ CENT; EGGS STEADY TO HIGHER

Butter futures moved up ⅛ to ⅜ cent per pound on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. January eggs gained ¾ cent per dozen, while other egg deliveries were unchanged to ¼ cent higher.

Butter opened steady, but gained strength in the last hour. Short covering started the rally and new buyers came in later. The Land o' Lakes reported production 18 per cent less than last year and 5 per cent less than the previous week.

January eggs were bought on a heavy movement of storage stocks and prospects of a cold wave. Storage stocks at Chicago, where most of the United States surplus is held, were reduced nearly 20,000 cases, dropping under 100,000 cases. Buying in of hedges was active.

Sales: Butter, 78 cars; eggs, 76 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 4 cars. Prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable closed firm today at net advances of 5 to 8 points. Much of the pessimism of the previous day disappeared. There was a better tone to grains, lard and other allied products, while crude oil sold at 9½c in the southeast, the valley and Texas. Easiness in tallow and grease was ignored. Sales were 77 contracts. Bleachable spot nominal; January closed 10.70c per lb; March, 10.79c; May, 10.80c; July, 10.82c.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today at 2.80c per lb for spots with no sales reported. Buyers seemed ready to pay this level, but holders were asking from 2.82c up to 2.85c. According to advices from Cuba the fixing of minimum prices has been abandoned. Aside from the spot January position in the No. 1 contract, which held relatively steady, futures were inclined to sag, although price changes were held within narrow limits. The market closed 1 point higher for January in the old contract and 1 to 2 points lower in later deliveries, while the No. 3 contract closed net unchanged to 1 point lower. Sales in the old contract were 11,050 tons, and in the new 12,850 tons, including about half in exchanges in each position.

Refined was unchanged at 4.30c for fine granulated but demand was only moderate and limited to nearby requirements only.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 16.—Ohio and similar fleece wools are receiving only scattered calls and the demand is mostly very limited. Fine Ohio Delaine or strictly combings 64s and finer Ohio fleeces bring mostly 28c in the grease, which represents a slight strengthening tendency. Prices in cents per pound:

WHEAT AND CORN PRICES RALLY IN HEAVY TRADING

Short Covering and Mill Buying Responsible.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Grain prices yesterday swung upward on the rebound from the preceding day's sharp fall. The short interest built up during Monday's heavy liquidation provided the basis for the day's gains, which amounted to approximately 1½ cents a bushel in wheat and corn. Millers were also credited with furnishing part of the buying support.

Several influences induced a covering of short commitments. The steadying of foreign currencies in the exchange market, the rise in securities, and other commodity markets tended to allay, temporarily at least, worst fears of a sudden shift in monetary policy. Another important factor was the moderate recovery in wheat prices at Winnipeg. Winnipeg wheat rose ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel over the official minimum prices at which it sold Tuesday.

Closing Prices Higher.

| | Yesterday. | Tuesday. | Wk. ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat | $ .96⅝ | $ .95⅛ | $1.00⅛ |
| Corn | .86⅛ | .84⅝ | .90⅞ |
| Oats | .51⅞ | .50⅝ | .54⅝ |
| Rye | .68½ | .66¾ | .75 |

The price recovery erased about half the losses that were sustained in Tuesday's selling. Volume of trading was comparatively heavy. Although the market regained its balance, it was buffeted by nervous selling at various times throughout the day. Many holders of futures were still liquidating holdings but the market was able to absorb this selling by virture of short covering and commercial demand.

The turnabout in the Winnipeg market came in the wake of a statement by John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian pool, that the government had no intention of removing the pegs in the market and that the pool would accept delivery of actual grain on May futures which are held. This announcement had a temporarily reassuring effect as removal of the price limits in Canada would cause a wholesale readjustment of the whole world price structure.

Canada Still a Threat.

The Canadian situation, however, remains as a threat to all markets because of the big wheat surplus which is being carried there. It will probably remain as a source of anxiety in the world grain picture.

Prices in the cash grain market here were lower yesterday. Receipts of grain continue at a low rate while shipping sales are being booked daily in fair volume.

May wheat in Chicago lost 4½ cents a bushel in the last week, while May corn contracts have slumped 4¾ cents a bushel. While the Winnipeg market has been weak, other foreign exchanges have not followed the decline.

The extent to which foreigners regard the decline here as due to domestic monetary influence was suggested by the market action in Liverpool yesterday. The market was quite indifferent to the 3 cents a bushel decline which took place here and closed only a trifle lower for the day.

Torn Check to His Daughter Mystery in Howell Hearing

Something of mystery developed yesterday when the government, in its hearing seeking to bar Thomas M. Howell, Chicago grain man, from future activity in the market, presented as evidence a check made out to Helen M. Howell, his daughter, but torn at the signature. The question of whether another check had been made out to the same person only deepened the mystery, but led to a threat of Leo F. Tierney, government attorney, to summon Howell's wife and daughter if he did not get a satisfactory explanation.

The question of the torn check arose when Tierney demanded from H. E. Dagger, office manager for James E. Bennett & Co., how the signature on a check made out to Helen M. Howell, a daughter, in settlement of an account, came to be torn. Dagger said he believed the check was torn in the mails which necessitated writing a new one.

Questions Explanation.

Tierney professed to be dissatisfied with this explanation and indicated he would seek more information when the hearing is resumed today. It is being held before Referee John C. Brooke in the Appraisers' Stores building.

The government examined a number of witnesses yesterday, including Robert P. Boylan, president of the Chicago Board of Trade; James F. Wade and H. B. Godfrey, secretary and vice president, respectively, of Bartlett Frazier company; Edward Carroll, assistant floor manager of the Norris Grain company; R. M. Meyer, brother-in-law of Howell; Ross H. Kidston of James Kidston & Co., and Emmet G. Barker, a partner of James E. Bennett & Co.

Object of the government's examination was to link various accounts either in the name of Mr. Howell or controled by him in the market operations leading up to the corner which the government, through the Grain Futures administration, alleges he had in corn during July, 1931.

Tierney alleges that Howell took advantage of a change in the board's rules in getting control of corn, the price of which he was alleged to have run up from 58¾ cents to 72½ cents in three days.

Reading from the Board of Trade year book covering 1931, Boylan gave the visible supply of corn as 10,096,000 bushels June 6, and 6,813,000 July 25, 1931. The visible supply, he explained, is grain in warehouses at prominent centers, regularly authorized by the Board of Trade, and in transit on lake steamers and on barges. The government contends that Howell at the end of July, 1931, controled 95 per cent of the open position of corn futures and all the cash corn in Chicago.

Charge Price Forced Up.

Tierney asserts that through Howell's control of the corn price was forced up sharply, shorts being forced to pay 72½ cents a bushel because there was no cash corn available in Chicago for them to deliver.

The Howell defense, headed by Attorneys Sidney S. Gorham and Edward R. Adams, maintains that there was ample storage for them to have stored corn during July to have made delivery.

It brought out through Boylan that on March 1, 1931 there were 709,246,000 bushels stored on farms, compared with the visible supply of 20,285,000 bushels on March 7, 1931. The attorneys indicated that shorts could have gone to the huge amount on farms and in country elevators for corn to make delivery at any time during July.

BUSINESS PICKS UP; U. S. STEEL RAISES SALARIES

Major Index of Conditions Cheers Country.

Booming business in the steel industry, one of the most important indices of business conditions in the country, was reflected in two important announcements yesterday which brought encouragement to officials and workers throughout the country.

Expanding to meet the ever-growing demand, steel mill output has reached its highest level since last June. As a result of this upturn in business the United States Steel corporation has announced a substantial pay increase for salaried employés.

Steel output in the last week has soared 4½ points, to 49 per cent of capacity, according to the figures of the periodical Iron Age. Every region in the country reported either steady operations or gains, and the Chicago area was among the leaders with an upturn of 7 points to 57 per cent of capacity.

Result of Genuine Demand.

And this increase, the journal points out, is a real one. It is not caused by artificial influences, such as brought about the increases during the second quarter of 1934 and the summer of 1933.

Considered more important than the actual increase in steel production is the healthy condition it shows in other industrial fields.

Iron Age declares that the improvement was due in a great measure to demand from the automobile industry. Manufacturers of cars, sensing improving conditions, have called for a great output of automobiles to meet, in turn, the demand which the public is expected to make. Money is being put in circulation from ultimate consumer to manufacturer, and back again through the medium of wages.

Other Industries Picking Up.

The container industry is another placing orders which resulted in boosting the tin plate production from 45 to 60 per cent.

There is also an increase in the demand for farm equipment, Iron Age declares. Tractor manufacturers, sanitary ware makers, refrigerator plants and metal furniture companies are others putting the demand on the steel mills for increased output.

Increased activity in the steel industry was responsible for the United States Steel corporation's salary increases. The announcement was that the reduction voted last Sept. 1, and made effective through the omission of Saturday work, would be restored to such workers as would be required to return to the six day week by reason of expanding operations.

Thousands to Be Benefited.

The spokesman for the steel corporation declared it would be impossible to estimate how many workers would be benefited, but that employés in many departments throughout the entire organization would be affected.

The corporation, according to latest estimates, had 172,000 workers on its pay rolls, and of this number about 10 per cent were in the salaried class.

FRUIT SHIPPERS ASSAIL WASTE BY GOVERNMENT

End of Burocratic Activities Urged.

Misery, discontent, chaos and disorganization will result unless all wasteful and unnecessary government expenditures are eliminated, J. W. Davis, president of American Fruit and Vegetable association, predicted at the organization's 17th annual convention at the Palmer house yesterday.

"It is time every business man and individual citizen takes a greater interest in this important matter," he said. "Any collapse in government credit would not alone be an injury to the whole people, but to the unemployed it might mean actual hardships, if not starvation."

Aim Second Attack.

A second attack on governmental spending came during the afternoon session when the legislative committee recommended in its report that every effort be made by members of the association to contact local political representatives, asking them to stop measures contemplating expenditures of large sums.

C. E. Waters, chairman of the committee, urged every effort be expended to take the federal government out of business in competition with private enterprise. The committee endorsed a federal sales tax and favored efforts of the administration in working out reciprocal trade agreements.

W. H. Spencer, dean of the school of business of the University of Chicago and chairman of the regional labor board, told the organization the labor relations board or its equivalent will remain as a permanent part of American governmental machinery.

Labor Tribunal Predicted.

"Labor will demand some permanent tribunal even after codes of fair competition have been discarded," he said. "If industry should not wish to agree to such a tribunal this country would see more strife and chaos than it has ever known."

Spencer predicted men of board education, wide experience and sound judgment, would be called upon to sit upon such a board, not just a group of representatives of both labor and business.

He assailed labor leaders for advocating a thirty-hour week at this time, mentioning specifically representatives of the railway labor unions. "There is no army big enough to enforce the thirty-hour week right now," he said.

A. U. Chaney, chairman of the contact committee on national agricultural planning, listed a program on which the committee has been working. It included discouragement of opening up new farm lands, either by irrigation proects or by colonization, encouragement of development of foreign markets and fostering economies in administrative expenditures.

BUSINESS MEN URGED TO FIGHT ALL PRICE FIXING

Prof. Nystrom Says Codes Develop Monopolies.

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Warning that NRA codes are tending to develop monopolies through limitation of production, price fixing, and other provisions, Dr. Paul H. Nystrom, professor of marketing at Columbia university, appealed tonight to the National Retail Dry Goods association, in session here, to fight every move, through the NRA or any other government branch, to guarantee security of profits.

Dr. Nystrom addressed his appeal to all business men, asserting that they should look not to monopolies but to efficient management for their profits, and his appeal carried additional weight by virtue of his services as vice chairman of the National Retail Code authority and president of the Limited Price Variety Stores' association.

"Public Distrusts Monopoly."

"Except where limited monopoly contributes to progress and advancement, as in the cases for which patents and copyrights are granted, the public properly distrusts all forms of monopoly," Dr. Nystrom said. "Whenever monopoly conditions appear, whether in restriction of supply, fixed prices, or undue profits, it is usually not long before the public takes steps to protect itself either by smashing the monopoly or by public regulation of its prices and profits.

"The public fears and hates monopoly. It distrusts every symptom of monopoly. Since retailers stand closest to the consuming public, they are the first to feel the impact of public opposition to arbitrary prices.

Urges Fight on Price Fixing.

"It is to the interest of the retailers, then, to oppose price fixing and other steps toward monopoly among themselves, and to oppose all such measures among their sources of supply as well. This is at once a public and a selfish duty for the retail trade."

Other speakers declared that the national housing program is the biggest development from which the retailers could expect to benefit. They cited estimates running as high as $80,000,000,000 for the shortages in durable goods, construction, and equipment; called attention to the vast amount of furnishings and fixtures that would be required for new and modernized houses, and suggested that the retailers ask for a broadening of the list of items for which the federal government will guarantee payment.

NORTH WESTERN IS PLANNING FREE PICKUP SERVICE

Move Aimed at Truck Competition.

In a new effort to meet competition of trucks the Chicago and North Western railway is asking permission of the Western Trunk Line committee to establish free pickup and delivery service on less than carload shipments, with no restrictions as to distance or weights, according to H. W. Beyers, vice president in charge of trafic.

Beyers said that if approval is given this will be the first free pickup and delivery service of its kind in the country. Other roads in the east and on the Pacific coast which have such service have a restriction on weight or distance of haul.

Rates Unchanged.

Rates on the proposed service will be the same as the present station to station rates, the cost of pickup and delivery being absorbed by the North Western. More than 11,000 freight stations on the North Western and the Omaha would be affected by the change.

Under the plan shippers and receivers are given the option of two arrangements: 1. The North Western will take care of the pickup and delivery. 2. The North Western will make allowances for trucking to the shipper, the receiver or the trucking company doing the work.

Use Local Truckers.

Discussing the proposed service, Mr. Beyers said:

"We feel the proposed service is a logical step in modern service to shippers and receivers," Beyers said. "We think it a progressive move toward complete service by the railroads to their customers. It is believed that an increase in the handling of merchandise trafic by rail, sufficient to warant the establishment of this service, will result."

CRUDE RUBBER CONSUMED SETS RECORD IN 1934

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Consumption of crude rubber last year has been exceeded only in 1929, says the Rubber Manufacturers' association, which estimates the total at 453,905 long tons. The 1929 high was 467,400 tons. Consumption in 1933 amounted to 401,000 long tons while that for 1932 was 332,000 tons.

Consumption of crude rubber by manufacturers in the United States during December amounted to 36,662 long tons compared with 34,842 tons in November, the Rubber Manufacturers' association reports. Stocks on hand at the end of the year were estimated at 352,632 long tons against 361,236 on Nov. 30.

While consumption of rubber increased, imports dropped sharply last month. The association estimates arrivals at 29,200 tons compared with 36,233 in November, a decrease of 19.4 per cent. This country imported 42,099 tons in December, 1933, the decrease this year amounting to 30.8 per cent.

Imports for the entire year 1934 are estimaed at 469,484 tons, compared with 411,615 in 1933 and 400,787 in 1932. In addition, 47,644 tons were afloat for the United States Dec. 31, 1934, compared with 38,625 tons Nov. 30 and 55,606 tons Dec. 31, 1933.

SHIP BUILDING GAINS SHARPLY IN LAST YEAR

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Ship yards of the world in the last year recovered much of the ground lost during the worst of the depression and at the end of the year were engaged in the construction of 1,251,722 tons, an increase of 494,000 tons for the twelve month period, according to the quarterly report of Lloyd's Register of Shipping, published today.

The year was a success despite reverses suffered in the final quarter when the total dropped 59,665 tons, or about 4½ per cent from the year's high. Lloyd's totals are computed without regard for conditions in the yards of Russia, where data is not available.

Great Britain and Ireland maintained their place as the world's most important ship builders, closing the year with a total of 596,834 tons or 47.7 per cent of the world total, on the ways. The year saw the British yards continue to win their way back toward their old strength, when they built more than all other nations put together. A year ago they were building 43.8 per cent of the world total, and they improved this by 3.9 per cent.

NEWSPRINT PRICE ADVANCE MAY BE ADJUSTED LOWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 16.—Canadian newsprint producers, in an effort to concilate United States newspaper publishers, have agreed on a price concession, it was reported today. Instead of the original price program of a $2.50 per ton increase for the first six months of 1935, and a further increase of $2.50 for the last six months, Canadian producers have agreed to waive the additional increase for the last half of the year and will quote a straight $2.50 advance for the entire year.

Intimation of this agreement has been made to the American Newspaper Publishers' association, which has protested against the advances.

No official announcement is available as it is understood producers are waiting to see if their offer is acceptable to the United States publishers and also they do not want to arouse political leaders here who recently have strongly supported a newsprint price advance, notably Premier Taschereau of Quebec.

ARGUES 'FEEDER' POWER CHARGES ARE REASONABLE

E. M. Holwick, assistant auditor of Chicago District Electric Generating company and Superpower Corporation of Illinois, testified as to the reasonableness of the price paid for electricity by Commonwealth Edison company to these two "feeder" companies at the electric rate hearing before Charles Byrne of the Illinois commerce commission.

He said that for the year ended Oct. 31, 1934, gross income of Chicago District Electric Generating company was $6,477,000 and expenses were $4,619,000, leaving a net of $1,857,000, or only a 5.05 per cent return on the investment of $35,976,000 in fixed capital and $800,000 in working capital.

Under examination by Harry R. Booth of the commission, Holwick admitted that only $26,640,000 [original cost less depreciation] of property was involved in furnishing electricity for public consumption. This revision would bring the return on such properties to 7.7 per cent. The difference in totals was accounted for by properties not used in producing electricity for public consumption.

COLLECTIONS, CREDIT SALES SHOW UPTURNS

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A general improvement in credit sales and collections for December, 1934, as compared with December, 1933, was reported today by the National Retail Credit association.

The reports from 24,104 retail stores in 76 cities disclosed an average increase of 9.9 per cent in retail collections and credit sales. The largest increase in credit sales since 1929 was reported in cities in Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. Kentucky cities reported the largest Christmas business since 1930.

Collections and credit sales also continued to increase in Canada, the report stated, with New Westminster, B. C., showing 20 per cent increase in collections, and London, Ont., reporting 18 per cent increase in credit sales.

U. S. ROYALTY OIL SOLD AT BONUS OF 5C PER BARREL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today announced award of a contract for sale of the government's royalty oil from the Salt Creek, Wyo., field to the White Eagle Oil corporation and the Sinclair-Wyoming Oil company for one year.

The contract provides that the White Eagle and Sinclair-Wyoming companies purchase the royalty oil at private sale for one year at a bonus of five cents a barrel.

Although the bonus is substantially lower than the bonus of 22¼ cents in the contract dated Dec. 12, 1931, Ickes said he hoped that stabilized conditions in the petroleum industry at the close of 1935 will enable the government to dispose of its royalty oil at a substantially higher price.

RENEW EFFORTS TO GET STANDARD OIL FOR ALABAMA

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Efforts to bring the Standard Oil company plants from Louisiana to Mobile were renewed today by Gov. Bibb Graves, who took office yesterday. The governor said that a conference would be held in the near future between himself and W. C. Teagle, president of the company.

"I have just located Mr. Teagle on a hunting trip near Albany, Ga., and am making efforts to get in touch with him by telephone," the governor said. An invitation to the oil company to come to Mobile from Baton Rouge and New Orleans was issued after placing of a new tax on its products by Huey Long and his legislature.

GUARANTY TRUST EARNS $20,992,304 PROFIT IN YEAR

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—The Guaranty Trust company earned in the previous year, its report showed today. After paying $18,000,000 in dividends the company set aside $3,683,220 as reserves or for chargeoffs.

Chemical Bank and Trust company today reported an increase of $614,082 in undivided profits during 1934. Operating profits of the bank were set at $7,787,367. This figure, however, was before dividends of $3,600,000, special reserve of $2,356,044, and certain chargeoffs and reserves.

The statement of condition as of Dec. 31 disclosed deposits of $476,498,916, which averaged $76,696,868 above 1933. Loans and discounts totaled $105,933,145, while undivided profits amounted to $8,104,400.

Net profit of $5,255,678 was reported to stockholders of the Irving Trust company. Profits for 1933 were only $391,088, the sharp improvement in 1934 reflecting nonrecurrence of substantial chargeoffs made during 1933. Capital, surplus, and undivided profits of the Irving Trust company aggregated $107,819,840. Deposits totaled $482,555,114.

'ACCEPTANCES SHOW DECLINE IN LAST MONTH

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The total of bankers' dollar acceptances outstanding as of Dec. 31 was $543,385,189, compared with $561,380,541 as of Nov. 30, and $764,110,568 at the end of December, 1933, the American Acceptance council announced today.

During the month, the council stated, five of six classifications of the acceptance business showed a decline, although in some cases the amount was small. Acceptances created for the purpose of financing goods stored in or shipped between foreign countries showed a sharp decline.

Australia Gives Hint of Tarif Reprisal Plan

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The commonwealth government was understood today to be planning to seek tarif concessions from the United States, possibly under the threat of imposing a special tax on goods imported from America. Australia annually buys seven million pounds sterling [approximately $33,950,000] more from the United States than it sells to it.

Junior Commerce Body to Hear Kuppenheimer Chief

Bertram Cahn, chairman of B. Kuppenheimer & Co., Inc., will speak before the business forum of the Junior Association of Commerce on "The Rôle of the Profit and Loss System in Recovery," in the Bismarck hotel tonight.

TIRE COMPANY IS REORGANIZED; BANKER IS HEAD

New York, Jan. —[Special.]—Reorganization of the Kelly-Springfield Tire company was effected today with the election of a new management. Frank C. Ferguson, banker and president of the port of New York authority, was elected president; Joseph F. O'Shaughnessy and Daniel O'Regan, vice presidents, and Alexander Weinstein, secretary and treasurer. Ferguson, who is also president of the Hudson County National bank of Jersey City, succeeded E. S. Burke as head of the company.

The company, which was formed in 1932 to take over the properties of old Kelly-Springfield and its subsidiaries, has been in the process of reorganization for two years. Efforts of a group of noteholders to have receivers named for the company were opposed jointly by the old management and the common stock holders' group. Later the common stock holders sought to replace the management, and the federal court appointed receivers for the company.

Order North Western Bonds Registered on Exchange

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Registration on the New York stock exchange under the securities exchange act of $2,214,000 general mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, due Nov. 1, 1987, of the Chicago and North Western Railway company has been directed by the securities and exchange commission, to become effective upon official notice of the issuance of the bonds.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—COFFEE—Prices fluctuated somewhat erratically today in response to mixed orders. # U. S. MAY ASK CUT IN ELEVATOR STORAGE CHARGE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Possibility of federal moves to obtain lower storage charges for grain at local elevators and terminal markets was indicated here today as Secretary Wallace called the present prices excessive. The price factor was viewed as an important one in the administration's long range program for storing of grain through a permanent federal loan system along the general lines of the corn loan system adopted last year.

Wallace said abundant storage facilities are available through the local elevators and terminal markets and indicated if prices were reduced they might be used for storage purposes in the government's ever normal granary plan. This would remove the problem of developing satisfactory farm storage structures.

Possibility of curtailment of flax imports to help American growers faded today when Wallace said such a program would hurt the exportation of other commodities from this country.

LIFE INSURANCE BUSINESS IN U. S. FOUND BETTER

Life insurance business is improving throughout the country, said Grant L. Hill, director of agencies for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurnace company, at the annual dinner given by Hobart & Oates to their organization last evening at the Chicago Athletic association.

Paid-for business of the Northwestern company, he said, increased 24.6 per cent during 1934, while the number of policies issued was 23.5 per cent ahead of the preceding year. December business was 28 per cent greater than in November and 48 per cent above December, 1933.

Chicago Exchange to Let Broker Clerks Visit Floor

Michael J. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Stock exchange announced yesterday the governing committee has approved a plan by which partners, solicitors, and order clerks of registered firms are to be given an opportunity to visit the exchange during trading sessions. Only members and clerks employed on the trading floor are now admitted. The committee also approved the transfer of membership to James A. Cavaney and Alexander McDougall Simons, both of Chicago.

Report U. S. Brokers Seek Stock Market in Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports that application has been made to the Ontario government by unnamed New York brokers for another stock exchange charter were current in financial circles here today. The brokers were said to be members of the New York Produce exchange, which recently decided to abandon security trading.

At the annual meeting of the W. A. Sheaffer Pen company, J. C. Holt was elected a director to succeed the late J. H. Axt, and C. R. Sheaffer, treasurer, was elected a vice president. All other officers and directors were reelected.

'DIRECT DEALING' IN SCRAP METAL DRAWS CRITICISM

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—"Direct dealing" between steel companies and their customers whereby scrap is returned on a reciprocal or other basis is against the best interests of the steel industry and inimical to the national welfare, Joel Claster, president of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, declared in his annual report delivered before the convention of the institute here today.

Claster recommended that an intensive educational campaign be conducted to establish the vital service which the scrap iron dealer renders to the steel industry and to the national policy of conservation. He urged also that conferences be arranged with the important steel interests to arrive at a common basis of understanding for a solution of the problem.

Claster urged that the scrap iron industry continue to play its part in the recovery program by observing a code for the industry containing only labor provisions, declaring that no other provisions should be included.

ASSERTS BETTER PROSPERITY CAN BE ACHIEVED

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Possibilities of a prosperity greater than that of the late '20s were discussed by Dr. E. G. Nourse of the Brookings institution before today's session of the annual farm and home week at the University of Illinois college of agriculture. Future industrial development will determine whether such prosperity can be achieved, he said.

"I am confident," Dr. Nourse declared, "that by showing only reasonably good sense industry can effect recovery within its own ranks. Two years ago proponents of the agricultural adjustment administration were arguing that they could revive agriculture and thus restore prosperity. Now Wallace and other spokesmen for the department of agriculture are emphasizing the fact that measures of emergency relief have accomplished about all that can be done for agriculture until industrial recovery can be brought about."

Expect 1,000 Stockholders at Swift Annual Meeting

At least 1,000 stockholders of Swift & Co. are expected to attend the annual meeting to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced yesterday.

Foreclosure Suit Brought Against Coliseum Building

Foreclosure proceedings to clear title to the Coliseum building, 1513 South Wabash avenue, were begun yesterday by the Chicago Title and Trust company as trustee in a bill filed in the Circuit court. Attorney Howard R. Brintlinger, who drew the bill, said it was a friendly action brought to remove a lease held by the building corporation which was to run until 1965, and is now in default. The suit will not interfere with operation of the Coliseum, Brintlinger stated.

WISCONSIN BACK IN REGION SEVEN OF HOUSING AREA

FHA Here Completes 5,057 Loans.

BY AL CHASE.

Wisconsin has been put back in "region seven" of the federal housing administration, which now comprises Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and the Badger state. Percy Wilson, regional director for No. 7, yesterday made this announcement in an address before the American fruit and vegetable shippers convention, at the Palmer house.

When the FHA started functioning and Mr. Wilson was made regional director, his territory, known as "Region Seven" comprised the states of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Kentucky. Last November Washington lopped off Kentucky, which was lined up with Tennessee, Arkansas, and Missouri in "Region Eight." Wisconsin was shifted to "Region Nine" comprising North and South Dakota and Minnesota. Iowa, formerly in "9" was moved over into "7."

Loans Total 5,657.

Mr. Wilson stated that up to date there have been 5,657 loans, aggregating $2,055,935, negotiated in region seven under title one of the national housing act. As these figures were compiled before Wisconsin was put back in "7," that state is not included.

Broken up, the state totals are as follows: 2,202 loans in northern Illinois, aggregating $894,487; 1,162 loans in southern Illinois for $392,213; 1,524 in Indiana, totaling $493,188; 769 in Iowa for $276,044.

Mr. Wilson said seventy-six per cent of every dollar spent in FHA modernization projects will go to labor used in manufacture, handling, selling, or construction work. The remaining twenty-four cents will pay for materials used.

Break Down Expenditures.

Of the seventy-six cents paid for labor, approximately 25 per cent will be spent for food, Mr. Wilson stated. The balance of the seventy-six cents will be distributed as follows, he said: Housing, 18.31 per cent; clothing, 10.68 per cent; transportation, 12.98 per cent; personal, 9.57 per cent; savings, 9.09 per cent; recreation, 3.75 per cent; health, 3.33 per cent; taxes, 2.58 per cent; education, 2.02 per cent; social, 1.78 per cent; civil, .09 per cent.

"Under the stimulation of the FHA campaign $210,682,000 of modernization work has been accomplished throughout the country in the first five months," said Mr. Wilson. "According to government statistics, every dollar spent is circulated twenty-five times during the year. The first dollar was spent under this plan almost five months ago, so by multiplying 200 million by ten, the Federal Housing administration may take credit for creating the circulation of two billion dollars."

ALL LIVE STOCK LOWER EXCEPT BEST OFFERINGS

With the exception of top grades of steers and butcher hogs, nearly all classes of live stock registered additional declines yesterday. Hogs opened unevenly 10 to 25 cents lower than on Tuesday, but the best grades over 230 pounds rallied later and closed fully steady with the preceding day's average. Lights showed the full loss and failed to respond later.

The recovery in lard contributed to the support of the market for top weighty hogs, which sold up to $10.15 at the close. The average for the day at $9.85 showed a loss of 5 cents. Fresh pork declined again, top pork loins falling to 17 cents a pound, the lowest since Dec. 28.

Receipts this week have been running heavier than a week ago and above expectations, but they still are among the smallest on record for the time of year.

Prime steers and yearlings were scarce and in good demand again yesterday at the highest prices since December, 1931. Only three carloads averaging 1,190 to 1,250 pounds were good enough to bring the $12.15 peak. The bulk sold from $6.25 to $11.25.

Lamb prices tumbled fully 25 cents for losses of 40 to 60 cents since Monday. City butchers bought top grades at $9.25 as compared with a peak of $9.85 two days earlier, while bulk of the good to choice slaughter lambs sold to local packers at 9.00 to $9.10.

PACKERS DRAW ON CHICAGO STOCKS OF LARD AND MEAT

Small receipts of hogs in some of the western and southwestern markets are understood to have forced packers to draw on Chicago stocks of lard and meats in order to meet demands for the cured product. The reduction in local lard stocks of over 3,000,000 pounds during the first half of the current week was a surprise to the trade and was regarded as reflecting the small make of products in sections where hogs are scarce.

Stop loss orders were uncovered in lard futures at the opening yesterday, but as soon as the pressure lessened the market rallied with commission houses and packers buying with the close at net gains of 5 to 15 points. The further decline in hogs was ignored. Bellies were unsettled and closed 10 points lower to 5 points higher. Cash and loose lard finished at 12:45 cents, leaf at 12½ cents, and bellies at 15⅝ cents per pound. Prices follow:

Lard.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|

| July | 12.80 | 15.60 | 15.75 | 15.70 | 7.60 |

Note—Above prices include processing tax at 2.47c per lb on lard and 2.62c per lb on bellies taxed on produce made since March. This tax is rebated on produce exported, but varies according to the amount due to the fact that the tax was gradually advanced.

MEN

WE NEED MEN IN CHICAGO BUT CAN'T USE MEN INTERESTED IN A RELIEF INCOME. WE ARE MORE INTERESTED IN MEN WHO DO NOT ANSWER ADS. YET INSIST ON A JOB THAT PAYS THEM AN INCOME IN EXCESS OF $45 A WEEK.

You will investigate new ideas, new products, patented, as important as pasteurizing of milk, cellophane, filtering of water—offering a permanent and profitable connection for years to come.

Electrical units, air conditioning units, and concealed heating are some of our products.

We will establish the men selected in a BUSINESS OF THEIR OWN, finance their accounts, consign merchandise, pay the rent, light, heat, stenographer, etc.; place them where the business is, and pay them weekly, without one cent investment on their part. The combined total cash comm. of two men, Bell and Hill, for four weeks ending Dec. 31st was $1,785.67, or an average for a week for each man of $223.20.

This large corporation operates all over the world and is preparing to expand. WE NEED GOOD MEN, but they must be hard workers, sincere, and have good references. The appeal of one of our products is powerful—beyond your belief—sells itself.

APPLY THURSDAY ONLY AT 11 A. M. OR 2:30 P. M.

SUITE 237.

HOTEL SHERMAN

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN MAKING MORE MONEY IN 1935 THAN YOU MADE IN 1934?

We are ready to finance the right man who is a North Side resident and who has had from 5 to 10 years' business experience or in electrical or mechanical trades, provided he thinks enough of an opportunity that means at least $3,000 to him in 1935 to spend the better part of today going into details with us.

This electrical unit business is today paying men who started like you good commissions—better than their income in the boom years in many cases. No investment to make, but plenty of real work to do. This is permanent. If you think you can qualify call not later than 10 this morning. Thursday, Jan. 17, 2d flr., at 3703 Irving Pk.-blvd.

At DeLEE You Learn BEAUTY CULTURE

Quickly—Easily—Thoroughly.

QUICKLY—because you receive individual instruction under the personal direction of Madame Louise, internationally famous stylist and beauty expert.

EASILY—because DeLEE "University type" of training simplifies learning. You learn by practicing on living models. Classrooms are colorful, light and roomy. Equipment is 100% new and up-to-the-minute.

THOROUGHLY — because DeLEE does not graduate a student until she has attained genuine proficiency. At DeLEE you receive unlimited instruction at no extra cost. In fact, there are no "extra charges" for anything at DeLEE—one reasonable tuition fee covers everything. Come in today and talk with the DeLEE Dean, Miss Ruby Lorrain Stevens, or write for interesting book. Convenient terms can be arranged.

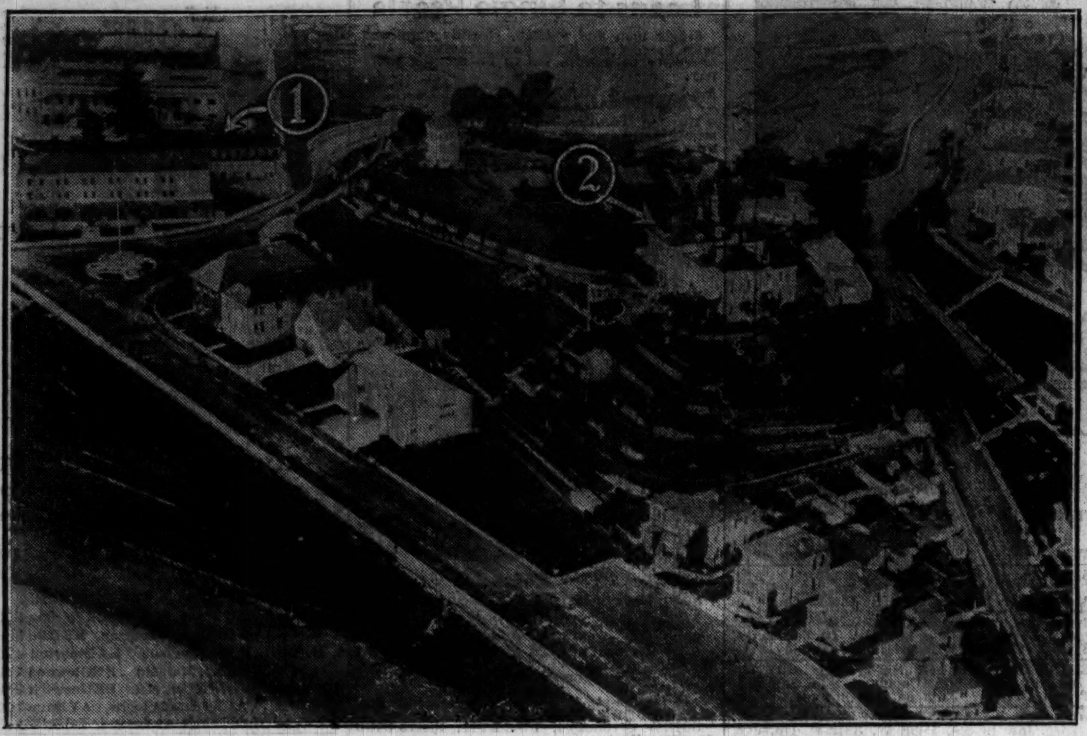
Four Convicts Escape with Prison Board as Hostages—Banker and Sherif Slain by Robbers; Leader Kills Self



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

[Acme Photo.]

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

SEIZED BY FELONS. Warren H. Atherton, member of prison board, seized at San Quentin. (Story on page 1.)

SHERIF IS KILLED. Glenn Axline, newly elected sherif of Marshall county, victim of bandits. (Story on page 3.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

BOARD'S SECRETARY. Mark Noon, who was one of state board of pardons kidnaped as hostage by convicts. (Story on page 1.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
